“What do you want to do tonight?”

It's one of the great wonders of the world.

Wondering what to do with your evening.

Well, listen, wonder no more. Because now Briarwood is coming through with plenty of interesting things to do.

1. Go to a movie. Briarwood has seven different theaters to choose from. Call 769-8780 for theater information, and times.

2. Have dinner at one of Briarwood's ten tasty restaurants.

3. For dessert, how about a mouth-watering cinnamon roll fresh from Cinnacraz?

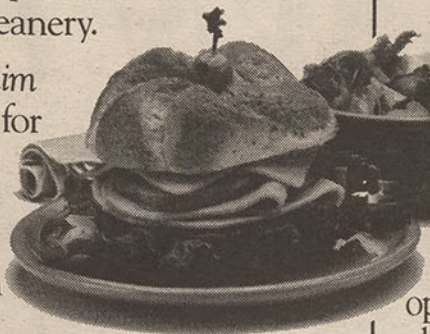

4. Or perhaps a warm chocolate chip cookie from Mrs. Field's or the Original Cookie Co.

5. Want something cooler? Try a delicious frozen yogurt from Hudson's.

6. Take a relaxing stroll by the Briarwood fountain, with a fresh-brewed cup of coffee from the Coffee Beanery.

7. Take him shopping for jewelry at Fox Jewelers or Shifrin Willens Jewelers.

8. Take her shopping for some sensuous sleepwear from Victoria's Secret. (We'll never tell.)

9. Have an after dinner drink at Jonathon B Pub or Ruby Tuesday.

10. Stage your own dance party with new music albums from JR's Music and Record Town.

11. Discover the latest in men's fashion at Bachrach's, Mallards and Redwood & Ross.

12. Discover the latest in women's fashion at Casual Corner, Alvin's and Caren Charles.

13. Get a little wild with a pair of shoes from the Wild Pair.

14. Curl up with a good book.

(B. Dalton and Waldenbooks have all the latest bestsellers.)

15. Watch the people passing by.

16. Watch for the opening of our new stores. There's always something new at Briarwood.

You see, when it comes to finding something interesting to do, there's really no question.

Briarwood's the answer.

Think of us as a mortgage supermarket

At Great Lakes, you can choose a one-year or three-year adjustable rate mortgage. Or a traditional fixed rate loan. Or a convertible adjustable rate mortgage that lets you switch to a fixed rate later. Or an innovative biweekly mortgage that saves thousands in interest.

Great Lakes has more kinds of mortgages than practically anybody you'll find. Which means we have the right mortgage for more kinds of people. We're like a mortgage supermarket.

Call 800-342-5453 for our free mortgage shoppers guide. Finding the right mortgage is just a matter of knowing where to shop.

CITY GOVERNMENT

Who to Call

If you have a request for or a question about a particular city service, call the appropriate department. (The basic functions of each city department are outlined below.) If you are uncertain about who to contact, call the Citizen Advocate, Lani Higgins (994-1766). The citizen advocate is also the person to call if you have a complaint about an existing service, or if you feel you've been mistreated by a city employee or department. If you want to contest a parking ticket, however, you must call the parking referee (see Treasurer's Office). Also, to report a pothole, call 99-HOLES. If you want to see changes made in any city law, rule, or procedure, call one of your council representatives. For general information, call 994-2700.

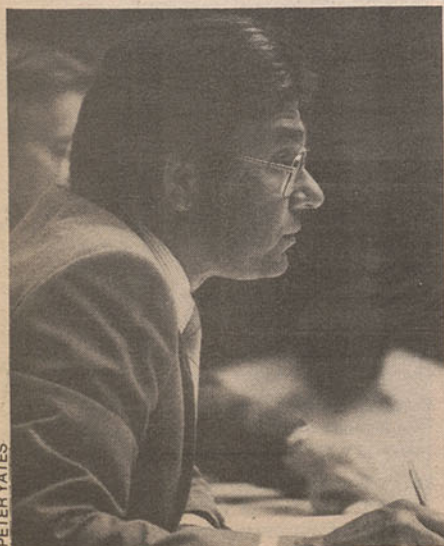

City Council

Democrat Council Office: 994-2702.
Republican Council Office: 994-8320.

Ann Arbor is divided into five wards, each of which elects two council members for two-year terms. In every April election, one of the council seats from each ward is at stake in a partisan contest. City council adopts an annual budget and determines city laws and policies. Council members receive $7,000 per year for their work.

Regular city council meetings are held on the first and third Mondays of every month, at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers on the second floor of City Hall. Additional special sessions usually take place on the second and fourth Mondays of the month. Meetings are broadcast live on cable television, Channel 10, and rebroadcast a couple of times each week. Both political caucuses usually meet the night before scheduled council meetings. The Republicans meet in the council workroom (second floor of City Hall), and the Democrats meet in the second-floor conference room above the main fire station. Caucus meetings are open to the public and often afford a better forum than council meetings for citizens to talk directly with council members.

The public is welcome to speak at council meetings, but only six five-minute slots are available at the beginning of each meeting. You can sign up for one of these slots by calling the city clerk (994-2725) after 8 a.m. on the Friday morning before the next scheduled meeting. Speakers must announce the subject of their address when they sign up. Members of the public can also address council, without having to sign up in advance, at the end of council meetings, usually around midnight. Also, public hearings, at which anyone can speak for up to five minutes, are held on many proposed council actions.

Mayor Jerry Jernigan (R).

Citizens are appointed to various boards, committees, commissions, and task forces that report to city council. Applications for these are distributed by the mayor's office (see below). Applicants are much more likely to be accepted if they have contacted and obtained a recommendation from one or both of council's partisan caucuses.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, third floor, City Hall. 994-2766. To become a member of any city board, committee, or commission, request an application from this office. The application form includes a listing of all citizen groups that have openings. In addition to other official duties, the mayor is available to preside at weddings Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 4 to 5 p.m. Twenty-five dollars must be paid to the city treasurer for this service; a marriage license and two witnesses are required.

Departments

ADMINISTRATOR, third floor, City Hall. 994-2653. Ann Arbor's new administrator, Del Borgsdorf, is responsible for seeing that the city bureaucracy carries out the policies established by council. He prepares an annual budget for adoption by council, and most city department heads answer to the administrator, either directly or through one of his two assistant administrators, budget and administrative services assistant Don Mason and engineering services assistant Leigh Chizek. (Some departments do not answer to the administrator, however. The city attorney answers directly to city council, and the planning director and housing director answer to the Planning Commission and Housing Commission respectively.)

ASSESSOR, fifth floor, City Hall. 994-2663. This office keeps tax and ownership histories for Ann Arbor houses, which the public can consult in person or over the phone.

Home assessment: The assessor annually reviews the assessed value of all residential and commercial properties in the city. If the assessment is contested, or if a home owner cannot afford to pay the full tax rate, the case can be appealed to the council-appointed Board of Review, which meets once a year for at least four days, starting on the third Monday in March. Appellants can address the board in person or mail their claims to the assessor's office. The board reduces about one-third of the tax assessments it considers. It also has the power to increase the amount of an assessment under appeal, and does so occasionally. State tax relief. Senior citizens and low-income

PETER YATES

Jury Clerk Hillary Muscato

When Ann Arbor residents are summoned for jury duty in the 15th District Court, they receive a notice that might be mistaken for some kind of ticket and an imposing, faintly ominous letter signed by three judges.

As it happens, these letters—200 of them every two months—are sent out by a short, plump, and cheerful blond woman who likes to laugh and talk a lot. Hillary Muscato, unlike the three judges, is not at all imposing. For the last seven years, she has been the 15th District Court's part-time jury clerk. Located in Ann Arbor's City Hall, 15th District Court is one of three local courts to which Ann Arbor residents may be called for jury duty. (The others are the county circuit court, in the County Building at Main and Huron, and federal district court, in the Federal Building on Liberty.)

When prospective jurors are called to 15th District Court, it's Muscato's job to assemble and orient them and, so far as possible, keep them happy.

Only half in jest, she cites her stint as a Cub Scout den mother as her best qualification for the position, because "you do a lot of herding people."

Prospective jurors, who are chosen at random from lists of driver's license and state ID card holders, are called to serve the district court for two months, one month on standby and another on active duty. Since the district court generally hears cases only one day a week, however, this is not as time-consuming as it might sound. The pay isn't much—$15 a day—but the court reimburses parking fees, and then, as a fringe benefit, there's Muscato.

"Jurors come in thinking it's going to be terrible," says George Alexander, a 15th District Court judge. "They leave thinking it was a rewarding experience. A lot of that has to do with Hillary's personality."

Muscato is among the few women to be named after their fathers. Her father is Hilary Goddard, a former Washtenaw County treasurer (he spells his name with a single "l"). The youngest of three children, she was born in Lansing, a block from the state capitol, but has spent most of her life in Ypsilanti, where she now lives with her husband, Joseph, a die-maker, and her two teen-aged children.

She has had many jobs—as a file clerk for a private company, as a Howard Johnson's waitress, and as a bookkeeper for the Washtenaw County Friend of the Court, among others. Being jury clerk, however, is her "dream job."

The natural curiosity of many first-time jurors, when they arrive at 8:15 a.m. on their first day, is tinged with apprehension—a condition that, despite the free coffee and magazines, sometimes worsens as they wait in the city council chambers for trials to begin.

"When you're put in a room, told to wait, and then left, you begin to wonder if anybody remembers you're there. So I stay with them. It makes them less nervous," says Muscato. "I think jurors who are relaxed sit and listen better."

Muscato herself has heard endless reasons why people shouldn't have to serve on juries. (By law, she can excuse only people over seventy, mothers with preschool children and no car, and people too ill to make it to the courthouse.) She has been propositioned by a drunk juror once (she turned him down and sent him home) and has twice run out of jurors during well-publicized cases in which an unusually large number of potential jurors were disqualified because they had already formed opinions.

And she has been called for jury duty once, by Washtenaw County Circuit Court. But she did not serve.

"I was breast-feeding, and they wouldn't allow me to have the baby in the courtroom," she says. "I asked to have the service deferred to another time, but they wouldn't do it. I was very disappointed. And they never called again."

—Peter Seidman

families can apply to have their tax assessments reduced under a state tax-relief program. The assessor's office can assist in the process.

CITY ATTORNEY, third floor, City Hall. 994-2670. The attorney provides legal advice to city council and city hall department heads and employees, represents the city and its employees in suits, and prosecutes violations of city ordinances. If you have a question about the legality of something you want to do—or about something your neighbor is doing—call the city attorney. If you want to lodge a complaint against someone for what you think is a violation of city ordinances, call the police.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT, fourth floor, City Hall. 994-2674. This department enforces city building codes, inspects rental housing, and enforces city ordinances regarding yard care (or abuse).

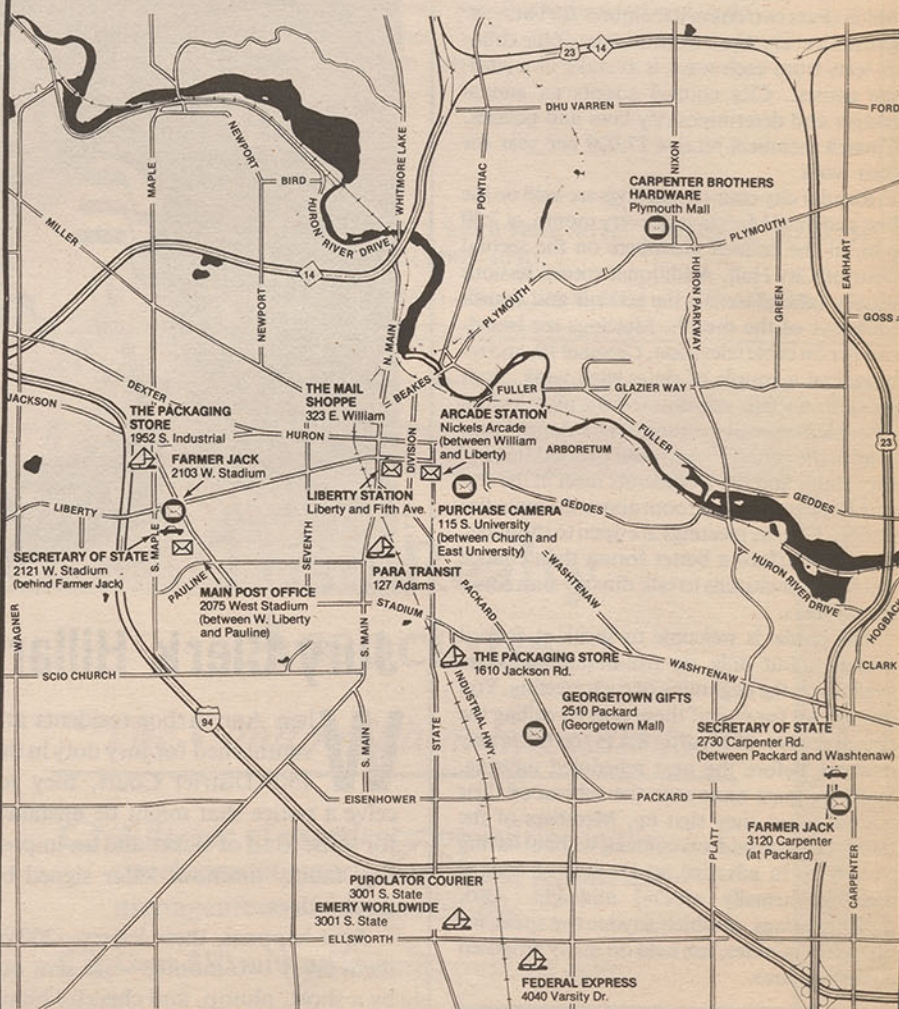

New construction. Building permits are required for work estimated to be in excess of $600, work that affects the structure of a building, and most other major jobs. They can be obtained by submitting an application form (available at this office) and two drawings of the proposed work to the Building Department. Applications are reviewed for compliance with code and safety requirements. After a permit is issued, the department conducts periodic inspections. Final approval (a certificate of occupancy) must be received from the department upon completion of the project.

Rental properties. The department's housing bureau will inspect a house or apartment upon request and require building improvements if the residence is not up to code. Rental properties are also inspected routinely once every two and a half years. Code requirements can sometimes be waived with an appeal to one of four boards: housing, zoning, sign, and building. File a claim and the arguments in your favor with the Building Department. The appropriate board will accept or reject the request after discussing it at a monthly public meeting.

CABLE COMMUNICATIONS, 107 N. Fifth Ave. 994-2893. This department regulates Columbia Cable, the private company that provides cable television service to the Ann Arbor area. It primarily deals with complaints and consumer issues. Cable commission meetings take place the third Tuesday of every month in the department offices. Individuals can speak at these meetings and possibly influence cable service, or they can call the department and voice their views over the phone.

COMMUNITY ACCESS TELEVISION, 107 N. Fifth Ave. 769-7422. Ann Arbor residents and local groups can present their programming to Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and the surrounding townships, at no charge. Channel 8 is for educational institutions, Channel 9 is for the public, and Channel 10 is for local government. The public can present programming either by handing over a finished tape or by producing a show using the department's facilities (for which training is needed). Community Access will help producers assemble a crew from its volunteer list. Orientation programs run one or more times per month, according to demand, and serve as an introduction to the facilities. They take place during the evening, last about two hours, and are open to both Ann Arbor residents and nonresidents. More extensive studio and camcorder training programs, restricted to Ann Arbor residents, consist of three two-hour sessions on consecutive Monday nights. Call to reserve a space in the training programs. There are no charges for the training.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT, first floor, City Hall. 994-2912. Five major areas of service are provided.

Federally funded housing rehabilitation through loans to low-income individuals and to landlords. Applications can be made to the department. An investigator checks housing conditions, and builders bid for the work.

Rental assistance payments to make adequate housing affordable for low-income people. There is a waiting list of about a year.

Energy assistance through home improvements aimed at conserving costly energy. Low-income home owners and landlords who rent to low-income families can fill out an application at this office.

Economic development programs consisting of the funding of agencies that provide job training and scholarships. The department sponsors different agencies at different times. Contact the department for specific information.

The funding of public services, including legal aid, dental services, services for seniors, and community centers in low-income areas. This office provides about one-half of the funding for such services, with the other half coming from the city's general fund.

CITY CLERK, second floor, City Hall. 994-2725. The city clerk issues licenses for bicycles ($2.50), dogs ($7 for 2 years), peddlers ($10 per year), Ann Arbor handicapped parking (no charge), and going-out-of-business sales ($110). Applicants must submit serial numbers for bikes, license plate numbers for handicapped parking, rabies certificates for dogs, and passport-type photos for peddlers. (No license is required for street performers.) Insurance claims for damage caused by the city should be submitted to this department. Damage caused by potholes normally results in one or two claims a week. However, the city routinely refuses to accept responsibility for damage caused by a pothole unless the pothole had been reported to the city prior to the accident. (To report a pothole, call 99-HOLES.)

Claims are settled by the insurance board, which consists of two council members and one City Hall employee. If the claim is rejected, the plaintiff then has to take the city to court—if the plaintiff wants to push it that far.

Record keeping. This office also maintains records of city council acts, including the council members' voting records, which can be inspected by the public. Copies can be made for 20¢ a page.

Voter registration. The city clerk's office also registers voters. You can also register to vote at any office of the Michigan Secretary of State or at any branch of the Ann Arbor Public Library. If you are disabled or for any other reason unable to get to one of these locations, the city clerk will arrange to send a deputy registrar to your residence. In order to vote, you must be registered at least thirty days before an election.

CONTROLLER'S OFFICE, fifth floor, City Hall. 994-2730. The controller's office provides citizens with information on bond issues and the city's general financial histories.

DISTRICT COURTS, sixth floor, City Hall. 994-2740. The district courts include the Civil Division (994-2749), Criminal Division (994-2747), Probation Department (994-2751), and Traffic Violation (994-2745).

Third Ward council representatives Jeff Epton (top) and Liz Brater.

over evictions can sometimes be tried without lawyers, depending on the details of the case. A $20 to $50 fee and a wait of about one to two weeks can be expected.

CITY ENGINEER, fourth floor, City Hall. 994-2744. An area of the city that lacks an adequate sewer or a paved street can request improvements from this office. All work must be approved by city council. Do not call this office to report potholes (call 99-HOLES) or streets and sidewalks needing repair (see Transportation Department, below).

FIRE DEPARTMENT, 111 N. Fifth Ave. 994-2774 (emergencies, dial 911). The Fire Department operates within the freeway belt that surrounds Ann Arbor. It takes care of fires and any related services, including medical services, first aid assistance, and help for disabled people. When staffing is available, the department will also respond for a lockout, a bat in the attic, and other similar emergencies. (They don't remove cats from trees.)

Handicapped people and children. The department keeps an informal list of addresses where handicapped people live, to ensure special attention in an emergency situation. Once on the Second Ward council representatives Terry Martin (top) and Ingrid Sheldon.

The civil court has three sections: small-claims court, landlord-tenant conflicts, and general civil claims. Small-claims court is restricted to claims under $1,500. Suits can be handled without a lawyer by filling out a claim form, reading the provided pamphlet, paying a fee ($10 for claims under $600 and $20 for larger claims), and appearing at the scheduled court date. A wait of about one month for a court date is common. Landlord-tenant disputes list, it's very important to notify the department if you move. Also, markings are sometimes available for placement in children's bedroom windows to alert firefighters to the children's presence.

Fire prevention programs. In September, October, and November, fire prevention programs are conducted for children in grades three through six, in cooperation with the public schools. The program includes hands-on demonstrations of fire management techniques as well as safety instruction. Fire station tours are often available.

Fire inspections. The department also conducts routine commercial fire inspections and inspections in new buildings, ensures that fire lanes are maintained during special events (like the notoriously crowded art fair), and investigates all fires of a suspicious nature.

HISTORIC PRESERVATION COMMISSION. 312 S. Division. 996-3008. The commission administers eight historic districts, including the Old West Side, the Old Fourth Ward, the Washtenaw/Hill, and the new Landmark Historic District. It has jurisdiction over buildings that are declared historic sites and can control certain changes to those buildings. If you have concerns about a historic building, contact the commission.

The commission also handles inquiries about local history, with an emphasis on the history of buildings. Ann Arbor's unofficial city historian, Wystan Stevens (662-5438), is also happy to answer questions about local history. The commission meets in city council chambers (second floor) at 6:30 p.m. on the first Thursday of every month. The public is welcome.

HOUSING COMMISSION, 727 Miller Ave. 994-2828. Housing is provided for low-income Ann Arbor residents in buildings owned by this commission. Expect a six-month wait for senior citizen housing and disabled/handicapped housing, and a two-year wait for family housing. To apply, call for an appointment with a housing manager. The commission checks character and prior landlord references before accepting applicants. Rent is set at 30 percent of a tenant's income. Miller Manor, at 727 Miller Road, has apartments for about 105 senior citizens, and Baker Commons, at 106 Packard, has apartments for about sixty-four. Family and disabled housing is spread across the city, often in duplexes and townhouses with room for two to four families. In all, about 350 people live in commission housing.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT, fifth floor, City Hall. 994-2780. This department runs the city parks, recreational areas, golf courses, ice rinks, the new skateboard ramp at Veterans Park, several community centers, and assorted other facilities. Brochures describing department services and facilities, published in early spring and early fall, are available at recreation facilities, libraries, and sporting goods stores. Individuals and groups can reserve park shelters at no charge by filling out the appropriate form. Occasionally, Mack Pool is also available. To reserve a softball diamond, call the Recreation Department (see below). Scholarships, available to people with low incomes, provide free passes to ice skating rinks, swimming pools, and day camps. Applications are available at all recreation facilities. Two boards, one for parks and one for recreation, advise the department. The boards consist of six appointed citizens, two council representatives, and the heads of several departments.

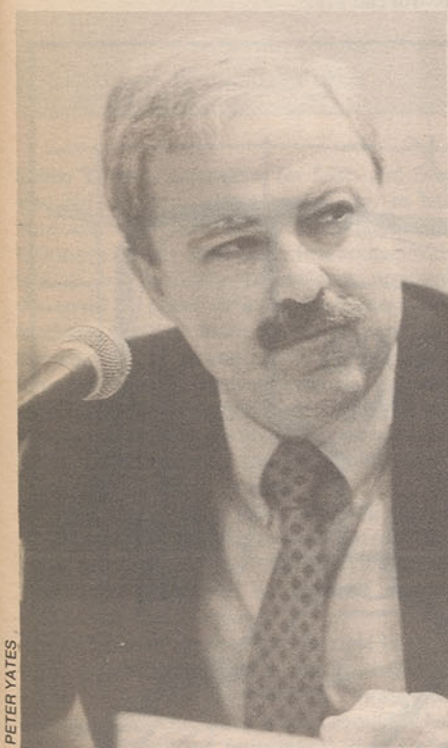

Forestry division, 415 W. Washington. 994-2769. The department's forestry service plants trees on lawn extensions and cares for them at no charge. Trees must be spaced at least forty-five feet apart. Home owners who want larger trees than those normally supplied can choose a tree and have it added to an extension, but they must pay the cost of moving the tree. Trees are planted in the fall and the spring, usually within one year of the request, so don't expect instant service.

The forestry service also inspects public and private trees for disease, cares for the public ones, and provides advice for the owners of private ones. Advice on shrubbery is also available.

Tree clinics are held once a month in May, June, and July in city parks. Foresters examine leaves, bark, or twigs brought to the clinics, and provide information and advice. The forestry service is currently compiling a register of the locations of the largest specimen of each type of tree found in Ann Arbor.

RECREATION DEPARTMENT, 2800 Stone School Rd. 994-2326. Although this sounds like a division of the Parks and Recreation Department, it's actually a completely separate body, funded jointly by the city and the school system and governed by a board appointed jointly by the city and the schools. It organizes classes, arts programs (including concerts and plays), team sports, therapeutic recreation, and senior citizen recreation. Recreation brochures are available in March (for spring programs), Employment. Advice on equal opportunity employment for adults and youth can be obtained from this department.

Discrimination. The Human Rights section handles complaints about discrimination in employment and housing and other violations of the city human rights ordinance. Appointed by the mayor and city council, the seven-member Human Rights Commission monitors problems with discrimination in Ann Arbor and makes recommendations to council on ways to eliminate it.

PLANNING COMMISSION, third floor, City Hall. 994-2800. The mayor and council appoint the Planning Commission, a nine-member citizen body which makes recommendations to council on proposed site plans, zoning changes, and modifications of the city's master plan. All commission actions include one or more public hearings.

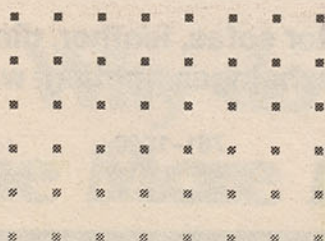

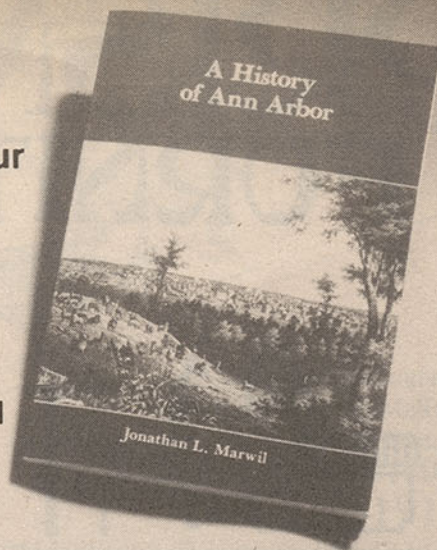

Council usually follows Planning Commission recommendations, but sometimes overrules it on controversial issues. The Planning Commission has final say on minor modifications of already approved site plans and on special exception uses (such as sorority houses in residential areas) as defined by city zoning ordinances. When a new development is planned, the commission notifies all residents who live within 300 feet of the proposed site, so that they can attend the public hearing. The commission makes demographic information available to the public at no charge and sells the city's basic planning documents for a small fee ($2-$10). In addition, planning staff is sometimes available to make presentations to local groups.

Individuals concerned about a development proposal are encouraged to call or stop by the Planning Department to get their questions answered. You can also state your concerns or objections when the Planning Commission holds its public hearing on the issue. Strong debate is common at these hearings. If you cannot attend the public hearing, send your views in a letter to the department, which functions as the commission's administrative staff. Planning Commission public hearing and action meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesdays of every month, in council chambers (second floor). These meetings are televised on cable Channel 10, and agendas are published in the Ann Arbor News and broadcast over Channel 10 beginning the Thursday before the meeting. Working sessions are held the first and third Tuesdays of every month, 7:30 p.m., in the fourth-floor conference room. Also, the Downtown Development Authority (DDA), which recommends parking structures and other downtown improvements to city council, meets the second Thursday of every month, 4:30 p.m., usually in the second-floor conference room in the main fire station.

POLICE DEPARTMENT, first floor, City Hall. 994-2875 (emergency, dial 911). The Police Department functions twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. In addition to law enforcement, it serves as a catch-all for services that the city's other departments do not provide. Lost and found is on the first floor of City Hall (994-2874). The department holds a police auction whenever the volume of found or confiscated goods becomes large. To find out how to start a Neighborhood Watch Program, call 994-2837. The Office of Disaster Preparedness (twenty-four-hour line, 761-2425) supplements police in the event of a disaster and notifies the public. For animal control call 911.

Safety Town is a program for four- and five-year-old children, offered every year in late June and early July. Safety Town minimizes children's anxiety about their first contact with schools by including them in a program presented by police officers, firefighters, and teachers. Children learn how to respond and not respond to strangers, to recognize and understand traffic signs and signals, to know their home phone numbers and addresses, and general information about how to get to school safely and stay there happily. Safety Town takes place at Abbot School.

The juvenile officer (994-4440) will address youth groups or talk to concerned parents. The crime prevention officer (994-2979) will survey your home and point out possible security weaknesses free of charge.

The 911 phone number has multiple lines, so don't be reluctant to use it. For incidents that are not in progress, call 994-2911. "Some people don't call when they maybe should, when they see something improper," says Police Captain Robert Conn. "We encourage people to call."

DEPARTMENT OF SOLID WASTE, lower level, City Hall. 994-2807. This department provides weekly garbage pickup. Trash must be in bags or cans (of no greater than 30-gallon capacity), with no more than fifty pounds of waste in each container. Quantity is unlimited, but yard waste must be bundled and cannot exceed ten fifty-pound bundles. Persons with a physical handicap can have garbage containers carried to the street at no charge. For large items, including furniture and appliances, a special collection is offered once a week for a prepaid fee of $15 per 4 cubic yards. Payment can be sent to Box 8647, AA 48104, or taken to the solid waste office in City Hall.

The city landfill, at 4120 Platt Road, accepts waste directly, for $7 (nonresidents, $8) per cubic yard, with a minimum charge of two cubic yards if the waste is brought in a truck, trailer, or van, and one cubic yard if it is brought in a car. However, waste brought in a car can be dumped for free if the driver shows a paid water bill or rental receipt to prove Ann Arbor residency. Also, a higher rate is charged to dump an appliance ($12.50; nonresidents, $14.50) and building material ($15; nonresidents, $30), with a five-cubic-yard limit on the amount of building material that can be brought into the landfill from any single location or building project. Tree stumps, tires, and liquids are not accepted at the landfill or in curb pickup.

Grass cuttings greatly increase the amount of Ann Arbor's trash collection during the summer months. At the landfill, the rotting grass turns into methane and takes up already scarce space. The Solid Waste Department points out that grass is recyclable and suggests a number of alternatives to bagging: Leave it on your lawn where it can return nitrogen to the soil. This also reduces the need for fertilizing. Use it as an excellent mulch for gardens and bushes. Start a compost container. The department plans to have a compost container for yard waste, as well as containers for other recyclables, at the landfill by the fall of 1988.

Ann Arbor's landfill will be full by early 1989, and it's uncertain whether the DNR will permit the next phase to open. The Solid Waste Task Force addresses this crisis in its recently completed outline of goals for the next five years. A copy of this report is available through this office for a small fee.

Recycle Ann Arbor, a program of the Ecology Center of Ann Arbor that is partially funded through city contracts, provides curbside pickup of recyclable material. Items that can be recycled include newspapers, clean glass sorted by color, flattened cans with labels removed, car batteries, used motor oil, and flattened and bundled cardboard. Newspapers can be tied in bundles or, like most of the other items, left in brown paper bags or boxes. No wet or yellow paper is accepted. Motor oil must be contained in plastic jugs. Car batteries do not require containers. All items can be left on the curb once a month for collection or taken to the drive-through at 2050 S. Industrial between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. See map on p. 21 for Recycle Ann Arbor's curbside collection schedule in your neighborhood.

TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT, fourth floor, City Hall. 994-2818. This department offers a variety of services. Leaf pickup is scheduled twice for each neighborhood in the fall; snow removal is done regularly in the winter (for most streets); and Christmas tree removal is performed once for each neighborhood in January. The dates of tree and leaf removal are listed in the Ann Arbor News. To request additional street cleaning, call 994-1617.

Street and sidewalk maintenance. For pothole repair, call 99-HOLES. For fallen street signs, sidewalk repair, abandoned cars, and inoperative street lights or traffic signals, call the main department number.

Streetlights and traffic signals. The installation of additional street lights and traffic signals can be requested. A neighborhood petition is required. Approximately 70 percent of requests are accepted. On-street parking modifications can be requested with the same procedure.

Parking. Parking permits for city structures are available to the public for $40 per month plus a $15 refundable deposit; call 994-2707 to get on a waiting list. It is sometimes possible to obtain permission to park in illegal places. Metered spaces can be reserved for occasions such as weddings; there is a charge for this service, and a small deposit is required. Most applications

Block parties. Call this office for information on closing a street for a block party.

TREASURER'S OFFICE, first floor, City Hall. 994-2833. City taxes can be paid here, though the city encourages mail-in payments. There is a drive-up window on the north side of City Hall for payment of taxes, utility bills, and parking tickets during business hours. Summer property tax payments not received by the July 31 deadline increase by 1 percent, and the penalty climbs to 5 percent after August 31. Winter rates go up 1 percent after January 31 and 2 percent after February 28. The county assumes responsibility for collecting taxes that are more than one month overdue.

Parking tickets can also be paid in this office. Tickets for expired meters cost $2 instead of $3 when paid within one hour of issuance. (Tickets received after 4 p.m. and paid by 10 a.m. the following day are also $2.) Tickets can be appealed to the Parking Violations Referee, in person or by mail, by claiming unusual circumstances and providing an explanation. The referee will investigate the claim, often by going to the site of the ticketing. About one-quarter of appealed tickets are dismissed. Devoted challengers can appeal decisions in district court.

UTILITIES DEPARTMENT, fifth floor, City Hall. 994-2666. This department provides water, sewer, and storm water service to Ann Arbor and parts of the surrounding townships. It also offers emergency services (for a broken water pipe, for instance) twenty-four hours a day, often at no charge. For all Ann Arbor buildings, water costs 91 cents per 100 cubic feet (about 750 gallons). Sanitary sewer service costs $1.62 per 100 cubic feet. Storm water service costs $4.71 per quarter for single-family and duplex residents. The average three-month bill (including water, and storm and sanitary sewers) for one household is $29. That rate is discounted 10 percent for bills paid within thirty days.

City Taxes

The July 1988 tax rate is $41.52 per $1,000 assessed valuation of property—13 cents less than last year's. Of that, $17.83 goes to the city, $3.61 to Washtenaw Community College, $1.83 to the county Intermediate School District, and $18.25 to the public schools. December's tax is limited to funding for the schools and for Washtenaw County. The exact rate is still undetermined, but is expected to be a bit less than $30 per $1,000 assessed valuation (the December 1987 rate was $27.25).

The city's part goes to general government operations ($7.22), debt service ($1.37), garbage collection ($2.89), employee benefits ($2.41), Ann Arbor Transportation Authority ($1.50), parks development and parkland acquisition (98 cents), and major street repairs ($1.44).

City Elections

City elections take place on the first Monday in April, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. National, state, and county elections are held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The City Clerk's office, the public library, the Secretary of State, and voluntary deputy registrars register voters. To be eligible to vote, individuals must have lived in Ann Arbor for at least thirty days prior to an election. After registration, a voter receives a card and information by mail about where and how to vote.

The Ann Arbor City Code

A quick look at some things that are legal and illegal in Ann Arbor.

Cars, bikes, skateboards, and pedestrians. It is legal to turn left on a red light onto a one-way street, after yielding to pedestrians and oncoming cars. It is illegal to drive past school buses which have stopped and are displaying two alternately flashing red lights. It is legal for pedestrians to cross the street on a red light or a "don't walk" signal as long as there is no danger or obstruction of traffic. It is illegal to drive "in such a manner as to splash snow, rain, water, mud, dirt, or debris" onto pedestrians. Roller skates, skateboards, sleds, coasting wagons, toy vehicles, or "similar devices" are not allowed in streets, except for crossing. Bikes on the roads more than half an hour after sunset or before sunrise must have headlights and rear reflectors, and "every bicycle shall be equipped with at least one effective brake." In mid 1988, council also banned skateboarding in city parking structures and Liberty Plaza, and on certain downtown sidewalks.

Pets. Dog owners must have their dogs under "reasonable control" at all times. They are also required to clean up after their dogs on both public and private property. Owners of all pets must provide proper food, drink, and shelter from the weather for their animals, as well as medical attention necessary to prevent the animals from suffering. Animals may not be left confined without adequate ventilation—this includes leaving your pet inside a car.

Landscaping. Home owners are prohibited from growing vegetation (such as hedges) higher than thirty-six inches, if that vegetation is within twenty-five feet of an intersection. Trees within that distance must be trimmed to provide clear vision of the intersection. No weeds, grass, or "other vegetation" higher than sixteen inches is allowed to cover a lawn, or the city will mow your lawn for you—and give you the bill. "No fence shall be constructed or maintained which is charged or connected with an electrical current."

Handbills. It is illegal to distribute handbills by leaving them on parked cars, but they may be handed to drivers. Similarly, commercial flyers may not be left on private premises, but may be given directly to occupants. Current rules governing the posting of handbills on utility poles and lamp posts specify that it is not a violation to post handbills on poles and posts in the public right of way if (1) the handbill advertises an event that occurs within fourteen days or less of the posting and (2) the persons posting the notice remove five expired handbills (or all, if fewer than five are on the post) for each handbill they put up. A council proposal to repeal this ordinance and ban handbills from utility poles altogether was defeated in mid 1988.

Boom boxes. In city parks, it is illegal to "use any device transmitting electronically amplified sound, including, but not limited to, radios [and] tape recorders. . . ."

Begging. In Ann Arbor, it is prohibited to "beg in any public or private place."

Marijuana. Possession of less than one ounce of marijuana in Ann Arbor is not a criminal act, and is not punishable as such. Instead, it carries a $5 fine for a first offense. Possession of more than one ounce of marijuana and the selling of the drug are criminal offenses. A state law makes possession of any amount illegal. The city of Ann Arbor can choose to follow either the city law or the state law, according to its judgment on any individual case, so the $5 fine is not absolute.

Domestic violence. Ann Arbor's domestic violence law requires police to arrest people suspected of spouse abuse, if there is reasonable cause to believe the abuse took place, without requiring that the other spouse press charges, and without waiting for a complaint. Both of the people involved are offered counseling.

Map of Recycling Areas

To use Recycle Ann Arbor's free service, residents should place bundled newspapers, clean glass (sorted by color—metal rings need not be removed), flattened cans, household aluminum, and used motor oil on the curb in front of their houses by 8 a.m. on the collection date for their area. Recycle Ann Arbor services only those homes and apartments that have regular curbside trash pickup. Material should be clearly marked "For Recycle Ann Arbor." For information, call 665-6398.

CITY OF ANN ARBOR TREASURER'S OFFICE

Information for: Ann Arbor residents
From: Richard J. Garay, City Treasurer

The City Treasurer's office collects funds owed the city—parking violations, water bills, property taxes, and service fees. For your convenience, there is a drive-up window on the Ann Street side of City Hall, open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday (except legal holidays).

WATER BILLS can also be paid at branches of NBD-Ann Arbor, or by mail. If you pay by mail, please include your account number along with your address.

PARKING VIOLATIONS: If you are ticketed for parking at an expired meter, you can reduce the $3 fine by paying it immediately at City Hall. (Feeding a meter past the legal limit posted on the meter will result in a $10 fine.) Check the violation code on your ticket to be sure you submit the right amount: fines increase if not paid promptly. And by state regulation, six or more outstanding tickets can cause your driver's license renewal to be withheld.

A NOTE TO NEW HOMEOWNERS: Property tax bills go out twice a year, in July and December. Since there is often a lag in recording a property in a new owner's name, your bill could be delayed. To avoid penalties for late payment, call the Treasurer's Office if you don't receive your tax bill by the 10th of July or the 10th of December.

If you have questions about your water or city tax bills, call 994-2833. For questions about parking violations, call 994-2775.

PARKING & TRANSPORTATION

Parking

Municipal Facilities. City parking lots and structures are designated by white signs with a large green P inside a green circle. There are 938 parking spaces in city surface lots, exactly 4,000 parking spaces in city parking structures, and an additional 1,306 metered curbside spaces in the downtown/campus area. All spaces in the municipal parking system are regulated by the Transportation Department.

Parking meters cost 30¢ an hour. Generally, meters need to be fed between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, but in many lots and structures the hours are longer. Hours of operation are posted at each facility.

The fine for an expired meter is $2 if paid within one hour, $3 if paid within two weeks. After that, the cost jumps to $8 and can go as high as $18 if the ticket is ignored. Other penalties, including additional fines and auto impoundment, are invoked if a driver has six or more unpaid tickets. Fines for most other parking violations are $10 if paid within two weeks. For parking in a handicapped parking zone the fine is $75.

The Parking Violations Bureau, located on the first floor of City Hall, is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. There is a drive-through window on the north side of City Hall for ticket payment. Also, people who want to pay meter-expiration fines within the one-hour time limit during nonbusiness hours can go to the first floor of City Hall (open 24 hours), where there is a time stamp and a drop box.

There are a few quirks of the local parking system that users may not know about. Backing cars into parking spaces is not allowed. It is illegal to park at a meter for longer than the number of hours the meter is set to measure. In the central business district, parking is not allowed between 3 a.m. and 6 a.m., to allow for street cleaning. Straddling two parking spaces can earn a ticket for "double parking." Parking more than twelve inches from the curb can also produce a ticket. The fine for all these offenses is $10 if paid within fourteen days and $15 afterwards.

Handicapped Parking. Restricted parking spaces in public and private lots are set aside for use only by vehicles with city or state handicapped permits or handicapped license plates. These spaces are commonly marked with blue signs with a white symbol of a person in a wheelchair. Vehicles with handicapped permits or plates can also park in curbside loading zones and are exempt from having to feed meters. They are not subject to posted time limits or the maximum amount of meter time allowed at on-street parking spaces.

The city issues temporary handicapped permits in the form of stickers that are available at the City Clerk's office on the second floor of City Hall. An application must be accompanied by a physician's statement certifying disability.

The Secretary of State issues handicapped permits and license plates for the temporarily and permanently disabled. The handicapped person must apply in person. If the handicap is not obvious, the application must be completed by the applicant's physician.

Parking Permits. 994-2707. There are 2,437 parking permits available that allow parking in specific lots and structures in the city system, although they do not guarantee the availability of parking spaces. Permits cost $40 a month and are sold on a monthly or semiannual basis. Permit parkers in some lots and structures need a card-key, for which there is a refundable $15 deposit. Permits are issued on a first-come, first-served basis and there is a waiting list for each facility. (In June 1988, the waiting list totaled 500.) To get on a waiting list, simply call the Transportation Department. Application and initial purchase must be made at the Parking Operations Headquarters at 415 W. Washington (second floor). Permits can be purchased during the first and last weeks of the month (Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-4 p.m.), and on Fridays only during other weeks (11 a.m.-3 p.m.). Parking in permit spaces by nonpermit vehicles is allowed after the posted hours of operation. Some of the permit lots have no signs, but it's generally safe to park in them after 5 p.m.

University of Michigan Parking Operations, 508 Thompson. 764-8292. University parking facilities are marked by blue signs that note restrictions and hours of operation. Most facilities allow parking only by permit, and permits are available only to full-time permanent faculty and staff. Eligibility for permits, which cost $180 a year, is dependent on numerous criteria. Visitors can purchase a daily permit for $3.50, but are advised to call ahead to see what facilities it will give them access to.

The U-M also has about 1,200 metered spaces on campus and 1,500 more in the Fletcher and Thayer Street structures. There are two kinds of U-M meters. Most require permits for use. (Read the signs in a given lot to find out if a permit is needed.) Permits are not needed to park at the blue U-M meters. Meter rates vary slightly but are comparable to city rates. The city's parking enforcement officers patrol U-M facilities and issue tickets that are the same as the city's and carry the same fine amounts (payable to the city).

There are two student parking lots, one at Hill and Division and one on Hayward on North Campus. Permits for the 385 or so spaces are sold in late August, on a first-come, first-served basis. Usually, they are all issued on the first day. Some spaces become available during the school year, and plenty are available during the spring and summer. Student permits cost $170 a year, but can be purchased as available throughout the year for proportionately less.

Transportation

AIRPORTS AND AIRPORT TRANSPORTATION

Ann Arbor Airport, State and Ellsworth roads. 994-2841. The seventh-busiest airport in Michigan, with over 100,000 take-offs and landings annually. Operating 24 hours, this municipal facility accommodates business, corporate, and private flights and provides air ambulance service, charter flights, and flight instruction. Repairs, service, fuel, and hangar rentals are available. The terminal building lobby has a 24-hour direct-line phone to 22 area hotels, cab companies, and aviation services. The airport is located south of the city, near the Briarwood business district. Access to downtown Ann Arbor is available by bus, taxi, limousine, or on-site car rental.

Detroit Metropolitan Airport. "Metro" is a major national airport (19,746,992 passengers in 1987) offering regional, national, and international flights by twenty or so different airlines. Metro is located off I-94 at the Merriman Road exit approximately 25 miles east of Ann Arbor. For specific flight information contact the individual airlines or a travel agent.

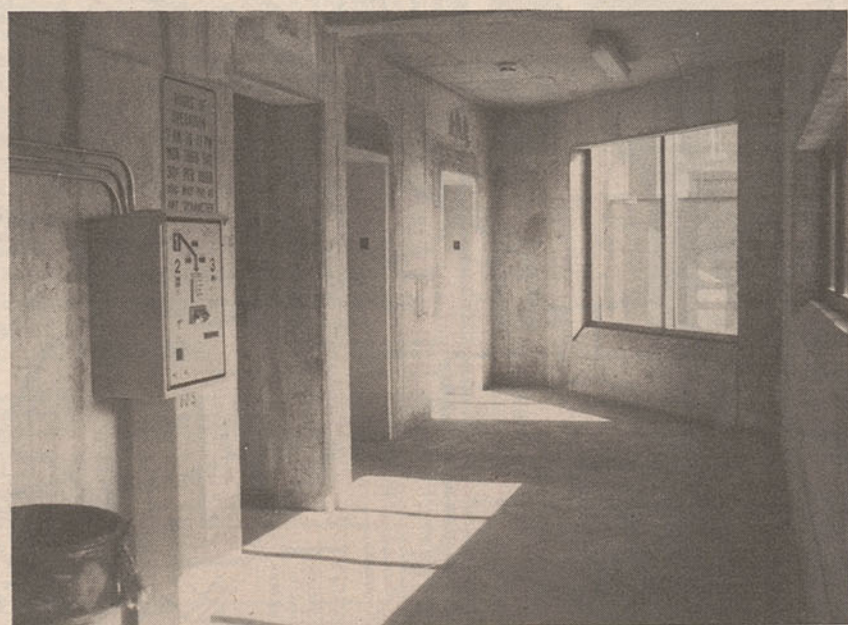

The Merriman Road/Metro Airport exit off I-94 lets out onto Rogell Drive which circles Metro's facilities. The first terminal is the International Terminal off to the right. Just past the International Terminal, Rogell Drive splits into upper and lower levels. The upper roadway goes to departure/drop-off areas and the lower goes to the arrival/pick-up areas. The next building is the tall concrete Davey Terminal (north terminal) which is almost solely occupied by Northwest Airlines. Just beyond the Davey Terminal is the Marriott Hotel, and at the south end of the Rogell loop is the old turquoise L.C. Smith Terminal (south terminal), which houses many different airlines. (The Smith Terminal is scheduled to be closed for asbestos insulation removal during the fall of 1988. Alternate facilities are still being planned.)

During the holiday seasons of Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, and Easter it's advisable to call the Parking Hot Line (1-942-3838) for traffic and parking conditions well in advance of your departure.

Parking facilities at Metro are not always well marked, so be sure you are driving into the type (short- or long-term) of parking lot you want. If you drive into a short-term lot, even by accident, it will cost you $1.50 just to get out again. Short-term parking is $1.50 per half-hour with a maximum charge of $24 a day.

There are numerous long-term parking facilities, including the International Terminal Lot and adjacent West Lot, the large parking deck in the middle of the circular Rogell Drive, and the Long-Term Lot off eastbound (outbound) Rogell Drive. There are four private lots (Budget, Park-N-Go, U.S. Park, and Airlines Parking) with a total of 12,028 parking spaces on Middlebelt and Wickham roads with shuttle service to Metro terminals. Costs range from $3.25 to $6 per day.

Commuter Transportation Company. 800-351-LIMO or 763-8587 (Michigan Union Ticket Office). Dark blue vans with airplane insignia on the sides (during holidays they are large white buses with blue insignia) provide service seven days a week between Metro Airport and area hotels and motels (the Ann Arbor Inn, the Campus Inn, the Hilton, the Holiday Inns, the Marriott, the Sheraton, Weber's, and others). Reservations are required for pickups,

Coping with the dynameter

The dynameter, a computerized parking meter able to monitor hundreds of spaces at a time, is the wave of the future in the Ann Arbor parking system. It is simultaneously a statistician's dream and a nightmare to those drivers who systematically seek the magic combination of an open parking spot and an unexpired meter.

In dynametered lots, there are no individual meters at the parking spaces. Instead, signs identify each space by number. Drivers park in any open spot, note the number, and then find the dynameter. A yellow-painted steel box about one and a half feet wide and two and a half feet tall, it's generally located in the central part of a lot or in the stairwell of a structure. Once they find it, drivers punch their space number into a telephone-like keypad, then insert coins while a small digital display totals up the amount of time purchased.

In theory, drivers lucky enough to choose a spot with time remaining from a previous parker are credited for the extra time. In practice, few of them even learn of their good fortune—and almost none learn in time to save any money. The only way to discover whether there's any bonus time on a space is to request a receipt that shows the expiration time—and the dynameter issues that only after coins are inserted.

For drivers who need them, those handy receipts are the only compensation for losing the modest thrill of finding an unexpired meter. But for the city, the dynameter is a marvel. It constantly reports the exact state of the parking system; it accepts computer-readable card-keys, allowing permit and short-term parkers to share the same parking areas; and it's a significant cost-saver.

Most of the savings, though, don't come from eliminating the unexpired-meter ploy. Because it costs up to $90 to reset a single mechanical meter when parking rates rise, it can take more than a year after an increase for a mechanical meter to pay back the changeover cost and start producing new revenue. Lots with dynameters can be reprogrammed for new rates—and begin producing new revenue—almost instantly.

What We've Learned About Managing Savings At This Level...

When you think about it, the way you manage your family savings is a lot like the way a business manages its savings. To find the best savings programs, you both have to choose the right bank. And when over 25,000 businesses in Michigan choose a bank to manage their money, they go to Manufacturers Bank. The bank where business banks.

At Manufacturers, your money will get the professional attention it deserves. Because we offer the right investment products, helpful service and the flexibility needed for money management. And our experience with business makes your personal banking with Manufacturers that much more rewarding.

Because at Manufacturers, your personal money is serious business. And by choosing from an innovative range of savings products, you can deposit your money in a secure account that best suits your needs. Like a Time Deposit Account, which can earn fixed or flexible rates of interest. There's Manufacturers Savers Choice Time Deposit, for the freedom to add to your principal while earning market interest rates over a one-year period. Whatever your financial needs, Manufacturers has the savings plan for you. Just ask our experienced staff. They'll be happy to help you make the right decision.

Remember, it's your money. It belongs in the hands of a bank that understands the business of managing money at all levels. A bank called Manufacturers Bank.

SENIOR CITIZEN SERVICES

Good-as-Gold (AATA/Yellow Cab), 973-6500. A 24-hour shared-ride service, operated by Yellow Cab. Fare is $1 regardless of distance, but only within the city limits. The Good-as-Gold ID Card required can be obtained from the AATA by persons aged 65 and older. AATA buses can be ridden for free with a Good-as-Gold ID Card. (Persons aged 60 and over can ride AATA buses for half-fare with a half-fare ID card.)

Neighborhood Senior Services. 662-4862. This organization arranges rides, offered by volunteers in their own cars, for seniors who are frail and have no other means of transportation to or from the doctor, bank, or grocery store.

SERVICES FOR THE HANDICAPPED AND DISABLED

A-Ride (AATA/Yellow Cab). 973-6500. Door-to-door shared-ride service in lift-equipped vans or cabs for transit-handicapped riders. A-Ride operates primarily within the city limits, and users must have an AATA ID card. Medical certification of disability is required to obtain the card. The fare is $1; coupons (10 for $5) can be bought from the AATA. Reservations can be made from two weeks to one day in advance. Same-day requests are accepted but not guaranteed. Hours: Mon.-Fri. 6 a.m.-11 p.m.; Sat. & Sun. 8 a.m.-10 p.m. Limited service is also available for persons in Pittsfield Township and Saline. Fare is 75¢ within Pittsfield Township or Saline and $1.50 to or from Ann Arbor. Hours: Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Health Van (Huron Valley Ambulance). 971-3015. Provides nonemergency transport in a radio-equipped van with a mechanical ramp. Reservations are suggested at least a day in advance, since service is on a first-come, first-served basis. Rates are $10 each way plus $1 a mile, increasing to $1.40 at 50 miles and beyond. An EMT is available to staff the van at a rate of $25 each way plus mileage as above. The charge for waiting is $15 an hour. Operates weekdays 10 a.m.-6 p.m., but evening and weekend rides can be scheduled.

Rehab Cab. 482-7061. This privately owned company provides 24-hour service with radio-equipped lift-ramp vans and station wagons. Based in Ypsilanti, it operates primarily within a 75-mile radius of the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area. Reservations are suggested at least a day in advance, since service is provided on a first-come, first-served basis. Rates are $10 or $12 for pickup, depending on type of vehicle used, plus 90¢ a mile. An EMT-staffed van is available for a $27 pickup fee plus 90¢ a mile.

University Special Transportation (U-M/Ann Arbor ParaTransit), Rooms 621 & 625, Haven Hall (ground level). 763-3000. UST is primarily for permanently and temporarily disabled U-M students. Handicapped administrators and faculty are eligible to ride depending on space availability. The service operates Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-7 p.m. (hours may expand). For eligibility, contact the Office of Disabled Student Services (763-3000), Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

RISE SHARING

Ride Board (U-M). Located in the basement of the Michigan Union. People seeking or offering long-distance rides can sign up, in person only, to find other drivers and riders.

Ridesharing (AATA). 973-6500. A free service to help commuters who work in Washtenaw County get into vanpools and carpools.

The Ride Connection (U-M). 763-3500. A service of WCBN (88.3 FM), the student-run U-M radio station. Riders or drivers can call in with information on rides offered or needed. The destination, date of ride offered or needed, and the first name only of the rider or driver are announced over the air at 8:15 a.m. and 1, 5, and 9 p.m. weekdays. Interested listeners respond by calling the station for more information.

The Woman Who Can Void Your Parking Ticket

There are five chairs lined up against one side of the hallway leading to the long counter on the sixth floor of City Hall. On this Wednesday afternoon, each chair holds a person with a concentrated, drawn expression clutching a parking ticket in one slightly damp hand. They are here to appeal parking tickets to the city's ticket referee.

At 2:00 p.m., a clerk behind the counter places a clipboard and cover sheet on the countertop and walks away. The seated figures saunter up one by one to the sign that says, "Parking Referee—Sign Here."

"Robert Russell?" a soft voice calls, and all eyes turn toward the short hall between the counter and the back of the long office. "This way, please."

Referee Lois McWherter is a petite, doe-eyed woman dressed in casual business clothes. Almost everyone who follows her to the hearing room dwarfs her.

Russell is young—nineteen, McWherter guesses later—dressed in black jeans, a striped shirt, and white Reeboks. He's pale and keeps tapping his right foot. The left one is wound around the chair leg.

"What can I do for you?" McWherter asks in her soft voice. "Can I help you?"

"Uh, yeah," the young man says. "Please." He stops to swallow, to take a breath. His story is short. His car ran out of gas on Huron Parkway. He went to get some, and on the way back, saw his car being towed. His voice, too, is soft. He succeeds in holding it steady, although once or twice it breaks. Once he reaches up a hand and tugs at a lock of hair.

"Well, you know, the City of Ann Arbor doesn't consider running out of gas an emergency," McWherter says, "because it's absolutely preventable."

Well, Russell says, there's more. The gas tank was new. He had just installed it. The person who sold it to him said it would take a couple of fill-ups before it would register correctly. When he ran out of gas, the tank registered a quarter full.

The young man reaches into a pocket and takes out two or three pieces of paper. One is the sales slip for the gas tank, which he hands to the referee.

She looks it over and considers a moment before nodding. "It does look like you did try to correct the problem. All right, I'll dismiss the ticket."

"Thank you. That's fine. Thank you. I appreciate it. Uh, have a nice day," he says as he pushes back the chair and escapes. Braving the ticket referee has saved him a $10 fine for being a traffic hazard and the $27 towing fee. McWherter sighs, moves some papers aside, and calls her next customer.

Three of the appellants argue their tickets aren't valid because the signs or meters weren't accurate or had been moved. McWherter tells each of them not to pay their fines until she has a chance to go out to the scenes and check. When she does, "the vast majority of the signs are good as gold—and so are the meters." But, she says, missing signs are a fairly common problem around the U-M campus, especially at the end of a term.

George, a man in his mid fifties in rumpled slacks and shirt, his jacket beside him, explains that he is a taxi driver and was picking up a package from one of the medical buildings. He couldn't find a loading zone, so he parked at a meter and returned to find that he had parked in a metered lot that also was labeled "Permit Only."

McWherter can't do anything about his ticket, but suggests that his taxi company get a special permit for loading and unloading in the area.

Only one of Wednesday's people tries McWherter's patience. A blond, willowy young woman argues that she doesn't deserve a ticket for parking in a No Parking zone because her friends park there all the time. Indeed, she has parked there before herself. "It ought to be marked," she said indignantly.

"It is," McWherter says. She adds that it's at an intersection, and it's always against the law to park in an intersection.

"Well, there ought to be signs saying you can't park in an intersection. I didn't know that," the girl argues. "I guess I can always park in front of the dumpster..."

"It's illegal to park in front of a dumpster," McWherter says.

"Well, I didn't know that, either. There ought to be signs on dumpsters saying you can't park there."

McWherter finally tells the young woman their argument isn't constructive and shows her out. Many complainants get belligerent, she says. One man got so angry he struck her with his parking ticket when she told him she would not dismiss it. He then told her to "sue me for assault."

McWherter says people often feel she's being paid to be yelled at. "They're ferocious, especially when you get someone whose car has been towed. How dare we deprive them of their vehicle?!"

It doesn't hurt to contest a ticket, McWherter says, if there's a valid reason. Her statistics show that she dismisses about a quarter of the tickets appealed to her office, either through the mail or during her in-person referee sessions. The most common tickets are $3 fines for expired meters. Most other parking offenses cost $10, except for parking in a handicapped spot, which is $75.

McWherter admits she has no truck with people who park in handicapped designated areas—especially the ones who think it's an excuse that they "only parked for a couple of minutes." She even had one doctor who contested a handicapped-space ticket. "Can you imagine? A doctor! Of course, there was no way to dismiss the ticket. He got really angry, too."

HOUSING

Ann Arbor's neighborhoods

An aerial view of Ann Arbor shows the city's major arteries looking like spokes of a wheel, all headed toward a downtown hub. But even as compact and manageable a community as Ann Arbor is really an assemblage of new and old, highly developed and wide open spaces.

To better track the city, the Ann Arbor Planning Department divides it into fifty-two separate neighborhoods. Some are quite homogeneous, like the Allmendinger neighborhood between Main and Seventh north of Stadium that consists almost entirely of postwar bungalows and ranches. But more often they are diverse replicas of the city's own complexity, like the Northwood V/Vintage Valley neighborhood that combines U-M married student housing, research facilities, wide open spaces, and the expensive Vintage Valley subdivision close to a low-income public housing project.

Neighborhood numbers are keyed to the map on this page. Home price information (current as of July 1988) was provided by realty agents Jim Anderson of Spear & Associates, and Chuck Reinhart, Dave Luton and Susan Kellam of the Charles Reinhart Company. Demographic data comes from a draft of the results of the city's spring 1988 Household Survey, and is only an approximate guide.

1 & 2: NORTHBURY/CHAPEL HILL & ORCHARD HILLS/MAPLEWOOD

This area northeast of the Plymouth and Nixon intersection is a predominantly residential mixture of subdivisions, condominiums, and apartment complexes, with a shopping mall, hotel, research facilities, and recently built office buildings along Plymouth and Green roads. Once dominated by the Bolgos family's farm and dairy, this area boomed in the 1950s when sewers were built as part of the U-M's North Campus construction across Plymouth Road.

The Northbury Condominiums, east of Nixon Road just north of Clague Intermediate school, sell for $130,000 to $250,000, and are designed chiefly as an adult community, offering no recreational facilities. By contrast, the Chapel Hill area, east of Green Road and just north of the new Hampton Inn, has a pool and clubhouse for a diverse townhouse condominium and single-family community. Chapel Hill condos sell for $65,000 to $85,000. The newly constructed Windemere Park luxury apartments lie north of the Northbury condos. In those neighborhoods, the city's 1988 Household Survey found increasing numbers of both single-person households (30 percent, up from 18 percent in 1986), and households with children living at home (33 percent, up from 26 percent in 1986). Median household income is $52,500.

The Orchard Hills, Maplewood, and Bromley single-family subdivisions make up the Orchard Hills/Maplewood neighborhood. Orchard Hills' houses are fifteen to twenty-five years old. Maplewood's houses are slightly newer, and Bromley's are also newer but a bit smaller. Prices for houses in the three subdivisions range from $100,000 to $150,000. Median household income is up significantly, from $47,000 in 1986 to $64,500, and well above the citywide median income of $35,000. Residents are 96 percent home owners; 48 percent have children at home.

Located in Ann Arbor's Second Ward, the two neighborhoods have consistently voted Republican in local elections. The one exception was in the 1986 council race, when these two precincts helped elect Democrat Seth Hirshorn—an Orchard Hills resident who shared his neighbors' conservatism on development issues. Not surprisingly, Hirshorn lost his reelection bid to Republican Ingrid Sheldon in April 1988, though the Northbury/Chapel Hill precinct narrowly supported him a second time.

Bernie Lugauer is vice president of the Northbury Condominium Association; Ed Goodman is the manager of the Chapel Hill Condominium Association. The Bromley Homeowners Association is chaired by Carole Rycus; Warren Attarian is president of the Orchard Hills/Maplewood Homeowners Association. Wendy Carman is the contact person for the Northeast Planning Review Committee. Schools are Thurston and Logan elementaries, Clague Intermediate, and Huron High.

3: TRAYER/WILLOWTREE

The Trayer/Willowtree area is dominated by apartments, including Willowtree, Willowtree Tower, and Parc Pointe on Plymouth Road; the Parkway Meadows townhouses (which include a group of senior citizen apartment buildings) near Nixon; and Trayer Ridge off Trayer Road. Trayer Lakes includes apartments and condos on the south side of Trayer Road and single-family houses on the north side. The newer single-family houses above Placid Way comprise Trayer Vistas. Overall, 82 percent of the Trayer/Willowtree households are occupied by renters. Residents of Trayer Ridge, Trayer Lakes, and Trayer Vistas all belong to an association that shares the clubhouse, pool, and tennis courts at the Trayer Lakes condos.

Single-family colonials in Trayer Lakes (ten to fourteen years old) and Trayer Vistas just north of Placid Way (two to three years old) cost from $115,000 to $175,000. The Trayer Lakes condos go for $85,000 to $155,000. Median income for this neighborhood rose over the past two years, from $21,000 in 1986 to $26,600.

Thirty-one percent of this neighborhood's households are occupied by just one person; 27 percent have children at home; and 15 percent are seniors (down from 27 percent in the last survey). Traver/Willowtree is the only Republican precinct in the solidly Democratic First Ward.

The Traver Lakes Community Association is headed by Connie Einstadter. Esther Bishopp is president of the Parkway Meadows Senior Council. Schools are Logan and Northside elementaries, Clague Intermediate, and Huron High.

4: LESLIE PARK/ARROWWOOD

The Leslie Park/Arrowwood neighborhood lies between Pontiac Trail to the west and Leslie Park and the Leslie Park Golf Course to the east. The hilly terrain is pocked with gravel pits left by a receding glacier. The rocky landscape can send softballs askew during ballgames at Leslie Park.

A handful of single-family homes dot the rural-like dirt roads around Leslie Park, some moderately priced postwar ranches and others old farmhouses along Dhu Varren Road. Because the Dhu Varren area is not hooked up to the city's water and sewer lines, it has remained largely undeveloped. This area's chief housing source is the 350-unit Arrowwood Hills Cooperative—a low-income townhouse complex that lies east of Pontiac Trail.

By August 1988, only twenty-six responses had been received for the city's 1988 Household Survey. Of those, 64 percent of the households were families and 54 percent had children at home. Median income was just $16,000—third lowest in the city, and actually less than the 1986 figure of $17,000.

Brian Ewart is the contact person for the Arrowwood Hills Co-op. Children are bused to King, Logan, or Thurston elementary schools; the intermediate school is Clague; the high school is Huron. This neighborhood is solidly Democratic.

5: HURON HIGHLANDS

Huron Highlands is located on a high ridge overlooking the Huron River Valley and the downtown skyline, between M-14 and Pontiac Trail. The ridge is the northern portion of the Fort Wayne moraine, which extends south and west to form the western slopes of Ann Arbor.

FHA-financed single-family ranches built in the late 1960s are priced at $65,000 and up. There are also some fairly substantial contemporary homes dotted throughout this neighborhood, which sell for as much as $200,000. Ninety-seven percent of all households own their homes, 76 percent are occupied by families, and 33 percent have children at home. Median income in the city's most recent survey was $55,000, notably higher than the $45,500 of two years ago.

The Northside Advisory Group, headed by Libby Davenport, and the Northside Neighborhood Association, headed by John Breckenridge, focus on this neighborhood as well as Northside and Leslie Park/Arrowwood. Children attend Northside Elementary, Clague Intermediate, and Huron High. Huron Highlands, like Leslie Park/Arrowwood on the other side of Pontiac Trail, is located in the city's First Ward and consistently favors Democrats in local elections.

6: NORTHSIDE

This area immediately north of the Huron River near downtown was built up spottily during the 19th century. It continued to grow in both postwar periods of this century, which explains its mix of small, moderately priced ($60,000 and up) ranches and some of the city's oldest surviving houses. There are also the Shoreview Apartments and Ravensfield Townhouses between Longshore Drive and Kellogg Street and west of Pontiac Trail on the crest leading down to the Argo Canoe Livery.

This southern section of Pontiac Trail has several historic Greek Revival homes, including the "milk house" at 1324 Pontiac. It was built by Jonathan Lund in 1847 and named for its stucco facade, which was mixed with skim milk. Arthur Miller lived here in the 1930s as a U-M student. The Beckley House, located at 1425 Pontiac, served as a hiding place for fugitive slaves during the Civil War. Just off Pontiac Trail on Kellogg Street, the Fairview Cemetery contains graves of early Ann Arbor settlers.

A Democratic stronghold that is home to both First Ward council members, Anne Marie Coleman and Larry Hunter, Northside is one of the few racially integrated neighborhoods in Ann Arbor. Sixty-nine percent of Northside households rent, 35 percent are made up of just one person, and 15 percent have children. Median income rose to $34,500 in 1988, from $25,000 in 1986.

Schools are Northside Elementary, Clague Intermediate, and Huron High. The Northside Community Center on Taylor has baseball diamonds and a senior citizens center.

7: BROADWAY/RIVERSIDE

This neighborhood just north of the Huron River adjacent to Northside includes the spot where several Indian trails once met at a ford on the Huron River. That same clustering effect is visible today as Broadway, Plymouth Road, Maiden Lane, Wall Street, Moore Street, Swift Street, and Pontiac Trail all converge near the Broadway bridge. The Anson Brown Building at 1001 Broadway, built in 1832, is the oldest surviving commercial structure in Ann Arbor. Today it houses the St. Vincent de Paul Thrift Shop.

Cedar Bend Drive, located near the crest of the Broadway hill, offers a spectacular view of the Huron River valley below and of the U-M Medical Center across Fuller Road. It follows one of the high river terraces left behind by the meandering Huron, which flows past Wall Street and Maiden Lane along Fuller Road. Extended river terraces just east of Fuller Pool, toward the U-M's North Campus further to the east, border what was once a pre-glacial lake bed.

Like the neighboring Northside area, Broadway/Riverside is dominated by rental housing, in complexes, in the duplexes that line Jones Drive, and in converted older houses. Eighty-four percent of the Broadway/Riverside neighborhood households are renters. Apartment complexes include the Broadview and Highland apartments at the top of the Broadway hill, the Brookside apartments between Jones and Plymouth, and the Island Drive and Medical Center Court apartments off Maiden Lane.

High-rise condominiums at 1050 Wall Street along Riverside Park—the 1875 site of Alber & Co. Blacksmith and Wagon Shop—range in price from $65,000 to $150,000. The Riverhouse apartments facing Island Park were converted to condos about eight years ago and currently sell for approximately $40,000 to $70,000.

The relatively few single-family homes are clustered on and near Broadway. They vary from small ranches that start at about $60,000 to large, stately homes in the Cedar Bend area that are priced in the $250,000 range. Median income is $25,000, $10,000 below the city's average.

Only 5 percent of the area's households have residents over the age of sixty. Sixty-seven percent are households of two or more people; 31 percent of the total households consist of people unrelated to each other. The Broadway Area Neighborhood Association president is Nancy Gooch. Schools are Northside Elementary, Clague Intermediate, and Huron High. The Broadway/Riverside area consistently votes Democratic.

8: NORTH CAMPUS

The area south of Plymouth Road and west of Huron Parkway is dominated by the U-M's North Campus, a mixture of classroom and research buildings, dormitories, and apartments and townhouses for married students.

PETER YATES

The "milk house" at 1324 Pontiac Trail in Northside (6).

The School of Music at the bottom of Baits Drive stands on a sand and gravel floodplain terrace created by meltwater streams that ran off part of the Defiance moraine to form a glacial lake. The area near Arbor Crest Cemetery is also sand and gravel, part of it from glacial meltwaters, some of it from the Huron River.

The Huron River Plaza apartments and high-rise Huron Towers on Fuller Road augment the U-M's Baits and Bursley housing and its married student housing on Cram Circle and McIntyre to create a veritable student ghetto. A whopping 97 percent of households in the North Campus neighborhood are renters. But the family housing gives this a very different demographic profile from the older student areas near campus. Here, 77 percent are family households, and 41 percent of the respondents have children.

Most of the few houses in the North Campus neighborhood were custom-built in the 1950s along Fuller Road and Glazier Way. They sell for anywhere from $150,000 to $400,000. The Orin White House, at 2940 Fuller Road across from Huron High, built in 1836, has a distinctive herringbone-patterned stone facade and is on the National Register of Historic Places.

North Campus children are bused to Angell, Logan, and Northside elementaries. Other schools are Clague Intermediate and Huron High. Median income in the North Campus neighborhood is $18,000. Like other student-dominated areas, North Campus precincts are solidly Democratic, but have low voter turnouts.

9: NORTHWOOD V/ VINTAGE VALLEY

The Northwood V/Vintage Valley neighborhood is appropriately named after its two main sources of residents. Northwood V, on Stone Drive just off Hubbard Road, is a large complex of townhouses for U-M married students. Nearby, just west of Green Road, the Vintage Valley subdivision is made up of expensive, custom-built, two-story homes ranging from about five to fifteen years old. Prices start at $225,000. In the same hilly, wooded area just north of Glazier Way, the Woodlands subdivision is now being built. Lots alone cost $100,000 to $125,000, and custom-built homes are selling for $350,000 and up. The newly constructed Oslund condominiums, located at the northeast corner of Glazier Way and Huron Parkway, sell for around $225,000.

Northwood residents considerably outnumber those in Vintage Valley (the neighborhood is 90 percent renters), which probably explains why this precinct votes Democratic—and why its median income is just $20,000. However, these adjoining areas do share an overwhelming emphasis on family; in the spring 1988 survey of thirty-one households in the neighborhood, the Northwood V/Vintage Valley neighborhood recorded the city's highest percentage of households with children—84 percent—and not one person was found to be living alone. Children living in Northwood V are bused to Northside Elementary; other neighborhood children attend King; Clague is the intermediate school, and Huron is the high school.

10: GLACIER HIGHLANDS/ GREENBRIER

The Glacier Highlands subdivision is set on the various terrace levels formed by the drainage of the Huron River along the eastern edge of Green Road south of Plymouth (near Glazier Way). The sandy and silty loam soils in the area, which are part of the Defiance moraine, support large stands of oak, hickory, and other hardwoods.

Moderately winding streets are bordered by the manicured lawns of ten- to fifteen-year-old single-family colonials that sell for $180,000 to $250,000. The Earhart Knolls homes, currently under construction off Glazier just west of Earhart, can cost as much as $300,000.

Further north, off Green Road, is the 500-unit Greenbrier apartment complex and the Greenbrier subdivision. Colonial, Cape Cod, and tri-level houses, twenty to twenty-three years old, line the treed streets. Greenbrier houses cost from $130,000 to $175,000.

The large number of renters in the Greenbrier and Woods of Earhart apartments (57 percent of the households) hold the median income level at $40,000 for this neighborhood. Despite the large number of renters, residents in this area vote solidly Republican. Second Ward councilwoman Ingrid Sheldon lives in the Glacier Highlands subdivision. Children attend King Elementary, Clague Intermediate, and Huron High. The Glacier Area Homeowners Association is headed by Connie Wesley.

11 & 12: EARHART/ CONCORDIA & GEDDES LAKE

Just south of Glazier Way on Ann Arbor's far eastern side are the heavily wooded Waldenwood subdivision and the Geddes Lakes Townhouses. Built on the hilly sand and gravel terraces that were shaped 13,000 years ago by glacial meltwater streams flowing off the Defiance moraine, these neighborhoods range from contemporary custom-built homes on big lots in natural settings to neatly landscaped townhouses and condominiums. They are built on land once owned largely by Concordia Lutheran College, which built its low, modern campus on Geddes Road in the early 1960s.

The Waldenwood homes are priced from $200,000 to $400,000 and range in age from new to fifteen years old. The Geddes Lake Co-op Townhouses, across Huron Parkway from Huron High and due west of Waldenwood, sell for $70,000 to $95,000.

East of Earhart Road are the Earhart Village Condominiums, built about eighteen years ago in varying floor plans, also in a wooded, hilly, and natural setting. Earhart Village condos are priced between $100,000 and $175,000.

Median income for the few households responding to the Household Survey in the Earhart/Concordia neighborhood is $60,000. In the Geddes Lake neighborhood small sample, the median income is $72,500—the fifth most affluent neighborhood in the city. Over 82 percent of the households in both areas own their homes. Not surprisingly, given the presence of the Glacier Hills retirement center, the area is 36 percent residents over age sixty, the third-highest percentage of seniors of any Ann Arbor neighborhood. Sixty-four percent of the Earhart/Concordia and 72 percent of the Geddes Lake households are families.

This is solidly Republican territory—residents haven't voted Democratic in local elections even once since the 1982 redistricting. Schools are King Elementary, Clague Intermediate and Huron High.

13: GEDDES/ARBORETUM

The area just south of the Huron River and east of the U-M's central and medical campuses is one of the half-dozen most affluent neighborhoods in the city, with a median income of $70,000. It sits above the river on the Defiance moraine, which can be traced as far south as the Ohio city for which it was named.

Once known for its oak and hickory forests, the Geddes/Arboretum area today is a mix of modern custom-built homes, large and stately older homes, and a few fraternity and sorority houses. Household survey information gathered so far shows 27 percent of households to be occupied by residents over sixty years of age; 67 seven percent own their homes, 60 percent are families, and 13 percent have children at home. Houses are priced anywhere from $150,000 to as much as $500,000 or more for the recently built contemporary homes on Riverview.

At the intersection of Geddes and Observatory, next to Nichols Arboretum, is the heavily wooded Forest Hill Cemetery. Elisha Rumsey, one of the city's founders, is buried here. Strollers are welcome. Also of note in the Geddes/Arboretum neighborhood is the Palmer house at 227 Orchard Hills Drive, which was designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, and the U-M's Inglis House at 2301 Highland, long used for visiting dignitaries and as a conference center.

Geddes is a swing precinct in the solidly Republican Second Ward. Schools are Angell Elementary, Tappan Intermediate, and Huron High.

from $150,000 with prices reaching as high as $400,000. The architecture is varied, and many of the houses sit in isolated splendor on one-third- to full-acre lots.

The area east of Huron Parkway includes large older single-family homes along Chalmers and across Huron River Drive from the Huron Hills Golf Course along Woodland Road. Near Huron River Drive and Hogback is the small Thornoaks subdivision, consisting of smaller, custom-built homes constructed in the 1950s and 1960s. Houses in Thornoaks are priced from $150,000 to $225,000. This area also includes one of the largest undeveloped parcels of land remaining within the Ann Arbor freeway ring. Plans to build single-family and congregate-care housing on over ninety acres here are currently on hold during a turf fight between the city and Ann Arbor Township over which will control the land once it's developed.

Over 91 percent of the residents here own their homes; 81 percent of all households are families, split between those with children living at home (33 percent) and those over sixty years of age (36 percent). With a median household income of $80,000, Bader/Ann Arbor Hills is one of the city's wealthiest neighborhoods—a little richer than the older Geddes/Arboretum area to the northeast, and not quite as rich as the Ives Woods area to the west. Residents of this area, the home of Second Ward councilwoman Terry Martin, consistently vote Republican.

The Tuomy Hills Area Homeowners Association is headed by John Sivertson. Schools are Angell, Burns Park, and King elementaries, Tappan and Clague intermediates, and Huron High.

15 & 16: IVES WOODS & BURNS PARK

An older, established neighborhood, Ives Woods is chiefly a single-family area, with 37 percent of its residents over sixty years of age, the second highest percentage of seniors in the city. Median income is $100,000—tied with the Newport area on the northwest side as the highest in Ann Arbor. Older homes nested within this neighborhood's tree-lined streets sell for from $225,000 to as much as $500,000.

Every one of the nineteen households responding to the city's 1988 survey were owner occupied. Seventy-nine percent were families; 47 percent had children. Schools are Burns Park Elementary, Tappan Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

Just west of Ives Woods, slightly more modest homes mark the boundary of the Burns Park neighborhood. Moderately expensive single-family homes favored by academics are

14: BADER/ANN ARBOR HILLS

This neighborhood includes the whole area west of US-23 and north of Washtenaw up to Geddes and Huron River Drive. Winding, heavily wooded streets characterize the western portion located just north and east of the Washtenaw-Stadium intersection, where the Ann Arbor Hills and Tuomy Hills subdivisions are situated. Tuomy Hills was named for the wealthy landowner Cornelius Tuomy, who also designed the rustic, Cotswold-style stone Amoco gas station where Washtenaw and Stadium intersect. Homes in the Bader/Ann Arbor Hills area, including Tuomy Hills, vary in age from five to sixty years old and are priced Forest Plaza Apartments at 715 S. Forest in South University (17).

found in the eastern half, with student rental property dominating the area west of Packard. The renter presence (53 percent) probably explains why what many in town think of as a posh faculty ghetto reports a below-average median household income of $33,000.

The neighborhood centers around Burns Park, which began in 1890 as the home of the Washtenaw County Agricultural and Horticultural Society's fairgrounds. At one time, horses and two-wheeled carriages raced around the half-mile track of the grounds as fans looked on from a grandstand located on the Wells Street side of the track. The grandstand was torn down in the 1920s to make way for today's city park and school. All that remains of the old fairground is the remodeled horse stables, the Burns Park Senior Citizens Center, now on the park's east side.

Houses in the Burns Park area range in price from $85,000 to $200,000. Approximately 39 percent of its households are families; 24 percent have children living at home. Only 12 percent of Burns Park residents are over age sixty.

While Ives Woods comprises one of the Third Ward's key swing precincts, Burns Park includes two solidly Democratic precincts, one each in the Third and Fourth wards. Burns Park is the home of both Third Ward council members, Democrats Jeff Epton and Liz Brater. The North Burns Park Association is headed by Doug VanHouweling. Schools are Burns Park Elementary, Tappan Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

17 & 18: SOUTH UNIVERSITY & CENTRAL CAMPUS/MEDICAL CAMPUS

A wide range of housing can be found in these student-dominated neighborhoods bordering the U-M's central and medical campuses. Generally, these are older neighborhoods, dating back to the late 1800s and early 1900s. In the 1960s, newer apartment buildings replaced numerous houses, before zoning restrictions effectively ended new construction near campus.

Houses in the South University area range from a few single-family, occupant-owned units (about 7 percent) to converted multi-family units. A few small single-family homes are priced from $85,000. Most houses remaining in this area, however, as in nearby Burns Park and Ann Arbor Hills, are old and large and priced from $175,000. Converted multi-family units clearly dominate the scene: 64 percent of all households are comprised of unrelated adults—the highest percentage in the city.

South University's median household income is $18,000—barely half the citywide average, but even so considerably inflated from the student norm by the presence of the nonstudents who own homes in the area. In the neighboring Central Campus/Medical Campus neighborhoods, which are also popular student areas but lack the leavening of home owners, the city's most recent survey of twelve households found a median annual household income of just $10,000, the lowest in the city. All the central and medical campus households surveyed rented, and they didn't include a single person over the age of sixty!

Because the eastern border of this neighborhood is the U-M Diag, it includes many notable university buildings: Hill Auditorium, the Michigan League, Rackham, Burton Tower, the Power Center, the Frieze Building (the old Ann Arbor High School), and the Natural Science Museums. The South University business district is in this neighborhood as well.

The few children in these neighborhoods (the household survey recorded no households with children in the central and medical campus area, and only 2 percent for the South University area) attend Burns Park and Angell elementaries, Tappan Intermediate, and both Huron and Pioneer high schools. The South University Neighborhood Group is headed by Robert Snyder.

19 & 20: OLD FOURTH WARD & NORTH CENTRAL

The Old Fourth Ward and North Central areas sit side-by-side on the southern slopes of the Huron River valley—the Old Fourth Ward to the east, between Glen and Division streets, and North Central running from there to the Ann Arbor railroad tracks just west of Main.

North Central doesn't appear much in city history, reflecting its lowly status as a working-class area dominated for generations by unglamorous businesses: a brewery, a slaughterhouse, and the junk, lumber, and coal yards that congregated along the Ann Arbor and Michigan Central railroads. Its housing was built up spottily in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, so that older clapboard houses converted into apartments sit side-by-side with tiny craftsman-style bungalows.

Up until the passage of Ann Arbor's open housing law in the 1960s, North Central was the heart of Ann Arbor's black residential area. In the 1950s and 1960s, the area was threatened first with demolition by urban renewal and then by massive dislocations to accommodate a proposed downtown bypass, and a number of buildings were demolished and never replaced. But more recently the neighborhood has undergone steady recovery, symbolized vividly by the brand new Wickliffe Place condos on Fifth Avenue just south of Wheeler Park. The condos, named in honor of longtime neighborhood leader Letty Wickliffe, sell for over $160,000—compared to $65,000 and up for older houses. Sixty-eight percent of the households in the last city survey rented, and 35 percent were comprised of single persons. Only 3 percent have children at home, and 11 percent are over age sixty.

Homes in the Old Fourth Ward vary greatly, from the 19th-century historic structures along North Division (including the 1860s Palmer-Laubengayer house at 205, the 1843 Wilson-Wahr house at 126, and the 1858 Wells-Babcock house at 208) to the small square, brick apartment buildings that replaced many older houses in the 1960s.

Today, over 96 percent of the households in the Old Fourth Ward are occupied by renters. More than half are made up of two or more unrelated adults; nearly all the rest are single persons. That highly unusual household composition (citywide, only 16 percent of the households are unrelated adults) and the area's low median income ($20,000), reveal the dominant impact of U-M students in the area. The median income of North Central residents is somewhat higher, at $27,000. Less than 3 percent of Old Fourth Ward households have children living at home.

Chris Crockett is the contact for the Old Fourth Ward Association. Letty Wickliffe heads the North Central Property Owners Association. A Republican party stalwart, Wickliffe's politics are very much the exception in this heavily Democratic neighborhood. Children in the Old Fourth Ward attend Haisley Elementary, and children in North Central attend Mack Elementary school. Children from both neighborhoods attend Slauson Intermediate and Pioneer High.

21 & 22: DOWNTOWN & SOUTH CENTRAL

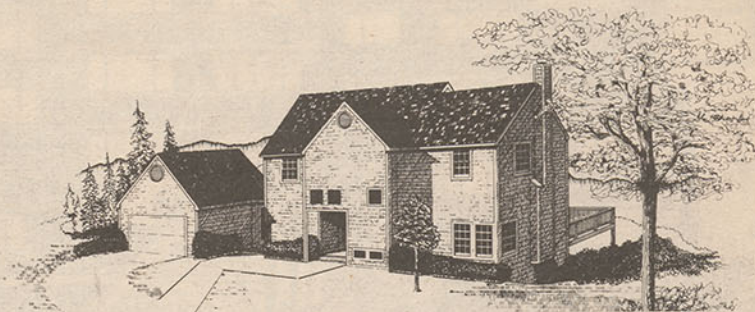

Most of the Downtown area lies on a plain between the Defiance and Fort Wayne moraines. When the Huron-Erie lobe of the Wisconsin glacier was in place 13,000 years ago, the Huron River was diverted to the west and flowed through the center of town toward Saline, leaving a flat lowland area in its path.

The first house in Ann Arbor, built in 1824 by one of the city's founders, Elisha Rumsey, was a small frame house located at the corner of Huron and First streets. It was just a couple of blocks away from his partner John Allen's property on the northwest corner of Main and Ann streets, on which the first log schoolhouse was constructed in September 1825. Both buildings, and most of the other original houses in the Downtown area, are gone—either torn down or moved to make room for commercial expansion. As a result, the housing stock has dwindled steadily. It's only in the last decade that rehabbers have begun to rescue a few of the long-vacant upstairs apartments in many downtown commercial buildings. In the last couple of years, they have been joined by a significant growth in owner-occupied housing, with construction of the new Sloan Plaza condos on Huron, the inclusion of several floors of housing in the new One North Main building, and the conversion of the Tower Plaza apartments to condos. Tower Plaza units are priced at $50,000 to $100,000, most Sloan Plaza condos at $175,000 to $185,000, and the condos on top of One North Main at an average of $235,000 to $250,000. One North Main's two-story penthouses may well be the most expensive housing in the city: Jim Anderson of the Reinhart Company estimates that he'd ask an incredible $750,000 for one unit.

Rental properties make up 89 percent of Downtown residences—a drop from 97 percent two years ago. Overall, 65 percent of the area's households are single persons—the highest percentage found among Ann Arbor neighborhoods—and not a single survey respondent in 1988 indicated having children at home.

In the South Central area, toward Hill Street, a bluff descends from the Downtown area to a valley that was once a tributary (now enclosed in a sewer) of the modern Huron River. South Central is largely student housing: 92 percent of all households rent, 47 percent are shared by unrelated adults, and just 6 percent of the neighborhood residents are over age sixty.

Median household income Downtown is $15,000 (surprising considering what the incomes of Sloan Plaza and One North Main residents must be!); median income in South Central is $17,000. Fewer than 5 percent of the households have children living at home. Houses, when they are available, start at $85,000.

Schools are Mack and Haisley elementaries, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High. Democrats are heavily favored by voters in these neighborhoods, which include portions of the First, Fourth and Fifth wards.

23: ALLMENDINGER

This neighborhood is bounded on the east and west by Main and Seventh streets, and on the north and south by Pauline and Stadium. Although a few houses date to the 1920s and 1930s, most were built after World War II. Single-family bungalows, small ranches, and a few story-and-a-halfs in the area range from $65,000 to $125,000. Sixty-seven percent of the area's households own their own homes; 57 percent are occupied by families; 24 percent have children at home.

The Plank House at 1034 South Main was built in the late 1800s as the gatehouse for collecting tolls from travelers using the privately owned Plank Road, which ran from Saline all the way up to Main and Packard streets. In 1890, not long after the Ann Arbor Railroad was completed covering much of the same route, the Ann Arbor and Lodi Plank Road Company went broke. In 1902 the company's assets were auctioned off, and the gatehouse was bought for a few hundred dollars and moved back from the road to its present site.

Median income is $38,500 and the area is solidly Republican. Schools are Mack Elementary, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

24: OLD WEST SIDE

The Old West Side, much written about in city histories, has the distinction of being placed on the National Register of Historic Places, not just for its architecture, but for its overall historic character. A few of its houses are over 125 years old, and can be seen in photographs taken in the mid 1800s.

Part of the charm and character of the Old West Side is the mix of people—students, professionals, families, faculty, and senior citizens—who live comfortably here in modest houses built by early German settlers, as well as in some newer two-story colonial and custom-built houses and scattered apartment buildings. Prices run anywhere from $80,000 to $165,000. Owner-rental households are evenly split (the 207-unit Nob Hill apartment complex is in this neighborhood). Family households make up 43 percent of the total, and 19 percent have children at home. Thirty-four percent are households consisting of one person. Median income is $30,000, slightly below the citywide median of $35,000.

Wurster Park, between Madison and West

Davis, is the site of one of the oldest trees in Ann Arbor: a 300-year-old chinkapin oak that sits on one of its upper slopes. Nearby, at Third and Mosley, is a battered but still immense bur oak that can clearly be seen in photos taken from the old courthouse early in the century.

Development in this neighborhood is always a hot issue. Plans have abounded for the property at the northeast corner of First and William, but none have been able to withstand the intense scrutiny of neighborhood residents and the Planning Department. This space remains a city parking lot while awaiting its fate. The Argus Building at Fourth Street and William, recently renovated by the First Martin Corporation, along with the Michigan Media building on Fourth and the GT Products factory on First Street, are reminders of the old and new industrial influence in this neighborhood.

Political precincts in the Old West Side consistently vote Democratic in local elections—though new Fifth Ward Republican councilman Tom Richardson lives here. The Old West Side Association is headed by Amy Ticknor. Schools are Eberwhite and Mack elementaries, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

25: WEST PARK/MILLER

Nearly two-thirds of households in the West Park/Miller area rent. The remainder own small frame houses that sell for around $65,000 to $85,000. Houses range in age from new to ninety years old; most, however, were built in the 1940s and 1950s.

In this area, Miller Road starts its ascent onto the Fort Wayne moraine. This hilly terrain is dominated by West Park, first established in 1910. Its band shell is the site of many outdoor concerts during summer months. Allen Creek once cut through a post-glacial ravine in the park on its way east toward the Ann Arbor Railroad. Since natural springs were common to the area, bath houses were popular; one of them, the Mineral Springs House, prompted the name of Bath Street, off Seventh near Huron.

Forty-seven percent of the area's households are occupied by families, and 26 percent have children at home. Thanks in part to the presence of Miller Manor, the city-owned senior citizens apartment building that towers over the northern edge of West Park, nearly 30 percent of the residents are over age sixty. Median income is $30,000.

Until the city passed a fair housing ordinance in the 1960s, most of Ann Arbor's black population was concentrated in the Miller area and in the adjoining North Central neighborhood across the Ann Arbor Railroad tracks. Always racially heterogeneous, in recent years the Miller area has become more economically varied, as young professionals and families found they liked the neighborhood's American small-town look and neighborly sociability.

This heavily Democratic neighborhood includes precincts in Wards One and Five. Schools are Mack Elementary, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

26: MACK SCHOOL/SUNSET

Houses come in all sizes and shapes in this immensely varied neighborhood, from the big 19th- and early-20th-century houses on Miller to modest ranches on Sunset starting at $60,000 to secluded, custom-built contemporary houses north of Sunset that cost $150,000 to $200,000 and up.

Located at Spring Street and Sunset is Hunt Park, which offers a splendid view of the downtown area. Another notable landmark is the city's water treatment plant that sits high up on a hill on the south side of Sunset near Newport Road. Water from the Huron River is pumped from Barton Pond to the plant, where it is treated and pumped to Ann Arbor residents—who are well known for being picky about the taste of their drinking water. On the far eastern edge of the neighborhood is the North Main corridor—a fascinating old industrial district now being scrutinized for redevelopment.

PATRICIA HARVEY

Fountain Street in West Park/Miller (25).

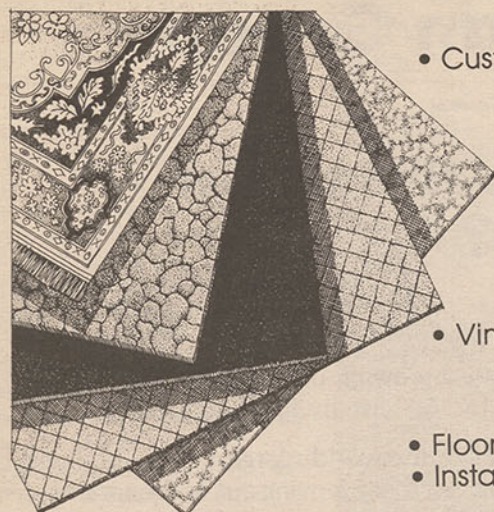

Mack School/Sunset is 77 percent owner-occupied households; nearly 62 percent are families; 28 percent have children at home. Median income is $40,000. Neighborhood organizations are the Greater Sunset/Brooks Area Association, headed by former Democratic city councilwoman Susan Greenberg, and the Sunset Hills Association, headed by Myung Raymond. The area votes solidly Democratic. Schools are Mack and Wines elementaries, Forsythe and Slauson intermediates, and Pioneer High.

in an almost rural setting. Developed on former farmlands, these affluent subdivisions are dominated by family-minded professionals and business executives. Only fifteen responses to the household survey were received from the Newport neighborhood, but of those, the median income was an incredible $100,000—tied for first place with Ives Woods.

The Newport West Condominiums, off Newport between Sunset and Bird Road, are priced at $120,000 to $160,000. Further down Newport Road, near the Huron River, is the posh River Ridge subdivision, where one-of-a-kind homes sit back off winding streets, divided by pockets and lines of trees. River Ridge homes are priced around $200,000, with some in excess of $300,000. In the Maple-Newport corner of the neighborhood, in a secluded and wooded environment (along and off Blueberry Lane), are large custom-built homes on big hilly lots priced at $250,000 and up.

All of the households sampled in the Newport area own their residences; 86 percent of them are families; 43 percent have children at home. Twenty percent are over age sixty.

Newport is located in one of the many swing precincts of the Fifth Ward. Schools are Wines Elementary, Forsythe Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

28 & 29: GARDEN HOMES/ CRESCENT & HAISLEY/ VETERANS PARK

These neighborhoods, in the Miller, Jackson, and Stadium/Maple area, are dominated by moderately priced ranches, Cape Cods, and small colonials. Some are less than five years old; others have been around for half a century.

The Garden Homes area offers bi-level and ranch houses on both tree-lined and open streets in the $65,000 to $125,000 price range. A neighboring subdivision, Martin Acres, within the Hatcher-Saunders Crescent loop, has ranches and tri-levels for $75,000 to $110,000.

Home owners constitute 81 percent of this neighborhood's households; families make up 67 percent, with 36 percent having children and 27 percent occupied by seniors. Median income is $44,000. Schools for the Garden homes neighborhood are Wines Elementary, Forsythe Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

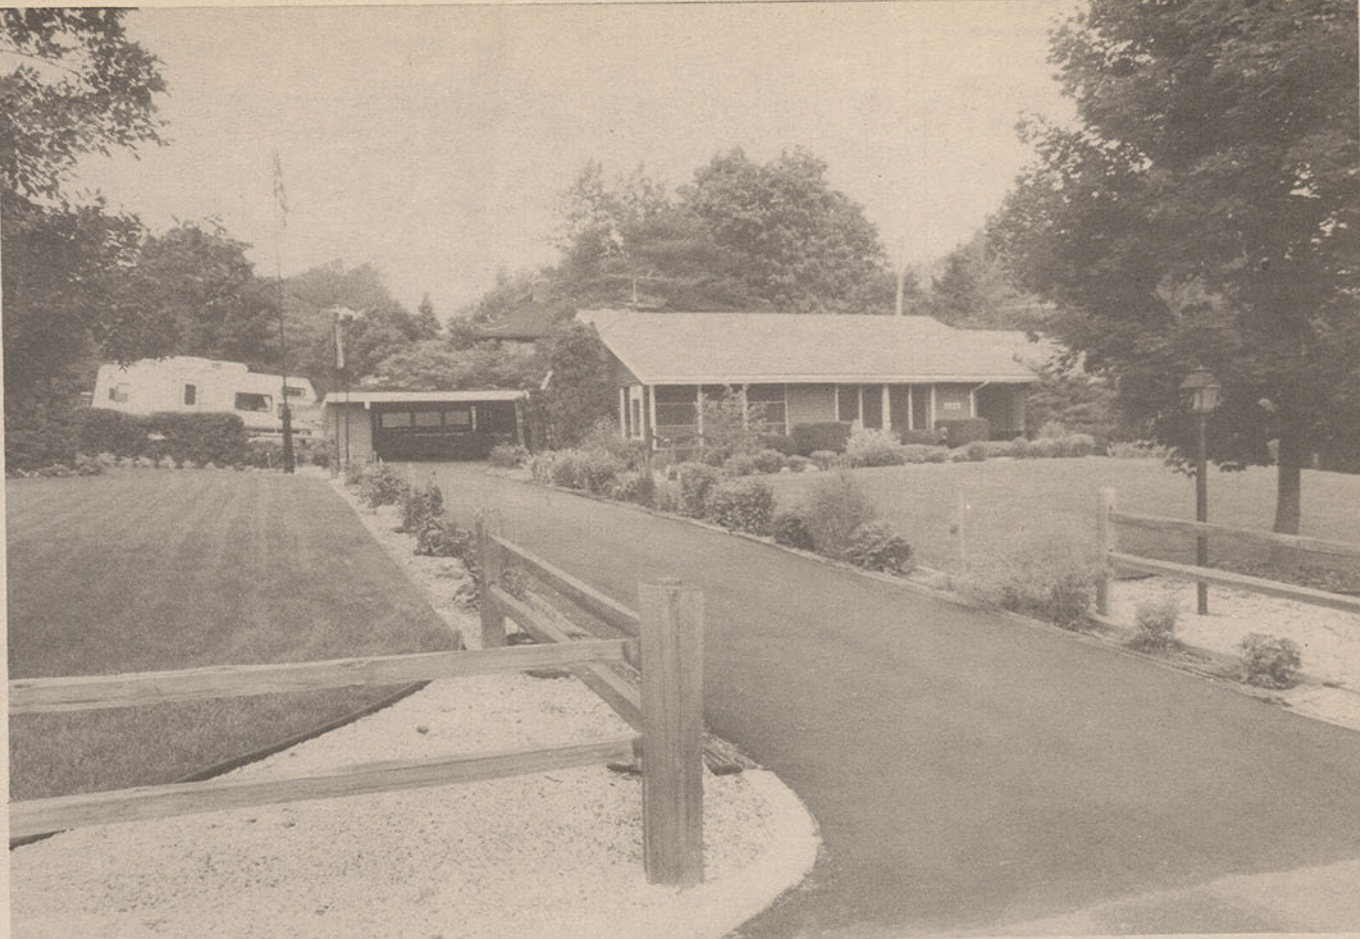

The Haisley area ranches, like Garden Homes, run between $70,000 and $110,000. In the nearby Wildwood area between Dexter and Miller roads, two-story traditional houses sell for $90,000 to $150,000. Seventy-nine percent of the Haisley/Veterans Park homes are owner-occupied; 75 percent are family households; and 38 percent have children. Twenty-two percent are occupied by people over age sixty. Median income here is $40,000, a bit above the city's average.

Haisley is a politically diverse area that includes a solidly Democratic precinct east of Ravena, two swing precincts, and part of a third swing precinct. Garden Homes/Crescent is the city's quintessential swing precinct. It has supported every council and mayoral winner since the 1982 redistricting—voting in the process for seven Democrats and four Republicans.

Schools are Haisley and Mack elementaries, Slauson and Forsythe intermediates, and Pioneer High. The Allen Creek Neighborhood Association is headed by Thomas Egerer; the Wildwood Park Neighborhood is headed by Pat Ryan.

30 & 31: VIRGINIA PARK & WINEWOOD/THALER

Between Jackson and Liberty from Crest Street west to Stadium, homes go from old to relatively new in a fairly steady progression. The transformation, of course, recapitulates the west side's gradual expansion away from the downtown core. Virginia Park is the eastern and older section, running from Crest to Glendale; Winewood/Thaler continues west from there to Stadium Boulevard, where its western edge is lined with small commercial buildings.

The Virginia Park area has a lot of two-family duplexes, particularly on Bemidji Street. Most were built in the 1960s and sell for about $120,000 to $150,000. The newly constructed duplexes at the south end of Glendale start at $160,000. There are also older single-family homes and Cape Cods in this area that are priced from $90,000 to $135,000.

Seventy-six percent of Virginia Park are home-owner households; 63 percent are families, and 40 percent have children at home. The median income is $50,000.

In the city's latest survey, 71 percent of Winewood/Thaler's households rented. The 75-unit Charlton and 120-unit Westwood apartment complexes are in this neighborhood, and many of the smaller houses in the neighborhood are also rented out. Thirty-eight percent are single-person households, and 44 percent are family households. Twenty-one percent are households of residents over the age of sixty. The Winewood/Thaler starter homes, ranches, and Cape Cods, along with its small number of duplexes, sell for $80,000 to $100,000.

Both of these Fifth Ward areas are located in a swing precinct. Schools are Eberwhite Elementary, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

32: EBERWHITE WOODS

Named for Eber White, an early farmer who helped fugitive slaves escape to Canada, Eberwhite Woods is one of the loveliest neighborhoods on the west side of town. It's made up of several small subdivisions, along with rental property in the Pauline-Arbordale-Northwood area. Like Virginia Park, its western border along Stadium Boulevard is lined with a commercial strip that includes what is perhaps the ugliest building in Ann Arbor—the turreted pink castle at the corner of Liberty and Stadium. Originally a supermarket, it acquired its bizarre shape during a brief incarnation as a Roma Hall banquet facility. Then it was home to Chuck E. Cheese's, and now it houses a video store and Murray's Discount Auto.

Most of the houses in this area were built between 1915 and 1935. Rolling tree-lined streets are showcases for a variety of two-story traditional houses. The smaller houses, which are rarely available, are priced around $80,000; larger ones sell for $175,000. Dover Parkside, a subdivision along Dartmoor Street built in the 1960s, has houses priced in the $125,000 to $200,000 range.

Seventy-four percent of the Eberwhite Woods households are home owners; 64 percent are families, and 33 percent have children. Seniors live in 34 percent of the surveyed households. Median income is $40,500—unchanged from the survey two years ago, but still above the city's average.

The Dover-Parkside Subdivision Committee is headed by Anna Snitzer. Votes split regularly in the two Fifth Ward precincts that the neighborhood is part of; the fifth precinct (north of Madison) always votes Democratic, while the sixth precinct always votes Republican. Schools are Eberwhite Elementary, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

33 & 34: PAULINE/ STADIUM & DICKEN

This flat area was farmed up into the early part of this century. It is composed of glacial till (a mixture of sand, clay, gravel, and boulders) commonly found at the base of the Fort Wayne moraine. Today, the area is dotted with heavily landscaped subdivisions and a sprinkling of wooded areas near Pioneer High School.

Most of the houses in the Pauline/Stadium neighborhood were built in the 1950s and 1960s. Ranches sell for $90,000 to $130,000 and colonials in the Meadowbrook Street vicinity cost $150,000 to $175,000. The Wilson White Company owns two apartment complexes in this neighborhood—the Stadium Apartments and Van Dusen Manor.

Families constitute 68 percent of the Pauline/Stadium households, with 26 percent having children. Sixty-three percent are home-owner households; the median income is $33,000—almost at the city's average of $35,000. Schools for the Pauline/Stadium neighborhood are Eberwhite Elementary, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

Across Stadium to the southwest, in the family-oriented Dicken/Vernon Downs area, 93 percent of the residents own their homes; 77 percent of households are families, and 34 percent have children. There are a good number of seniors in this neighborhood, in 34 percent of the households surveyed.

Houses vary from the twenty-five-year-old ranches like those on Norfolk and Suffolk to the spacious ranches and two-story colonials in the Barnard Heights subdivision near Dicken School. The smaller ranches start at $75,000, and the larger homes sell for between $80,000 and $200,000. Median income is $50,000 in the Dicken neighborhood, considerably higher than in Pauline/Stadium. Both are solidly Republican areas divided between the Fourth and Fifth wards. Schools are Dicken and Lawton elementaries, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

35: SOUTH MAPLE

Located on the city's far west side, just east of I-94, this area is dominated by condominiums and apartment complexes. The neighborhood's north end has small commercial businesses, several small manufacturing firms, and the Westgate shopping center at its northern tip.

Most of South Maple's housing is concentrated in a dense cluster of complexes around the intersection of Pauline and Maple. Walden Hills has both rental apartments and apartments that have been converted to condominiums, north of Pauline. Across the road, a newer complex of contemporary condominiums on Pauline Court is set back behind a berm that makes the units barely visible from the road. The condo conversions sell for $45,000 to $65,000, and the Pauline Court condos sell for $120,000 to $150,000. Also off Pauline are the Park Place and adjacent Hillcrest apartments. Across South Maple, from the east, are the new Surrey Park apartments, the Pinelake Village Co-ops, and the South Maple public housing project.

Eighty percent of the South Maple residents are renters, and 39 percent of the households are single-person occupied. Median income for this neighborhood is $28,500. This area is in the Fifth Ward, with South Maple Road serving as the dividing line between a heavily Republican precinct to the east and a heavily Democratic precinct to the west. Elementary school children in Pinelake Village are bused to Lawton

Near Dolph Park in Lakewood (36).

36: LAKEWOOD

This westernmost subdivision of Ann Arbor is bounded by I-94, Liberty Road, and Wagner Road. Near the Fort Wayne moraine, in what is known as a kettle hole (a depression left behind when buried blocks of glacial ice melt), the Lakewood neighborhood has a unique blend of residents—both professional and blue-collar workers.

Bethlehem Cemetery, off Jackson Road just west of I-94, is within walking distance of Lakewood and is a favorite location for bird-watchers and nature lovers. Dolph Park and the nearby Sister Lakes are areas where there has been considerable concern over the effect of dioxane groundwater contamination from Gelman Sciences, Inc., across Wagner Road.

Older colonials and newer custom-built tri-levels and ranches (some built in the 1920s) border wooded areas near the Sister Lakes. The homes are priced in the $125,000 to $150,000 range. Smaller ranches that went up in the 1940s, 1950s, and 1960s start at $75,000. Of the area's twenty household survey responses, 90 percent own their homes; 95 percent are families, and 45 percent have children. Median income is $54,000, up significantly from $45,000 two years ago.

Lakewood is a predominantly Republican Fifth Ward precinct that occasionally supports Democrats. The Sister Lakes Association is headed by U-M astronomer Richard L. Sears. Schools are Dicken Elementary, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

37: LANSDOWNE

The terrain in the Lansdowne neighborhood is slightly rolling. The gentle relief is most visible in the vast open areas around Pioneer High between Stadium Boulevard and Scio Church Road. Like many other areas of Ann Arbor, it sits on glacial till of sand, clay, and rocks.

The Lansdowne subdivision surrounds South Seventh Street south of Scio Church Road. Its meticulously kept lawns and large, modern homes make it Ann Arbor's model of a classic suburb. Some newer streets still have the characteristic openness of a new suburb, but others are already lined with mature trees. Some streets wind around Lans Lake, where residents can swim, canoe, or sail. Houses are generally about twenty years old (a few are newer) and vary from ranches, colonials, and tri-levels to traditionals. Prices range from $160,000 to $250,000.

Churchill Downs subdivision is west of Lansdowne and is made up of slightly newer and less expensive single-family ranch, colonial, and tri-level houses in the $125,000 to $175,000 price range. Like Lansdowne, it is popular with families.

The Meadowbrook Village apartments and Meadowbrook subdivision, built in the last three years, are located on the west side of Ann Arbor-Saline Road just north of I-94. The houses are single-family bi-levels and ranches priced from $100,000 to $125,000. The Meadowbrook apartments feature unusual floor plans designed for unrelated people who live together: in two-bedroom units, both bedrooms have adjoining baths, and they sit at opposite ends of the apartment with common living areas in between.

Although Ann Arbor is disproportionately single and childless, a whopping 88 percent of the households here are families, and 55 percent have children at home. Median household income is $20,000 above the city average, at $55,000. Republicans refer to these Fourth Ward neighborhoods as their "home run" precincts, regularly producing the biggest voter turnouts in the city. The Lawton Homeowners Association is headed by Jerry Brown. Schools are Lawton Elementary, Slauson Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

38 & 39: HIDDEN VALLEY & BOARDWALK

These neighborhoods, just north and east of Briarwood, have only a smattering of houses. The Hidden Valley neighborhood has a few houses off Main Street—on Valhalla near Scio Church and on Golfview past Ann Arbor-Saline Road. South of Stadium between Main and State streets is the U-M Golf Course.

State Street between Stadium and Eisenhower is dotted with a diversity of businesses with an occasional house in between, ending with the 324-unit Hidden Valley apartment complex down toward Eisenhower. Back-to-back with Hidden Valley, off South Main, is the 108-unit Burlington Woods rental complex.

With so few houses in the Hidden Valley neighborhood, it's not surprising that the city's 24 survey responses for this area show that 96 percent of the households are renters, 50 percent are single-person households, and not a single household surveyed had children. Median income is $30,000. Schools for this area are Bryant (K-3) and Pattengill (4-6) elementaries, Tappan Intermediate, and Pioneer High. Hidden Valley lies in the Fourth Ward's huge eighth precinct, a Democratic stronghold whose voting population is concentrated north of Stadium.

The Boardwalk neighborhood, directly east of the Hidden Valley area, is almost entirely commercial and industrial development. The north border is the two-block long Stimson Street that runs alongside the Holsum Bakery at South Industrial. From Stimson down, both South Industrial and State Street are lined with small businesses and manufacturing firms, car dealerships, and the AATA offices (on S. Industrial). On the corner of State and Eisenhower is 777 Eisenhower Plaza, a tall, square building with a tan facade, built by Bechtel and now owned by Eric Yale Lutz (who also owns the Berkshire Hilton at Briarwood). Lutz plans another office building, as well as a conference center, on the land to the east and north of 777 Eisenhower.

40 & 51: CRANBROOK & BRIARWOOD

These neighboring areas were once dense woods and open fields, but now comprise what former city councilman Seth Hirshorn called "Briarland"—a veritable profusion of commercial, office, and residential development that has sprawled out from Briarwood Mall since its completion in 1974. Along the northern side of Briarwood, the strip of land between Eisenhower and Briarwood Circle is speckled with Bennigan's Restaurant, the large office building occupied by Allen Bradley, the Williamsburg Square office buildings, a couple of banks, and a small insurance company building, all of which have appeared in the last five years. The Concord Center and Burlington I and II sit across Eisenhower as testament to southside growth as well.

Farther west, the area along Eisenhower between Main Street and Ann Arbor-Saline Road is being developed at an incredible rate. A half-dozen new medium-sized office buildings have gone up along this stretch, and are now being augmented by new commercial developments.

In the 1986 household survey, the Cranbrook senior citizens' tower was the only housing in this area. As a result, it recorded a median income of just $7,500. But since February of 1987 about 200 apartments and townhouses in Woodland Meadows, located at the corner of Main Street and Ann Arbor-Saline Road, came on the rental market with the highest rents of any Ann Arbor apartment complex. The median income mushroomed from the 1986 figure of $7,500 to an astounding $50,000 in 1988. Seniors, who comprised 100 percent of the residents in 1986, dropped to 45 percent—still, however, the highest concentration of people over age sixty in Ann Arbor.

One hundred percent of the households responding to the city's survey were renters in both 1986 and 1988. The percentage of single-person households dropped dramatically from 100 to 52 percent from 1986 to 1988; currently 10 percent have children. Like Hidden Valley (above), these areas are located in a Fourth Ward precinct whose character is determined largely by the pool of Democratic voters north of Stadium. Schools for this area are Bryant/Pattengill and Lawton elementaries, Slauson and Tappan intermediates, and Pioneer High.

41: WOODBURY GARDENS/ROSEWOOD/JEWETT

Moderately priced houses built in the 1940s and 1950s are mixed here with modern apartments. The Woodbury Gardens complex features a clubhouse and one-, two-, and three-bedroom apartments and townhouses. The complex takes its name from the U-M Botanical Gardens, which were located in the Stadium/Iroquois area from 1915 until their move to Dixboro Road in 1959.

This area's western border along South Industrial is home to numerous small commercial and industrial businesses that spill over onto the western portions of Rosewood and Jewett streets. More small commercial businesses dot Packard Road from Stadium Boulevard to Marlborough Street, including the Big Ten Party Store with its hard-to-find party items.

Along the eastern ends of the tree-lined Jewett and Rosewood streets there are single-family ranches and small Cape Cods that sell for $60,000 to $90,000.

Sixty-six percent of households rent; 29 percent are single-person households; 53 percent are families; and 30 percent have children at home. Median household income rose from $25,000 in 1986 to $37,000 in 1988.

The Woodbury Gardens/Jewett/Rosewood neighborhood is located in the Republican Fourth Ward's only swing precinct. Schools are Bryant/Pattengill and Burns Park elementaries, Tappan Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

42: GEORGETOWN/PINE VALLEY

These two subdivisions are southwest of Packard Road and stretch across Eisenhower Parkway all the way to I-94. They rest on one of the outwash channels (sandy-gravelly areas in front of a glacier created by melting water) formed during the last glaciation 13,000 years ago.

The Georgetown area is located southwest of the Georgetown shopping center along Packard Road; Pine Valley is just north and directly behind it, although the two areas overlap. Single-family houses in these areas are a mix of tri-levels, ranches, colonials, and Cape Cods. The Georgetown homes, somewhat larger, sell for $120,000 to $170,000; the Pine Valley homes are priced from $110,000 to $150,000. The 164-unit Pine Valley apartments and townhouses and the 168-unit Spruce Knob apartments are also located in this neighborhood.

Sixty-five percent of these households are owner-occupied; 63 percent are families; and 40 percent have children at home. Twenty percent of the residents are over age sixty. Median household income is $40,000.

Both Georgetown and Pine Valley subdivisions have treed and winding streets. Georgetown has the advantage of a public golf course, a private pool, and a tennis court, and is second only to Lansdowne as a Republican stronghold. Councilman Jerry Schleicher lives in Georgetown, and councilman Mark Ouimet lives in Pine Valley. The Georgetown Homeowners Association is headed by Phil Roddy. Schools are Bryant/Pattengill elementaries, Tappan Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

43 & 44: PATTENGILL/ST. FRANCIS & KIMBERLY HILLS

Southeast of the Packard-Stadium area are a number of neighborhoods built shortly after World War II and on into the 1950s and 1960s, on what was once prime farmland. Of note is an 1840s Greek revival-style farmhouse at 2301 Packard, which looks like the twin of the city's historic Kempf House on Division at Liberty.

The Pattengill/St. Francis neighborhood is largely made up of the Arbor Hills apartments and the Ann Arbor Woods apartments and subdivision, with small businesses dotting the periphery along Stadium and Packard (including an over thirty-year-old Dairy Queen). The older and smaller bi-level and ranch houses in this area start at $90,000, with newly constructed houses selling for as much as $250,000. The Nature Cove condominiums at the end of St. Francis Street are just a few years old and sell for $125,000 to $175,000.

The number of renters in Pattengill/St. Francis dropped from 60 percent in 1986 to 46 percent in 1988, perhaps due to the increase in large houses and condos in this neighborhood. The percentage of families dropped from 49 to 39 percent, singles increased from 41 to 45 percent, and the number of seniors also dropped from 35 to 31 percent. Median household income is $35,000, the same as the citywide median.

In Kimberly Hills, 95 percent of the households own their residences. Fully 80 percent of the households are families, and 37 percent have children at home. Retirees represent 21 percent of the residents. New and old houses of varying architecture occupy tree-lined streets. Older homes are in the $150,000 to $200,000 price range. The newer houses are in an area along Gladstone and run about $200,000 to $250,000. A 134-unit upscale apartment complex, the Ponds of Georgetown, is going up across Packard Road from the Georgetown Mall. They will have front and rear outside entrances, patios, washers and dryers in each unit, fireplaces in some units, and other amenities, and are scheduled to begin leasing by fall of 1988.

Median household income is well above the city's average, at $60,000. Both of these neighborhoods are located in Republican areas of the Third Ward—though Kimberly Hills has been known to support popular Democrats. Ron McCready is the contact person for the Kimberly Hills Association. Schools are Bryant/Pattengill elementaries, Tappan Intermediate, and Pioneer High, except that children living on Manchester and Colony attend Allen Elementary and Huron High.

45: ALLEN SCHOOL/BUHR PARK

This neighborhood is bounded by Packard on the south, Platt Road and Huron Parkway on the east, Washtenaw to the north, and Manchester to the west, and is the home of Buhr Park and Cobblestone Farm. Cobblestone Farm is one of the oldest houses in Ann Arbor, fully restored to its 19th-century pioneer simplicity, and now a museum, workshop, and festival space for midwest Americana. One of the few cobblestone houses in the area, it was built in 1844 by Benajah Ticknor. When the 183-acre farm was broken up, part of it went to housing developments, and a large part of it was sold to the city in 1972 to form Buhr Park.

terrain, range from tiny brick-trimmed frame ranches built after World War II ($60,000 to $85,000) to large colonials and tri-levels built in the 1960s that can sell for as much as $160,000.

The long open space along Washtenaw between Manchester and Platt is County Farm Park. Further east along Washtenaw, this neighborhood has a handful of commercial businesses with an adjacent cluster of office buildings in the Professional Drive area off Huron Parkway that contain numerous medical offices. The juvenile court and Ann Arbor's only roller skating rink are on Platt Road.

In this area, 76 percent of the households own their residences. Sixty-five percent of the households are families; 26 percent have children at home; 27 percent are senior households. Median household income rose from $35,000 to $42,000 between 1986 and 1988.

The Allen School/Buhr Park neighborhood lies in the Third Ward and includes the seventh and part of the sixth precinct, both of which usually vote Republican. Schools are Allen Elementary, Tappan Intermediate, and Huron High.

46: FORESTBROOKE/ PITTSFIELD VILLAGE

This neighborhood is bordered by Huron Parkway/Platt and Packard roads, and Washtenaw and US-23, and is a heavily settled area. The northern Washtenaw Avenue border is packed with commercial businesses.

The two-, three-, and four-bedroom townhouses along and off of Pittsfield Boulevard were built in 1943 during World War II as low-cost housing, and used to be considered a good location for young families. McKinley Properties took over the 422-unit complex a couple years ago and fixed up the aging units, as well as raising rents considerably. Its new name, Village Townhomes, reflects the new, more polished image of the complex.

West of Pittsfield on the streets between Platt and Parkwood is the Darlington subdivision. Small starter homes (Cape Cods, ranches, colonials), some of them fifty years old, sell in the $50,000 to $80,000 range. Forestbrooke, the 27-year-old area east of Pittsfield, has a mixture of ranches, colonials, Cape Cods, and tri-levels going for $90,000 to $140,000. There is a neighborhood pool.

Fifty-two percent of the residences in this area are owner-occupied. Families make up 70 percent of the households; 39 percent in the latest survey reported having children at home—a notable drop from 53 percent two years ago. Nearly 25 percent of the households are over age sixty. In 1986 the median income was at the city's average, but in the 1988 survey, median income was slightly below average at $31,500. The Pittsfield area includes two Third Ward swing precincts. Schools are Pittsfield Elementary, Scarlett Intermediate, and Huron High.

47 & 48: BROWN PARK & SCARLETT/MITCHELL

Young families find this area on the far southeast side of town appealing; the prices are right, and shopping and schools are nearby. Small three-bedroom ranches in both areas, built in the 1950s and 1960s, range in price from $50,000 to $75,000. A few two-story colonials, built in the 1960s in the Scarlett/Mitchell area, cost between $85,000 and $150,000.

The Brown Park area has a higher percentage of renters (61 percent) than the Scarlett/Mitchell area (43 percent). The difference is the 281-unit Mill Creek Townhouses on Birch Hollow east of Stone School Road, and the 112-unit Homestead Commons apartments off Packard Road near Eisenhower.

In the Scarlett/Mitchell area, the Colonial Square Cooperative, on Wolverine and Williamsburg off Platt Road, offers rental townhouse units that are shared by both professionals and blue-collar workers. Colonial Square has a higher initial member buy-in fee than most other co-ops in town, but also has the lowest rents. The close-knit co-op of one- and two-bedroom townhouses traditionally has a long waiting list.

In the Scarlett/Mitchell area, 75 percent of the households are families; 49 percent have children at home. In Brown Park, 61 percent are families, and 28 percent have children at home. About 20 percent of the residents in both areas are over sixty. Median household income is below the citywide average: $32,500 for the Brown Park neighborhood and $27,600 for the Scarlett/Mitchell neighborhood.

Brown Park always votes Democratic, while Scarlett/Mitchell is a predominantly Democratic area that occasionally supports Republicans. The Colonial Square Cooperative is headed by Sherry Bell; the Scarlett-Mitchell Woods Association is headed by Manfred and Judy Schmidt. Schools are Mitchell Elementary, Scarlett Intermediate, and Huron High for children in the Scarlett/Mitchell neighborhood. Children in the Brown Park neighborhood attend Bryant/Pattengill and Mitchell elementaries, Tappan Intermediate, and Huron High schools. (Children in the public housing on Hikone are bused to Angell Elementary.)

49: BRYANT

The Bryant neighborhood, just off Ellsworth and Stone School roads, is built on open and slightly rolling terrain, with young trees taking hold on many of the streets. The neighborhood is almost entirely made up of the Arbor Oaks subdivision along Champagne off Stone School Road (also known as Stonybrook), and the Forest Hills and University Townhouses co-ops that sit north of Ellsworth Road between Stone School and Platt roads. All three developments were built in the late 1960s and early 1970s as federally supported low-cost housing, part of the federal government's HUD housing projects. Arbor Oaks houses are small two- and three-bedroom ranches, most without basements, that sell for $35,000 to $50,000, making them the least expensive single-family homes in the city. Median household income is low at $24,500.

Seventy-six percent of Bryant households are occupied by families. The second-highest concentration of children is found here, with 68 percent of the surveyed households reporting they have children.

Bryant Community Center, located at 3 West Eden Court, provides a popular cultural base for the black community. The neighborhood is heavily Democratic. Schools are Bryant/Pattengill elementaries (Braeburn Circle children are bused to Allen Elementary), Tappan Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

50: RESEARCH PARK/ PHEASANT RUN

The Research Park/Pheasant Run neighborhood lies across Stone School Road from the Bryant neighborhood. It is an intensely commercial and research-oriented area, with a single residential complex—the 472-unit Pheasant Run apartments just south of I-94—comprising 100 percent of the neighborhood's residents. Occupants are generally singles (54 percent live alone) or others who share units; only 4 percent of the households have children at home. Median income is $30,000.

The western area of the Research Park/Pheasant Run neighborhood is dominated by small businesses and high-tech industries along Ellsworth Road, on Varsity Drive off Ellsworth, in Research Park in the northeast corner of Ellsworth and State roads, and along State Road between Ellsworth and I-94.

This Fourth Ward area always votes Republican. The few children at Pheasant Run attend Bryant/Pattengill elementaries, Tappan Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

51: BRIARWOOD (SEE 40)

52: ABBOT SCHOOL

This neighborhood lies on the far west side of town in the vee-shaped area formed where M-14 and I-94 converge, with Maple Road as its eastern edge. It includes the Maple Village shopping center, the CMHC Maple Medical/Urgent Care building at Dexter and Maple, older homes south of Dexter Road, and the Hollywood Park subdivision north of Dexter Road.

In Hollywood Park, off Maple along Hollywood and Sequoia Parkway, most of the houses are single-family, two-story colonials, Cape Cods, ranches, and tri-levels, costing between $85,000 and $150,000. Farther west, out Dexter Road, houses come in a variety of ages and styles, and range from $75,000 to $125,000.

The Abbot School neighborhood is largely families—88 percent by recent survey; 49 percent of them have children at home. Median household income is $47,500. This neighborhood is one of the Fifth Ward's solidly Republican strongholds. Schools are Abbot Elementary, Forsythe Intermediate, and Pioneer High.

Apartment Guide

Rents and amenities at 90 apartment complexes in Ann Arbor. Listed geographically. Go Like the Wind!™ School

Ages 3-12: Preschool and Elementary

Montessori schooling with a computer emphasis frees your child to Go Like the Wind!

The New Preschool and Kindergarten is half and full day. Children learn social skills, sensorial discrimination, concentration, reading and writing, math operations, geography, and botany/zoology. We have art, music and physical development weekly.

A Montessori School's carefully structured curriculum is learned at each child's pace. Self-discipline, good use of time and responsibility develop.

Student Computer Time is 10 times greater than typical schools. Greater teacher attention, accelerated learning, and outstanding enrichment result.

The Outstanding Enrichment Program has weekly field trips/special events: parks, farms, museums, cultural events, lecture series, nature walks, senior citizen assistance, etc.

Free Go Like The Wind! Software for the Home helps children learn and parents become involved. Parent training is free.

Traditional Values and Mutual Respect form the base of personal relationships. Students learn love and respect for teachers, parents and one another.

Daycare Elementary: 7-9 a.m., 3-6 p.m.
Preschool: 7 a.m.-6 p.m.

Located One Mile from Domino's Farms, the school is convenient to all Ann Arbor and environs. It is less than 13 minutes from Main Street and M-14 or Plymouth.

Karl and Teri Young, Owners, combine nearly 40 years of Montessori preschool and elementary experience. They have trained teachers, developed Go Like the Wind! Software, and consulted for schools.

Sample Endorsements:

Thomas Monaghan, President of Domino's Pizza: "We at Domino's Pizza support innovative and beneficial programs. We're excited to help Go Like the Wind! School."

Richard Genthe, Owner, Genthe Chevrolet: "Our daughter has made leaps in learning since having Go Like the Wind! software at school and at home. We've been thrilled with her motivation and progress."

ANN ARBORITES

Schools Superintendent Dick Benjamin

"Our goal is a friendly student who exercises self-discipline, takes responsibility for learning, and is an independent thinker and a caring and fair person," says Ann Arbor Public Schools superintendent Dick Benjamin. In pursuit of these far-reaching aims, the idealistic Benjamin has led the school system in a series of dramatic changes during his four-year tenure—most impressively in consolidating and desegregating local elementary schools in 1986.

Benjamin, forty-six, was born in Rochester, New York, where his parents ran a soda fountain. He first lived in Ann Arbor as a U-M doctoral student, while his wife, Jane, whom he met on a blind date as an MSU undergrad, worked as a reference librarian in the Ann Arbor public library. He won his Ph.D. in the U-M's education and psychology program, then worked with migrant workers' children and taught and administered in the Lansing and Fort Worth, Texas, schools before returning to Ann Arbor in 1984.

As an administrator, Benjamin is known for his collegial but hard-driving approach, working himself and his staff hard. He survives his eleven-hour workdays with an "every-minute-counts" regimen, often jumping rope early in the morning to keep fit and stopping in late afternoon for a game of racquetball with his wife or a colleague.

"Focus on outcomes!" Benjamin admonishes staffers. "Create winners!" He believes staff energy and innovation are the keys to closing the academic achievement gap that still separates many minority and white students. That gap appears to be dwindling locally, according to annual standardized tests. Another key project is the development by teachers of more stimulating study projects designed to interest and challenge all students, including the most capable.

So far, Ann Arbor voters have backed Benjamin's ambitious agenda by electing a series of action-minded trustees who are committed to further district change—including the major reorganization of local secondary schools to be implemented in the fall of 1989. The voters also endorsed a whopping $30 million bond issue in 1988 to enlarge Pioneer and Huron high schools, renovate several intermediate schools, and treat the downtown library to a significant expansion.

The Benjamins settled in the Pioneer High School area when they returned to Ann Arbor. They chose it, says Benjamin, because their daughter, Jenni, liked the school colors—purple and white, the same as those of the Fort Worth high school she had been due to enter. Jenni just graduated from Pioneer. Son Danny is an eighth-grade student at Slauson Intermediate School.

Day-Care Programs in Ann Arbor

This list is abbreviated from A Guide to Preschool and Daycare Programs in Ann Arbor, by Cynthia Akans. The book, which includes more detailed program descriptions and information on prices, educational philosophies, and field trips, is available for $6 at Borders Bookstore, Community Newscenters, and Little Professor Book Center, as well as at Farmer Grant's, and the Scio Party Store. (To order by mail, send a check for $7.00 to Cynthia Akans, Know-Where Ink, 420 Lyon Court, South Lyon, MI 48178.)

Ann Arbor also has several hundred smaller licensed day-care homes. A few of these care for up to a dozen children, but most house six or fewer. For information on day-care homes, waiting lists at day-care centers, and advice on choosing the best child care, contact the non-profit Child Care Coordinating and Referral Service at 408 N. First St., AA 48103. 662-1127.

REALLY, TRULY . . . AN ALTERNATIVE!

■ A small place:

Where kids are treated with real respect
Where much more than the three R's is taught
Where parents have a real say in the process

■ In the words of the participants:

"If I had attended a school like this when I was a child, I'd be happier and more in control of my own life than I am now."

—Parent, Betty Suarez

"I appreciate the fact that I work with a small group of students in a small setting here rather than in a large institutional-type school."

—Teacher, Pat Van Velsor

"We have to call it school, but it's more like a family group."

—Director, Pat Montgomery

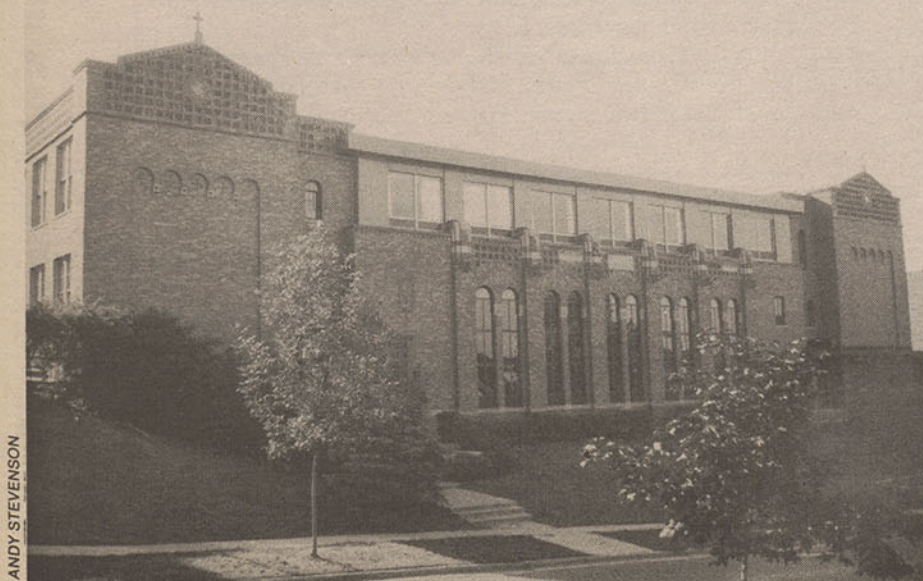

■ Openings only for:

five and six year olds • seven to eleven year olds
twelve to fifteen year olds

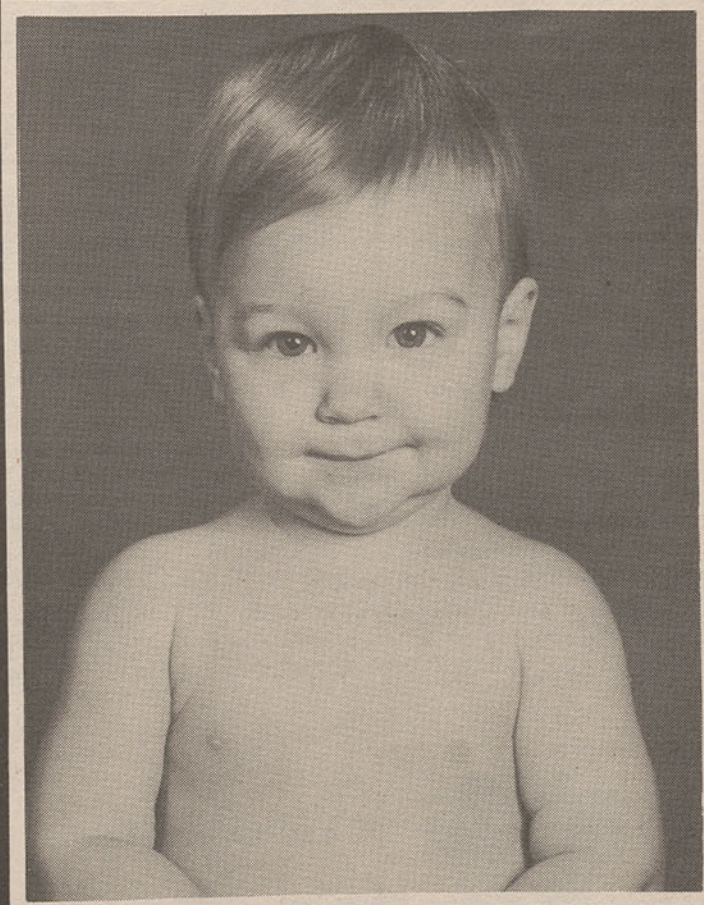

■ For fall registration information:

What a difference my plan makes!

Care Choices HMO offers me more complete coverage. They cover me when I'm well as well as when I'm sick. So, in addition to coverage for things like hospitalization, most routine medical care is covered, like doctor's office visits, physicals, immunizations and lab tests. They cover prenatal and well-baby care, too. My old insurance plan wouldn't do that!

Without paper work. I used to have to fill out a lot of claim forms with my old insurance plan. But Care Choices HMO even covers the paperwork!

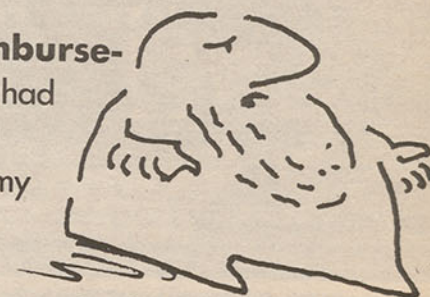

Without unpleasant surprises.

Unexpected doctor bills used to sneak up on me. But with Care Choices, after a small co-pay, there are no doctor bills. Care Choices even covers emergency care when I'm out of town, so surprise out-of-pocket costs can't put the bite on me.

And without waiting for reimbursement.

With traditional coverage, I had to pay for every doctor service right away, and then I had to wait to get my money back from the insurance company. That's not a problem with Care Choices. So many services are completely covered, waiting for reimbursement checks is a thing of the past.

I joined at work, and now I feel better than I have in a long time.

Care Choices is backed by the experience and quality of hospitals across the state, and works in partnership with hundreds of local private practice physicians right in my community. That way, they keep costs down and the quality of care up. With all that, it's no wonder I'm so confident about my health plan. Find out what a difference it can make for you!

Ask your employer about it, or call Care Choices Health Plans at (313) 971-7667.

Care Choices
HEALTH PLANS

Local Participating Hospitals: Catherine McAuley Health Center, Chelsea Community Hospital, Saline Community Hospital and McPherson Hospital. Care Choices is sponsored by Mercy Health Services.

HEALTH CARE

New clinics and services become available all the time. This information is current as of August 1988. Emergency phone numbers and services are listed on p.158.

For descriptions of the various mental health services and health-related support groups in Ann Arbor, see the Community Services section (p. 73). Many of the clinics and health centers listed below accept a wide variety of insurance coverage. Others accept only one, or none. In most cases, major credit cards are accepted for payment. It is wise to call ahead to find out what insurance and payment options are accepted.

Hospitals

CATHERINE McAULEY HEALTH CENTER (CMHC)

Emergency Department: 572-3000
General Information: 572-3456

How to get there: McAuley is located on East Huron River Drive between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti. AATA bus routes #3 (Huron River Drive) and #6 (Industrial-Ellsworth) both serve CMHC.

Southbound Golfside Drive and Hewitt Road (accessible from Ellsworth, Packard, and Washtenaw) both end at entrances to McAuley Health Center.

Geddes Road eastbound from Huron Parkway meets Dixboro Road. Southbound Dixboro dead-ends at East Huron River Drive.

Description: CMHC is a private, not-for-profit institution owned by the Sisters of Mercy. St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, founded in 1911, is the core around which the Health Center has expanded. Besides St. Joe's itself, the center includes the Reichert Health Building, Mercywood Hospital, the Huron Oaks facility, and several other outpatient clinics and services. Additional clinics and testing facilities are located throughout Ann Arbor and in neighboring communities.

As a Catholic affiliate, CMHC has policies that prohibit the dispensing or prescribing of contraceptives and the performance of vasectomies or elective abortions.

Parking and shuttle service: Parking at the Reichert Health Building, the Education Center, Mercywood, Huron Oaks, and most other patient facilities is free. Visitor lots nearest the hospital tower and emergency room cost 50¢, paid on exit. The lots have senior parking and handicap spaces.

Free shuttle buses make continuous loops of the center, stopping at shelters and building entrances, and for pedestrians. Buses run Mon.-Fri. 8:30 a.m.-9 p.m. and Sat. & Sun. noon-9 p.m.

CMHC MAJOR FACILITIES AND PROGRAMS

Note: Facilities are located at the E. Huron River Drive location unless otherwise noted.

Academic programs. The physician education program at CMHC operates three clinics where intern and resident physicians treat patients under the supervision of staff physicians: Internal Medicine, 434-4366; Surgery, 572-3971; and Obstetrics & Gynecology, 572-3967.

Alpha House, 4290 Jackson Rd. 662-0533. Extended residential treatment for recovering chemically dependent adolescents.

Ambulatory Surgery Facility. 572-5000. Performs testing and surgery on an outpatient basis.

Amicare Home Health Services; Amicare Home Health Resources. 995-1992. Amicare Home Health Services provides nursing and therapeutic services for ill, aged, or disabled patients in their homes. Amicare Home Health Resources provides medical equipment and supplies for use in the home. Hospice of Washtenaw (995-1995), run by Amicare, provides care for the terminally ill and support for their families.

Huron Oaks. 572-4300. Residential treatment for chemically dependent adolescents and adults.

Maple Health Building, 501 N. Maple at Dexter Rd. 662-5222. Houses an urgent care clinic (see Urgent Care Clinics, p. 64), a cardiac rehabilitation program, and physician offices.

Office of Health Promotion. 572-3675. Offers health screening and various educational pro-

ANN ARBORITES

Public Health Worker Cynthia Wrentmore

"When the AIDS virus came, it changed our world," says public health worker Cynthia Wrentmore. "The world changed forever. Not just our sexual mores, but legal, medical—the whole system's going to change."

A sweet-faced, motherly woman who serves as communicable disease coordinator for the health division of the County Department of Social Services, Wrentmore became one of the first people in the county to learn that AIDS had arrived here. That was in 1983, "when a lab slip came through on an eighteen-year-old that had an organism that eighteen-year-olds don't normally get." She has since devoted a great deal of time to pondering the implications of the fatal virus.

"I spent a year being about as depressed as you can be without being clinically depressed! I spent a lot of time thinking about the world, a world I brought children into—I have three adult children—and decided the task at hand, for me, was Washtenaw County. I can't eat the whole elephant, but I can take a bite out of its Achilles tendon right here in Washtenaw County."

Wrentmore, a registered nurse, has certainly done her best to achieve that goal. For the last few years she has worked tirelessly to educate the public about AIDS. Her duties include organizing disease prevention programs and giving health-related presentations throughout the community.

Public health, with its common-sense emphasis on prevention, usually labors in the shadow of the drama of curative medicine. AIDS, which can be prevented but not cured, has reversed that. Wrentmore admits to some satisfaction at the recent media focus on the previously unheralded efforts of public health workers—not just for herself, but because of the chance it gives her to raise awareness. "I've gotten a lot of recognition for the work I've done, and I have to say I like that," she says. "But that's not the point. The point is, did they get the message?"

"I don't want to sell Cynthia Wrentmore. I want to sell AIDS prevention. I want to sell 'Maintaining Your Immune Integrity in a Work Setting,' which is a talk I give at day cares and nursery schools, to teachers. It's about how you take care of yourself so you don't get what the kid has, and how you role-model health to children."

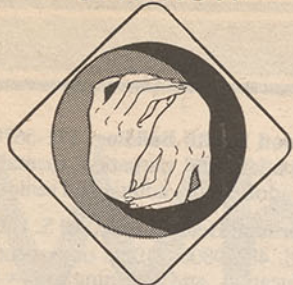

"I have a philosophical belief that says that day care and preschool are pivotal. It's one of the most important times, because you teach children general, basic hygiene that will last them the rest of their lives."

"If you start teaching children how to take care of themselves, and how to wash their hands, and how not to give their cold to somebody else—or at least how to try not to give their cold to somebody else—that, believe it or not, is AIDS prevention. Because that's setting the stage to get them thinking about the wonderfulness of the body and how its defenses work."

Wrentmore, who works with AIDS patients in education and support programs, has already lost several friends to the disease. But while their deaths are "very, very painful," she doesn't allow them to debilitate her to the point where she has to give up her work. Instead, she focuses on the rewards of giving people greater control over their lives, and on finding recreations that help alleviate her emotional burnout.

"I'm learning to play again. For a while, I was so submerged in AIDS that I really had forgotten. I got my knitting back out, and I'm finishing a sweater I put away in 1985! It was dusty, but I've dusted it off and finished it. So that was really neat!" —Avra Kouffman

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN MEDICAL CENTER (UMMC)

Emergency Services: 936-6666
General Information: 936-4000

How to get there: The UMMC is located between the U-M main and north campuses, accessible from Observatory St., Fuller Rd., Glen Ave., or Maiden Lane. AATA bus routes #2 (Plymouth), #4 (Washtenaw), and #14 (Geddes-Stadium) serve the UMMC.

Signs on westbound Washtenaw in the campus area direct drivers to the UMMC via Observatory St.

Westbound Plymouth Rd. and southbound Pontiac Trail each intersect with Broadway near Maiden Lane, which leads into the Medical Center from the north.

Description: The UMMC includes a medical school. Its faculty serve as the hospitals' medical staff while the hospitals provide educational and research facilities for students and faculty. As a research institution, the UMMC can sometimes offer new and experimental treatments not available elsewhere. Patients at a research hospital may also find themselves being scrutinized and discussed by medical students and faculty.

The Medical Center is comprised of a network of specialty hospitals and the new adult general hospital; the Taubman Center, housing over 110 specialty outpatient clinics; several other outpatient clinics; the Taubman Medical

URGENT CARE CLINICS

The following facilities provide treatment of non-life-threatening illnesses and non-traumatic injuries on a walk-in basis:

Adult Walk-In Clinic, just inside the University Hospital emergency entrance. 936-5642. Primarily treats medical problems; broken bones and trauma are referred to the Emergency Service. Free parking in the emergency lot. Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. 936-5642.

Hewitt Medical Center, Hewitt at Packard. 434-8900. Primarily a family practice clinic, it also treats walk-in patients and provides urgent care. Mon., Wed., & Thurs. 9 a.m.-9 p.m.; Tues. & Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m.; Sat. 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

McAuley Urgent Care. Two Ann Arbor locations: just inside the emergency room of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital (572-3952) and at the Maple Medical Building at the corner of Maple and Dexter roads (662-5222). Daily 8 a.m.-10 p.m. (24-hour Urgent Care Line, 572-4222.)

McAuley Pediatric Urgent Care, next to the Urgent Care entrance at St. Joe's. 572-2786. Mon.-Fri. 5 p.m.-10 p.m.; Sat. noon-10 p.m.; Sun. & holidays 9 a.m.-10 p.m.

Pediatric Walk-In Clinic, just inside the University Hospital emergency entrance. 936-4230. Treats non-traumatic injuries and medical emergencies for children up to age 14. Free parking in the emergency lot. Daily 8 a.m.-midnight.

Washtenaw Clinic, 2755 Carpenter Rd. 971-7694. Private general medical care. Also treats walk-ins. Mon.-Sat. 8 a.m.-11 p.m.; Sun. 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Shorter holiday hours.

HEALTH CARE CLINICS

M-Care Health Centers. These serve the general public as well as M-Care HMO members. Each clinic has lab, X-ray, and outpatient surgery capabilities. In addition to the Ann Arbor locations listed here, M-Care has clinics in Northville, Plymouth, Brighton, and Chelsea.

M-Care Briarwood, 325 Briarwood Circle. 763-7390. A family practice clinic. Mon., Tues., & Thurs. 9 a.m.-7:30 p.m.; Wed. 1-7:30 p.m.; Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.; Sat. 9 a.m.-noon.

M-Care Northeast Ann Arbor, 2200 Green Rd. 763-7485. Offers internal medicine and ob/gyn care only. Mon., Thurs., & Fri. 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.; Tues. 12:30-8:30 p.m.; Wed. 1-4:30 p.m.

University Health Service (UHS), 207 Fletcher St. Provides medical services to current U-M students. Faculty and staff who are members of the U-M prepaid health plan can also use UHS services without further fees. For both groups, however, there are fees for eye exams, psychiatric counseling, and prescription drugs.

UHS also sees alumni, faculty, staff, U-M retirees, and the spouses, significant others, and dependents over ten years old of those eligible, on a fee basis. M-Care HMO members can choose UHS as their health care site.

Appointments are encouraged, since walk-in visits frequently require a lengthy wait. Open Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. & Sat. 9 a.m.-noon; from June through August, Mon.-Fri. hours start at 8:30 a.m. For an appointment, call 764-8325. The Information Hotline, 764-8320, has a three-minute recording of hours and general information. For further information, call 763-4511.

Henry Ford Medical Center, 2755 Carpenter Rd., 2nd floor. 973-3090. A satellite clinic of the Henry Ford Medical Center in Detroit. A primary care clinic with family practice, internal medicine, pediatric, and dermatology services. Referrals for other care are made to local physicians and services. Mon.-Thurs. 9 a.m.-9 p.m.; Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m.; Sat. 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Doctors and HMOs

PHYSICIAN REFERRALS

U-M doctor information. 936-5000. A 24-hour phone line operated by the U-M Medical Center refers callers to its affiliated clinics, physicians, and programs.

McAuley Referral Line. 572-5500. Refers callers to Catherine McAuley Health Center (CMHC) physicians, services, and programs. Information is also available on the insurances that each accepts. Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Washtenaw County Medical Society. 668-6241. Refers callers to member physicians affiliated with various hospitals and clinics throughout Washtenaw County. Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

ANN ARBOR-BASED HEALTH MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATIONS (HMOs)

An HMO is a lot like health insurance, except that the subscriber's choice of physicians and facilities is limited. In most instances the HMO contracts with physicians, clinics, hospitals, and other health care providers for companies and organizations that provide health care coverage for their employees.

Care Choices Health Plans (formerly McAuley Health Plan). A subsidiary of the Sisters of Mercy Health Corporation and affiliated locally with the Catherine McAuley Health Center. Also offers coverage in Livingston, Oakland, and western Wayne counties. Membership in mid 1988 was 80,000.

Care Choices is not currently offered to individual subscribers. Businesses interested in information on Care Choices coverage for their employees can call 971-7667. People who are already Care Choices members, or who are currently being offered membership through their employer, can call (800) 852-9780 (Mon.-Fri. 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.) for information.

M-Care. Offered locally in conjunction with the U-M Medical Center and its satellite clinics. Also offers coverage in Oakland, Livingston, Macomb, and Wayne counties. Membership in mid 1988 was 20,000.

M-Care is not currently offered to individual subscribers. Businesses interested in information on M-Care coverage for their employees can call 747-8700. People who are already M-Care members, or who are currently being offered membership through their employer, can call 747-8700 (24 hours) for information.

Contact Lens Update

Auto Keratometry Improves Lens Fit ...

Dr. Steven Bennett -- "The Auto Keratometer uses a computer-aided scanning system to give us a more precise measurement of the eye. We can now offer a custom fit for contact lenses which, in turn, provides more comfort and better vision for the patient, even those who previously have been unable to wear contacts."

Dr. H.W. Bennett & Associates, leaders in contact lens research, offer many of the newest advances in contact lenses, including extended wear, tinted, gas permeable, lenses to correct astigmatism and lenses for bifocal or trifocal wearers.

For information on contact lenses, or for your copy of a free pamphlet explaining the benefits of Auto Keratometry, please call 665-5306.

DENTAL SERVICES

Washtenaw District Dental Society. 761-2445. Refers callers to member dentists who practice in the Washtenaw County area, including specialists in pediatric dentistry, periodontics, oral surgery, and orthodontics. Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-5 p.m. 761-2445.

U-M School of Dentistry, N. University at Fletcher. The advantage of the dental school is that the fees are less than market rates. The disadvantage is that treatment takes longer because it is performed by student dentists who are closely supervised by the faculty.

Anyone is eligible to become a patient at the dental school, but not everyone can be accepted. A screening examination is necessary to see if the dental school can meet your treatment needs. To make an appointment for a screening examination, or for general information, call 764-1516.

There is a dental hygiene clinic for teeth cleaning. No screening examination is necessary. For an appointment call 764-1544.

The dental school also operates an emergency clinic that provides treatment to anyone in pain or distress. Patients are seen on a first-come, first-serve basis, every weekday except Wednesday. Sign-up is at 8 a.m. to be seen in the morning and again at 1 p.m. to be seen in the afternoon.

Dental patients can park in the U-M Fletcher Street structure at the rate of 50¢ per hour or a maximum charge of $3.50 per day.

U-M and McAuley Clinics

Community Dental Center, 406 N. Ashley. 663-6626. A nonprofit program staffed by the U-M and funded by the City of Ann Arbor. Low- and moderate-income people are eligible for grant money to be applied toward their fees. Open Mon., Tues., & Thurs. 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5:30 p.m.; Wed. 8 a.m.-noon & 2-7:30 p.m.; Fri. 8 a.m.-1 p.m.

FAMILY PLANNING

Planned Parenthood, 3100 Professional Dr. 973-0710. Reproductive health care clinic providing pregnancy testing, premarital exams, birth control information and supplies, gynecological care, vasectomies, abortions, VD and herpes testing and treatment, referral services, public speakers, and peer educator services in the local high schools. Fees are based on a sliding scale. Mon. & Wed. 8:30 a.m.-7 p.m.; Tues., Thurs., & Fri. 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.; Sat. 9 a.m.-noon.

SEXUALLY TRANSMITTED DISEASES

Sexually Transmitted Disease (STD) Clinic (County Department of Human Services, Public Health Division), 555 Towner, Room 108, Ypsilanti. 485-2161. Provides two free services: diagnosis and treatment of sexually transmitted diseases, and anonymous and confidential AIDS counseling and testing. STD clinic operates on a first-come, first-served walk-in basis. AIDS counseling and testing is by appointment only. Walk-in service Mon. & Thurs. 6:30-9 p.m.; Wed. 9-11:30 a.m. AIDS counseling and testing appointments can be made Mon.-Fri. 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. 485-2181.

University Health Service, 207 Fletcher St. 763-4511. An AIDS counseling and testing program conducted on a first-come, first-served walk-in basis. All patients are treated anonymously (use first name only, or an assumed name) and confidentially. Call for information or to see if an appointment time is available for that day. However, appointments must be made in person. No fee for enrolled U-M students or UHS prepaid health plan members. The fee for staff, faculty, and community residents is $35. Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-noon and 1-3 p.m.

Also operates a Washtenaw County STD Program. All county residents are eligible for free diagnosis and treatment of gonorrhea and syphilis. Fees are charged for diagnosis and treatment of other diseases. Patients are seen on an appointment or walk-in basis. For information call 763-4511; for an appointment call 764-8325. SENIOR SERVICES

Eligibility for some employment and housing related services is determined by income. Most use federal guidelines, which require that income be no more than $6,875 for one person, $9,250 for two, $11,625 for three, $14,000 for four, $16,375 for five, with an added $1,900 per year for each additional person. Any other income guidelines are noted in the listings.

Abuse and Neglect

For immediate intervention in domestic violence incidents, call the police (911 in Ann Arbor; see emergency numbers list on p. 158 for out-county numbers).

To report suspected abuse, neglect, or exploitation of adults, contact Washtenaw County's Adult Protective Services program. During regular office hours, residents of Ann Arbor and western Washtenaw County can call 994-2948 or 994-8210; after hours, call 994-1882. The office investigates allegations of mistreatment and makes referrals to the police or prosecutor, as well as to the community mental health program, the state public health department, and financial counseling where appropriate. It also trains adult service providers in the requirements of the Adult Protective Service Act.

Exercise

Ann Arbor Recreation Department Senior Adult Program, Burns Park Senior Center, 1320 Baldwin. 769-5911. Offers free modified exercise (for those with limited mobility) at Burns Park Senior Center Monday and Friday 10-11 a.m.; Miller Manor (727 Miller Ave.) Monday, Wednesday, and Friday 10:30-11:15 a.m.; and Parkway Meadows (2301 Sandalwood Cir.) Tuesday 1-2 p.m. Free advanced exercise (20-30 minutes of aerobics) classes are held at Mack Pool Mon.-Fri. 7:30-8:30 a.m. No pre-registration is necessary. Winter Workouts at Stone School are more sports-oriented (volleyball, etc.). Aquacize is held Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday 7:30-8:30 a.m. Swim instruction is held Wednesday 7:30-8:30 a.m. There is a swim registration fee of $35 a year, or $10 quarterly. Ageless Yoga and summer tennis lessons are also offered.

Ann Arbor "Y," 350 S. Fifth Ave. 663-0536. Offers discounts on memberships to people over 60. Basic membership ($42 a year) reduces "Y" class costs. General membership ($14 a month) reduces class rates and allows use of "Y" facilities. Classes of special interest to seniors include Ageless Yoga, ballroom dancing, stretchercise, aquacize (suitable for non-swimmers), and a special aquacize class for arthritics held in 90 degree water.

Fitness Over Fifty, U-M Division of Physical Education, 3050 CCRB. 764-1342. Free exercise class meets Monday, Wednesday, and Friday 9-10 a.m. at Briarwood Mall (enter through the main door between Sears and Hudson's). Sponsored by the U-M Physical Education Adult Lifestyle Program, the class focuses on cardiovascular fitness, upper and lower body stretches, and range of motion exercises. Individuals are encouraged to work at their own pace. No pre-registration necessary. The Physical Education Adult Lifestyle Program offers other exercise classes at the CCRB for a fee.

Senior Citizens' Guild, 502 W. Huron. 663-3394. Free exercise classes every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9:30-10:30 a.m., featuring stretching and aerobics for people 55 and up. Also offers a bowling league, which meets every Monday from 1-4 p.m. at Bel-Mark Lanes (3530 Jackson Rd.). No pre-registration necessary for either activity: just drop in.

Washtenaw Community College, 4800 E. Huron River Dr. 668-1746. The Emeritus program offers free public exercise sessions at Cranbrook Towers (2001 Northbrook) every Monday, 10-11 a.m., and at Northside Bethel A.M.E. Church (1674 Broadway) every Wednesday, 10-11 a.m. Classes run from September through May. No pre-registration necessary.

Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission. 971-6337. The Washtenaw Walkers Club meets Monday-Thursday at County Farm Park (Washtenaw at Platt) during good weather or at Briarwood Mall during inclement weather. Call for time and place. Golden Strikers Bowling League bowls once a week at Colonial Lanes (1950 S. Industrial). There is a nominal charge for lane and shoe rental. WCPR also sponsors many special outings for seniors throughout the year, such as the annual Independence Lake Picnic, trips to Tiger Stadium, and more. Call for more information.

Health

The Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association. A toll-free, Chicago-based hotline (1-800-621-0379) provides immediate information, and local chapters offer support for families, including workshops, speakers, and a newsletter. Ann Arbor support groups meet the 2nd Wednesday of each month, 7:30-9 p.m., at the chapter office, 2350 E. Stadium, Suite 12C (665-9331 or 973-6622); and the 3rd Wednesday of each month, 10 a.m.-noon, at Turner Geriatric Clinic, 1010 Wall St. (764-2556 or 668-1499).

Most weight reduction programs simply do not work. Why?

Because they focus on only one problem—the initial weight loss. They do little to effectively help people keep pounds off.

Our Weight Management Program is different.

It's designed and managed by physicians and psychologists with expertise in behavioral medicine. We work closely with your doctor to determine whether our program is right for you. If you're accepted, you begin losing weight quickly and safely with carefully supervised diet. Then our behavioral education sessions teach you how to maintain your lower weight for the rest of your life. Medical doctors are involved in every stage of the program, to insure that as your weight is lost your health improves.

A comparison with other weight loss programs demonstrates that this total approach to weight management works.

Most programs	Our Weight Management Program
Average weight loss— 11.5 lbs.	Average weight loss— over 49.8 lbs.
Less than 8% lose 40 or more lbs.	Over 50% lose 40 or more lbs.
1 year after reaching weight goal over 90% regain all of weight lost.	1 year after reaching weight goal less than 10% regain all of weight lost.

The key to achieving permanent weight loss.

By itself, losing weight is not enough. We help you learn realistic ways of balancing your personal food choices and physical activity so that you can manage your own weight for the rest of your life without feeling deprived. And our proven behavioral approach to lifetime weight management helps you overcome the vicious cycle of losing weight and gaining it back again.

Whether you have 20, 50, or 100 pounds to lose, if you're serious about finding a permanent solution to your weight problem, please apply for admittance to the next session of the Weight Management Program.

Our program is affiliated with Health Management Resources with programs in over 200 medical centers nationwide.

The Birth of the Independent Living Movement

Up until twenty years ago, most adults with physical disabilities had two choices—either to remain with their families as long as relatives could and would provide essential physical assistance, or to spend their lives in nursing homes.

The Ann Arbor Center for Independent Living (AACIL), a community service agency based in the Georgetown Mall, is dedicated to creating a third alternative. Its staff helps people with disabilities develop the skills and find the help they need to live on their own.

One of about 250 such centers in the U.S., the AACIL traces its roots to the late 1960s, when a few bright and articulate but severely disabled young men in Berkeley, California, persuaded the staff of the Cowell Student Health Service Hospital on the Berkeley campus of the University of California to let them live in one wing of the hospital. Although they were unable to wash, dress, or eat without assistance, they arranged for the physical aid they needed both to live and to attend college classes.

In the evenings, the students had long discussions about what they thought they would require in order to live in the community. They needed barrier-free housing, accessible transportation, and personal assistants who would be paid to perform the physical tasks, like laundry or cooking, that they couldn't. Influenced by the 1960s civil rights movement, they saw these things as rights rather than as charity—as essentials that would allow them to assume their rights and responsibilities as citizens. By focusing, not on the quantity of tasks they could do without assistance, but on the quality of the life they could live with help, they created the philosophy of independent living.

The movement that began in Berkeley spread quickly. Ed Roberts, a charismatic Cowell resident, went on to become director of the California Rehabilitation Services Administration and later received a MacArthur Fellowship. Despite a severe disability that requires constant use of a respirator, Roberts now travels widely as head of the World Institute on Disability.

Barrier-free housing was the movement's initial focus, but its founders also lobbied for laws that would make public transportation and buildings more accessible to disabled people. In 1972, the national Rehabilitation Act was passed by both the Senate and the House of Representatives but vetoed by President Nixon. It was signed into law in 1973 and finally took full force in 1978, when sit-ins and demonstrations forced passage of regulations that made it enforceable. The Rehabilitation Act became the key civil rights document of people with disabilities. An important part of the law was a mandate for funds to set up independent living programs.

The Ann Arbor Center for Independent Living was the first such center in Michigan when it opened in May 1976. Initial funding came from a Michigan Rehabilitation Services grant and a federal Community Development Block Grant. Today, the AACIL has a $320,000 annual budget, financed through federal funds, the Washtenaw County United Way, grants from the Ann Arbor Foundation, fund-raisers, and private donations. Modest fees are charged for services whenever possible, but no one is turned away because of inability to pay. In addition to the staff of seven full-time and a few part-time employees (several of whom have disabilities), volunteers are always welcome.

The main business of AACIL is teaching the skills necessary for independent living. Those include how to budget, ride a bus, fill out a job application, and a host of tasks most people take for granted. Clients whose disabilities are severe enough that they will require a personal assistant to aid with the chores of daily living—dressing, eating, laundry, and so on—are taught to interview, hire, supervise, and, when necessary, fire their employees. Peer resource counselors (PRC's) now work at many centers, including Ann Arbor's. Trained role models with first-hand experience and coping skills, the PRC's are particularly effective in helping others with similar disabilities.

AACIL also maintains a completely accessible furnished apartment where clients can stay briefly to practice their new skills before moving into their own quarters. Recent residents have been a wheelchair user who wanted to live independently but needed to prove to herself and her family that she could handle it, and a young man paralyzed from a spinal cord injury, who spent his first weekend away from the hospital there with his wife and children.

Advocacy for individuals and the promotion of social change are important functions of the AACIL. For example, a wheelchair user denied an apartment that could be made accessible by adding a ramp might ask AACIL to talk with the landlord. To insure the inclusion of barrier-free units in all housing constructed within the city, the advocacy coordinator sits on several city boards and committees. Public education on the rights and abilities of disabled persons also contributes to long-range change.

Other services offered by AACIL are recruitment and referrals of personal assistants; support services for people receiving mental health care; and a message relay between hearing individuals and persons with hearing impairments who use a telecommunications device for the disabled (TDD).

For more information, contact AACIL at 2568 Packard Rd. (Georgetown Mall), 971-0277. To use the message relay, call 971-0310.

If everyone needed
the same kind of mortgage,

they wouldn't need one from Comerica.

When it comes to getting a home mortgage, some banks give you the feeling that everybody is buying the same house.

They sit you down. They show you the same mortgage they show everybody else. They have you fill out the same forms. And then they let you leave.

Well, that's not the way we work. Because at Comerica, we understand that everyone has different financial needs.

And that's why we give you a choice.

If you're looking for a simple, convenient way to pay for your home, we might show you our popular 15 and 30 year fixed rate mortgages.

If you need a lower rate to start, we might show you one of our adjustable rate mortgages.

Or you even have the option of our 5 year balloon mortgage.

There's also a jumbo-sized loan for those of you who are planning on buying a jumbo-sized house. With it, you can borrow up to $500,000.

And no matter which type of mortgage you choose, you'll have a Comerica representative helping you all the way, offering advice, and making sure you choose the best mortgage for your specific needs.

So call 769-9390 for the name of your nearest Comerica Mortgage Representative, or stop in at any Comerica branch office.

Unless, of course, you really do want the same house everyone else has.

ANN ARBORITES

SUZANNE COLES

Irwin Magnetics Head Herb Amster

It isn't his name on the building, and he always stresses the contributions of others, but the nearly 500 people who work at Irwin Magnetic Systems wouldn't be there if it weren't for Herb Amster. Amster, a modest, Brooklyn-born MBA, led the arduous, long-shot effort in 1983 that turned a high-tech failure into an international success story—and a major Ann Arbor employer.

Amster is a scrupulous, methodical man who at first glance seems the antithesis of a high-tech hero. He came to Michigan in 1963 to work for Ford, then served as treasurer and vice-president of Jacobson's stores. But his business degree is from MIT, and he worked with computers on his very first job, in 1958. "There was no doubt in my mind," he recalls, "that computers were going to play a very significant role." In the early 1970s, Amster signed up with visionary Ann Arbor high-tech entrepreneur Sam Irwin. He worked for Irwin at Sycor, a computer terminal maker, then followed him to Irwin International.

In the early 1980s, Irwin International was one of scores of companies that sought to develop the hard-disk drives for the emerging personal computer market. By now almost universal in business computers, hard disks allow even the smallest machines to store the equivalent of thousands of pages of information. Irwin International set out to build a particularly sophisticated version that had its own backup tape drive to protect against the accidental loss of data from the hard disk.

Irwin International failed. Its brilliant idea proved impossible to get into production in the narrow window of opportunity before competitors sewed up the market. Early in 1983, the company laid off three-quarters of its staff, closed its headquarters, and retreated into a small corner of the vast former Conductron factory on Green Road. In an interview at the time, Amster, who had been Irwin International's chief financial officer, looked slumped and beaten, as the stress of the failure compounded the effects of lupus, a chronic immune-system disorder he suffers from.

In fact, Amster was just beginning to come into his own. He persuaded the venture capitalists who backed Irwin International to let him try to recycle its technology into a new company, Irwin Magnetics. Forgetting the hard-disk drive, Irwin Magnetics set out to build only backup tape drives. "We knew the market for these microcomputers was going to be very large," Amster recalls. "We also knew that backup was important, and that tape was the easiest way to do it, and the safest. So it was basically a selling job in that, A, the market was there and, B, we could develop a product that made sense for the market."

The venture capitalists went along, and Amster's predictions were fulfilled. Irwin Magnetics' tape drive quickly became the world's best-selling personal computer backup device. Irwin Magnetics sold 200,000 of them last year, and it now fills both the entire Green Road factory and a separate new headquarters nearby.

Although they draw parts from all over the world, every Irwin tape drive to date has been built in Ann Arbor. A second factory may eventually be needed, however, if Irwin Magnetics fulfills Amster's goals. "We like to have at least twenty percent yearly growth, compounded," Amster explains. "This past year we were pretty much even with the prior year, but next year we're looking for considerable growth."

It took a lot of work not to change the Argus.

We use the best materials and do our best to preserve the integrity of a building. Because if a building we've built or rebuilt deteriorates, it's our loss.

In other words — we buy, we build, we keep.

This principle works well for us. For example, we did such a good job with the Argus, that while this ad was being written, it became unnecessary to advertise. Most of the space there has been taken.

But we do have space like it all over town. If you're interested in historical buildings like this or modern facilities, small space or large, we're interested in hearing from you. Give us a call, 994-5050.

RECREATION

Ann Arbor's extensive park system and its location along the Huron River provide a natural setting for outdoor recreation. It's a haven for indoor sports, too, thanks to extensive city and school programs coupled with the sport and recreation facilities of the University of Michigan and the Ann Arbor "Y."

The Ann Arbor Recreation Department, part of the Ann Arbor Public Schools Community Services Division, offers classes in golf, tennis, and swimming. It also organizes several league sports, including softball, basketball, and volleyball. It is located at 2800 Stone School Rd. For information on league programs, call 994-2292; for general information, call 994-2326. The city's Department of Parks and Recreation is responsible for maintaining facilities at area parks, and also runs some sports programs, such as ice hockey. The department office is on the fifth floor of City Hall (994-2780).

The "Y," located at 350 S. Fifth Ave., is a membership organization. (Because it has facilities for both men and women, the "Y" is not affiliated with the national gender-segregated YMCA or YWCA.) People wishing to use it must purchase either a year-long membership pass or a day pass. There are several different membership plans available, ranging from $216 to $306 a year. People who use the "Y" infrequently may buy day passes for $5. The "Y" also offers classes, which are available to both members and nonmembers. For classes only, the cost is $49 a year. Call the "Y" at 663-0536.

U-M students, faculty, and staff are able to use U-M facilities at the Central Campus Recreation Building (CCRB), 401 Washtenaw at Geddes (763-3084); the North Campus Recreation Building (NCRB), 2375 Hubbard (763-4560); and the Intramural (IM) Sports Building, 606 E. Hoover (763-3562). There is no charge for registered students. Faculty and staff user's passes are $30 per semester ($90 a year); passes for nonstudents are $45 per semester ($135 a year) but are only available if the user is sponsored by a student.

Team Sports

BASKETBALL

The Rec Department organizes a basketball league during the winter in which a hundred teams usually participate. The season lasts for ten weeks, from mid December until March. Players must enter the league on already established teams; teams must pay sponsor fees. Games are played at local intermediate schools. Call the Rec Department for exact fees and starting dates.

People who want to play basketball and aren't on a Rec Department team may use the U-M's courts at the CCRB, NCRB, and the IM building if they have a user's pass or come as a guest of someone with a pass. Court hours vary each semester, so call for schedule information. The Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation service center (4133 Washtenaw) rents out courts for $10 an hour. (Available hours vary; call 971-6337 to make reservations.) Several city parks also have basketball courts available for public use.

ICE HOCKEY

The ice hockey season, which runs from mid October through mid March, is organized through Veterans Park. About twenty teams with twenty members each participate in the different leagues. Leagues include adult non-checking, the thirty-and-over draft, and the old-timers (also for people thirty and over). Fees are approximately $2,650 per team (this steep price includes ice time, referees, scorekeepers, practice time, and a practice game).

Games take place weekday nights at Vets Park, Buhr Park, and the U-M's Yost Ice Arena.

Individuals who want to play hockey should call Vets Ice Arena at 761-7240 and sign a waiver releasing their names to team managers who need extra players. If enough teamless individuals are interested, the Department of Parks and Recreation sponsors a team called

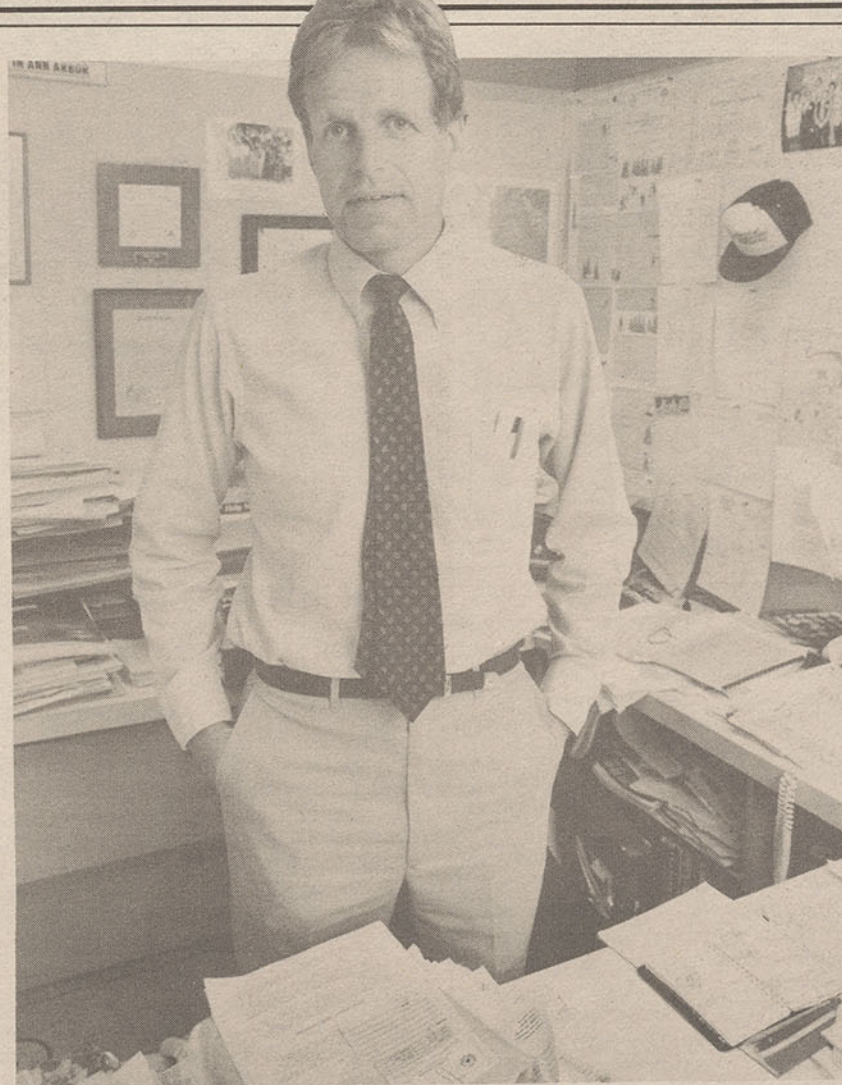

"the Arctic Annie's."

The nonprofit Ann Arbor Amateur Hockey Association (AAAHA) is open to boys and girls ages five to seventeen. From September through May, an average of twenty to twenty-five teams play two to three times a week at Yost and Vets ice arenas. There are six age divisions. From youngest to oldest, there are Mini Mites, Mites, Squirts, Peewees, Bantams, and Midgets. For more information, leave a message on the AAAHA answering machine at Vets (996-8606).

For hockey players who enjoy an occasional game, Buhr Park offers drop-in hockey from December 1 through March for people fifteen and over. Games are scheduled on Wednesdays 5:45-6:45 p.m. and Fridays 9:45-10:45 p.m. The first twenty players are allowed to participate at a cost of $2 for adults and $1.50 for youths. Skate rental is $1.25. Call Buhr Park Ice Rink for details at 971-3228.

ANN ARBORITES

Parks Superintendent Ron Olson

"When people hear 'recreation,' they think you're a coach or a whistle blower," says Ann Arbor Superintendent of Parks and Recreation Ron Olson. "Or they think of 'parks' and think you walk around all day." In fact, presiding over more than 1,800 acres of land throughout Ann Arbor's 116 city parks is only a thin slice of Olson's job.

In the course of one typical day recently, the tall (6'3"), blond thirty-nine-year-old Olson met with teenage subscribers of Thrasher magazine to discuss the development of a skateboarding park. Later, he met with community naturalists about water quality and conservation. Then, back at his fifth-floor City Hall office, he signed an interment order for a burial in the city-owned Fairview Cemetery.

Growing up in Minneapolis, Olson spent his vacations at rustic lakeside cabins. As a freshman at the University of Minnesota, he was drawn to a major in parks and recreation administration by the chance to combine his interests in the outdoors and in athletics. (He played hockey in high school and continued while earning a master's at Indiana University.) Before coming to Ann Arbor in 1985, he headed the Rockville, Maryland, parks department for nine years—and for a while moonlighted as a semi-pro hockey player for the Washington Chiefs.

Though Olson now spends more time in meetings than outdoors, a black runner's watch peeks out from the left cuff of his white Oxford shirt, and there are seven empty bottles of mineral water under his office desk. Ron Olson is not entirely deskbound: a quiet lunch of water and a bagel at his desk gives him time to survey his domain on lunchtime runs through the city's parks.

—Karen Bennett

In terms of numbers, soccer is second only to softball as the most popular participatory sport in Ann Arbor. The city has two soccer programs. The Rec Department, which organizes youth soccer, has 1,700 to 1,800 players. The Ann Arbor Soccer Association (AASA), a nonprofit citizens' group, takes care of everyone else. According to Hugh McPherson, president of the AASA board, the AASA averages 850 young people and 450 adults in its programs.

The AASA's most popular program is the adult recreation program. It offers men's, women's, and co-rec leagues during the fall, spring, and summer. Each season lasts eight weeks; teams play two nights a week at Fuller Park. The number of players remains relatively constant during each season. Twenty teams usually participate, and each team has twelve players.

People interested in playing soccer should contact the AASA at 761-8813. There is a $28 fee for joining a team. The AASA makes up teams by dividing the individuals in each age group equally across all teams. Thus, all teams should have the same number of eighteen-year-olds, nineteen-year-olds, and so on.

The AASA also offers other programs, including travel competition and regular Ann Arbor competition leagues.

SOFTBALL

Baseball has been popular in Ann Arbor since it was introduced by Civil War veterans returning home in the 1860s. By 1862, Ann Arbor had a team, the Monitor Baseball Club, which played Dexter, Ypsilanti, and other community teams. For students and young adults, baseball became a new form of entertainment, supplementing the traditional circus and theater. Older residents hoped that baseball would help keep young people out of the town's fifty-five saloons.

Ann Arbor's enthusiasm for baseball carried over to the increasingly popular sport of softball. In the 1950s, before television kept many people at home, as many as 5,000 spectators would jam Sportsman Park to watch twilight and weekend fast-pitch softball. The introduction of slow-pitch softball in 1969 helped softball draw more participants than any other program offered by the Rec Department. Currently, approximately seventy-five adult divisions, comprising 500 teams, play in the summer leagues.

Teams are divided into men's, women's, and co-rec leagues of varying skill levels. The following leagues are offered: men's fast pitch, men's slow pitch, women's slow pitch, and co-rec slow pitch. Summer sessions run for ten weeks, and teams have a choice of playing in one- or two-night-a-week leagues, or in double-header leagues. Fall teams play twice a week in a season that runs five to six weeks. The most intensely used facility for both the summer and fall softball seasons is Veterans Park.

All teams must pay sponsorship fees in addition to individual player fees. The sponsor fee for summer teams in the one-night-a-week leagues is $120, and the individual assessment is Softball at Vets Park.

$21 for residents of Ann Arbor ($28 for nonresidents). Two-night-a-week league sponsorship fees are $345, and the individual assessment for city residents is $39 ($46 for nonresidents). For fall softball leagues, the sponsor fee is $134, and the individual assessment is $22 for city residents ($31 for nonresidents). In both summer and fall leagues, fees are slightly higher for fast-pitch.

People who want to play softball and are not associated with a team have two options: they may sign a player waiver form to allow individual names and phone numbers to be released to managers, or they can sign up in one of the Players Without a Team leagues.

Organizational meetings for summer and fall leagues take place in February and July, respectively. For exact dates and for information, contact the Rec Department at 994-2292.

The city also provides softball diamonds at Ann Arbor schools and parks for people wishing to organize their own games. The diamonds are available to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. from May 9 to August 29, and they operate on a first-come, first-served basis. They include Mack #2, Leslie #1, Swift Run #3, Scarlett #5, and Tappan #2. Other diamonds are for children's use only. They include Creal, Las Vegas, Maryfield, Wellington, and Wurster parks.

VOLLEYBALL

Between 100 and 120 teams participate in both the spring and fall volleyball seasons. Leagues are available for men's, women's, and co-rec teams of varying skill levels. Each season runs ten weeks, and games are played at local intermediate schools. For the A leagues (advanced), the sponsor fee is $110, and the individual assessment is $26 for city residents ($31 for nonresidents). For B (intermediate) and C (recreational) leagues, the sponsor fee is $70 and the individual assessment is $21 for residents ($25 for nonresidents). Call the Rec Department at 994-2292 for scheduling details.

Interested players not associated with a league can use the U-M's courts at the CCRB and NCRB if they have a user's pass or are with someone who has one. In addition, the Ann Arbor "Y" often has pick-up games on Wednesdays at noon for members or those with day passes.

FIGURE SKATING

The Ann Arbor Figure Skating Club, Box 7386, AA 48107. 426-2902, 665-4534. Offers fall, winter, and spring session lessons for skaters of all skill levels in free style, ice dancing, figures, and precision at Vets and Yost ice arenas.

ICE SKATING

One of Ann Arbor's most popular recreational facilities is Vets Ice Arena, the city's indoor publicly owned skating rink. With Vets open year-round, an outdoor artificial rink at Buhr Park, the U-M's Yost Ice Arena, and several natural rinks at city parks, ice skaters have a wide choice of places to skate.

Natural ice rinks are maintained from mid January as long as weather permits. The rinks have warming houses and supervisors, and skaters may skate free of charge. Call the Department of Parks and Recreation (769-9140) for details. The parks that have rinks are Allmendinger, 645 Pauline; Burns, 1620 Wells; Northside, 809 Taylor; Scheffler, 3051 Edgewood; West, 215 Chapin; and Wheeler, 810 N. Fourth Ave.

Vets Ice Arena, 2150 Jackson Rd. 761-7240. Open from late September through May. It has a regulation size rink (85' x 200'), seating for 3,000 spectators, skate rental ($1.25), skate sharpening, coin-operated lockers, and a snack bar. Fees for adults are $2.75; for youths (17 and under) and seniors, $2.25. General skating Fri. 8:30-10:30 p.m.; family skating Sun. 12:30-2:30 p.m.; adult skating Mon.-Fri. 1-3 p.m.

Buhr Park, 2751 Packard Rd. 971-3228. Outdoor artificial regulation-size ice rink, open December through March, weather permitting. It offers skate rental ($1.25), skate sharpening, a heated waiting room, lockers, and concessions. Entry fees are $1.50 for adults; $1 for youth (17 and under). Public skating Mon. & Fri. 3-5:30 p.m. & 7:30-9:30 p.m.; Tues. & Thurs. 3-5 p.m.; Wed. 7:30-9:30 p.m.; Sat. 2-5 p.m. & 7-10 p.m.; and Sun. 2-5 p.m.

Yost Ice Arena, 116 S. State St. 763-0064. The U-M's indoor regulation-size rink provides skate rental ($1) and locker rooms. Its hours vary with the U-M ice hockey schedule. In-season hours for general public skating are Mon.-Fri. noon-1:30 p.m.; Thurs. 8:30-10:30 p.m.; non-football Saturdays 12:30-2:30 p.m. Entry fees are $1.50 for the general public, $1 for U-M students, and $1.25 for faculty, staff, and alumni.

RACQUETBALL

The Ann Arbor "Y," 350 S. Fifth Ave., 663-0536, has two racquetball/handball courts and charges $1.50 in addition to the day pass fee for nonmembers for use of its courts. The two U-M racquetball facilities are the CCRB, 401 Washtenaw, 936-0627 (13 courts), and the NCRB, 2375 Hubbard, 764-2117 (5 courts). Hours vary with the semester, and courts must be reserved in advance. One-semester passes for faculty and staff are $30 ($90 for a year); passes for sponsored nonstudents are $45 ($135 for a year).

Private clubs with racquetball courts for those wishing to become members include the Ann Arbor Court Club, 2875 Boardwalk, 662-0243; Chippewa Racquet Club, 2525 Golfside, 434-6100; Travis Pointe Country Club, 2829 Travis Pointe Rd., 665-8463; Liberty Sports Center, 2975 W. Liberty, 665-6738; and Vic Tanny, 615 Briarwood Circle (769-6600) and 4860 Washtenaw (434-5000).

ROLLER SKATING

Ann Arbor Skate Company, 2275 Platt Rd. 971-2211. Wooden floor and snack bar, and top-40 dance music. Skate rental is $1. Skating hours and fees are as follows: Mon. 1-4 p.m. ($3); Tues. 9:30-11 a.m. (toddlers only; $2.50) & 7:30-9 p.m. ($3); Wed. 1-4 p.m. & 9 p.m.-midnight ($3); Thurs. 9:30-11 a.m. (toddlers only; $2.50) and noon-3 p.m. & 7-9:30 p.m. ($2.50); Fri. noon-4 p.m. ($1.50), 6:30-9 p.m. ($3), and 8:30-11:30 p.m. ($4); Sat. 9:15-10 a.m. (ages 12 and under; $1.50), 10-11:30 a.m. ($1.50), 2-4:30 p.m. ($2.50), 6:30-9 p.m. ($3), and 8:30-11:30 p.m. ($4); Sun. 2:30-5 p.m. ($4). Adult skate is Sun. 8:30-11 p.m. ($3.50).

SWIMMING

Ann Arbor's public swimming pools are crowded during the summer. The three outdoor pools, all built in 1969, are open from Memorial Day to Labor Day. Mack Pool, the only city-run indoor pool, is open year-round. Adults pay $1.25 to enter; youths 17 and under and seniors 60 and over pay 75¢. During designated hours, families pay $2.50. There is no charge for children under 3, and season passes are available. The city pools include:

Fuller Pool, 1519 Fuller Rd. 761-2460. Fuller is the area's only Olympic-size (50 meters) pool—at least until the U-M completes work on its new indoor 50-meter pool in fall 1988. It has eight lanes, including four training lanes open at all times, a diving pool, a large wading pool, a large sunning deck, locker rooms, and a snack bar.

Pool hours: May 28-June 10: Adult swim Mon.-Fri. 11 a.m.-1 p.m.; Sat. and Sun. 11 a.m.-noon. General public swim Mon.-Fri. 1-7 p.m.; Sat., Sun., & holidays noon-7 p.m. June 11-Sept. 5: Adult swim Mon.-Fri. noon-1 p.m. (11 a.m.-1 p.m. after Aug. 8); Sat. & Sun. 10-11 a.m. General public swim Mon.-Fri. 1-8 p.m.; Sat., Sun., & holidays 11 a.m.-8 p.m.

Veterans Pool, 2150 Jackson Rd. 761-7240. Vets Park has a 25-meter pool with six lanes, three diving boards, a sunning deck, a shaded deck area, locker rooms, and a snack bar. Summer 1988 marked the inauguration of Ann the past twenty years I've tagged ten thousand elms for removal. There were times when I almost cried, to find an elm that's been standing for one or two hundred years, dead in three to four weeks from Dutch elm. Our last inventory, in 1980, showed three hundred fifty to six hundred elm trees still standing."

Most of Hunt's favorite trees are elms, including the one on the northwest corner of Wells and Olivia; at 1215 Packard between Wells and Woodlawn; and one he thinks is the biggest elm left in Ann Arbor, if not Washtenaw County. It's in the rear parking lot of the Pattengill Condominiums on Packard. Its size is deceptive from a distance. "It spreads out maybe a hundred and twenty-five feet across," Hunt guesses, gazing up through the arching branches. "I hope this one's still around when they bury me. I'd like to be buried under a big tree someplace."

Number 5. The bur oak on Mosley at Third Street, on the Old West Side, has the largest diameter of any tree in the city. It too sports a huge fungus at its lowest crotch, and Hunt says its 60-inch trunk is almost completely hollow inside. "You can see we marked it for removal," he says, pointing out a faded X in the bark, "but the home owner wouldn't give us permission. So we put two cables in it."

Number 6. On Pontiac Trail at Bowen, the city's tallest tree—an American elm—stands some 125 feet tall. "It's taller than our high ranger trucks," Hunt says admiringly, "but you don't realize how tall until you back off and estimate. They were trimming it once, and they ran out of ladder extensions two-thirds of the way up. You can see the water tower in Ypsilanti from the top of it."

Number 7. "There's a nice ginkgo at the entrance to the Michigan Union, on the left as you approach from South U. It's a male tree, fortunately. You don't want them to bloom—they produce the most rotten smelling fruits and attract lots of flies."

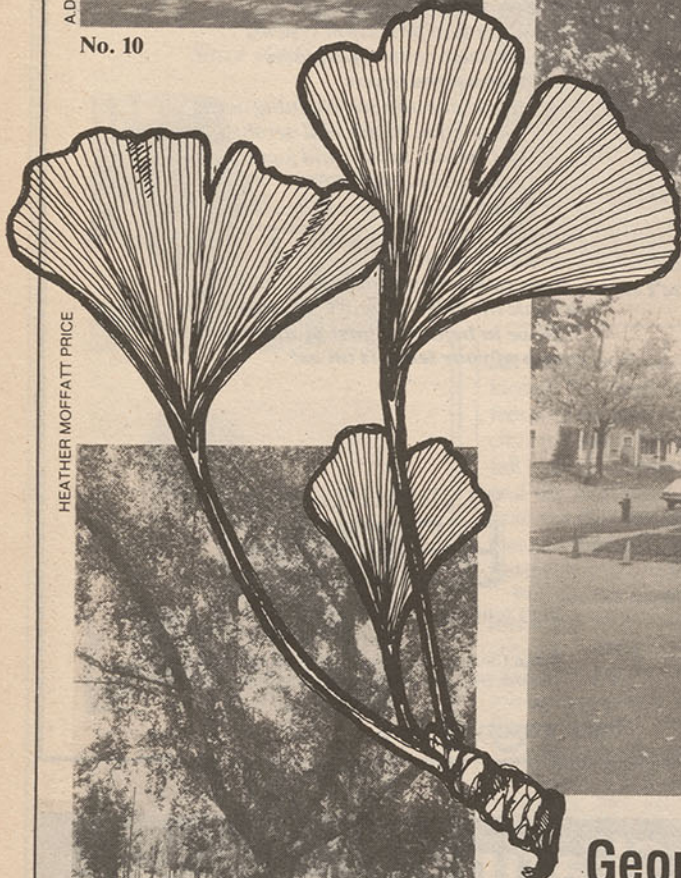

Number 8. A Norway maple at 1117 White Street, between Arch and McKinley. "It's particularly large, and when it's leafed out it's just like a big parachute. It's just beautiful."

Number 9. "Sycamores are one of my favorite trees, although they make me sneeze. They have a beautiful form that's symmetrical beyond belief, and they cast a marvelous shade. Off Scio Church Road is a whole subdivision full of sycamores, and on Saxon Street,

George Hunt's Favorite Trees

Over his twenty years as Ann Arbor's arborist, George Hunt developed a fondness for several special trees. "I know many of the trees in town by their addresses," he jokes. "People say that I know them on a first-name basis. One of the most enjoyable parts of my job was having someone come out and say, 'I have a tree I'd like you to look at.' The people in Ann Arbor care about trees."

Elizabeth Dean, a longtime resident who died in 1964, cared enough to bequeath over $1 million "to the trees of Ann Arbor"; part of the money was used to hire the city's first full-time tree tender. Hunt outclimbed 130 other applicants to get the job.

Hunt is no longer making his rounds taking care of the trees. In the fall of 1987 he was promoted to foreman in the Parks Department's maintenance division. But his favorite fauna are still in place and growing. Most of his favorites are big trees. "They're more fun to climb that way," Hunt says.

Number 1. The oldest tree in Ann Arbor is a massive bur oak on Ticknor Court near Packard and Eisenhower. (The long row of medium-height trees with black leaves just around the bend are Emerald Queen Norway maples.) Hunt estimates the oak to be 200 years old; its trunk is about 52 inches around. Its branches are the size of the nearby maples' trunks. Hunt frets about the thriving mushroomy fungus at eye level on the trunk. "It's still doing OK, but this fungus doesn't look good for it. It may be dying inside. I'll have to keep an eye on it."

Numbers 2, 3, and 4. According to Hunt, the American elm is the ideal street tree. "It's strong, and it stands up to ice loading and high winds. It deals well with drought because of its extensive root system, and it tends to hold onto its dead wood. But it's susceptible to Dutch elm disease. Over

The U-M has three pools:

CCRB, 401 Washtenaw. 763-3084. The CCRB pool is 25 yards long with at least four training lanes, two diving boards (but no free diving), and locker rooms. No snack bar. Hours vary with the semester.

NCRB, 2375 Hubbard. 763-4560. The NCRB pool is 25 yards long with at least four training lanes plus locker rooms. No diving area and no off Waltham, are the best ones."

Number 10. "The crabapple trees on Awixa Street, off Geddes across from the intersection of Hill, are personal favorites of mine because they bloomed on the day that I was born. My father noted this in his journals, that they've never bloomed so early as April 22, 1946. Mr. and Mrs. Gallup [Al Gallup was a parks superintendent for whom Gallup Park was named] got up a collection from the people in the neighborhood to plant those trees, back when that was outside the city limits."

Number 11. Hunt's favorite tree is the large oak in the southwest corner of Wurster Park. Long thought to be a chestnut oak, it is actually a chinkapin oak.

"It happens to be the one on the city seal—our sesquicentennial tree. She's big—must be in the neighborhood of fifty-five inches in diameter. You can feel the power of the earth coursing up that tree. She is so well rooted and well connected to the earth that its energy flows up to the ends of her branches, and you can just lean up against the trunk and feel the ground move. And relax.

"When I look at that tree, it's from a distance. I don't drive my truck up under it any more. Compacts the soil and keeps the root system from working well—it could even kill the tree." The landmark does look like the city seal on the truck door, with its symmetrical branches and graceful lines. "It's no more than seventy-five feet tall, but it spreads at least a hundred and fifty feet," Hunt says proudly. "Doesn't look very big until you get up to the trunk and realize how wide it is. Weak crotches look like this." He holds his wrists together, hands in a narrow V. "Strong ones are like this." The hands bend outward. "There's not a weak crotch on her."

Hunt's approach seems almost reverential as he crosses the expanse of open ground toward the tree. There's a quiet hush in the shelter of its branches, and Hunt falls silent. Looking out, the park's lawn drops off toward the burr oak on Mosley, the smaller trees around it, the neighboring houses, and the tall downtown buildings.

"The best time to come up here is on a summer afternoon when it's hotter than hell. You just come up here and lean against this old girl and feel the cool soak into your body.

"I really do identify with growing things. I wouldn't be in this line of work if I didn't." —Karen Missavage IM Sports Building, 606 E. Hoover. 763-3562. Construction is nearly completed on the new Olympic size (50 meters) pool. It should be open sometime in the fall of 1988.

Several private clubs in town also have pools. They are Barton Hills Country Club, Barton Shore Dr., 761-5771; Huron Valley Swim Club, 4601 Park Rd., 665-8565; Liberty Sports Center, 2975 W. Liberty, 665-6738; Orchard Hills Athletic Club, 2300 Yorktown, 665-2699; the Racquet Club of Ann Arbor, 3210 E. Huron River Dr., 971-5414; and Vic Tanny, 615 Briarwood Circle, 769-6600 and 4860 Washtenaw, 434-5000.

TENNIS

The Ann Arbor city parks, public schools, and the U-M all have tennis courts available to those willing to drive around to find them. The courts are free for public use when the Rec Department and the schools are not using them for classes. The courts operate on a first-come, first-served basis. Unless otherwise noted, courts are not lighted.

Three of the busiest and largest concentrations of courts are at Huron High, 2727 Fuller Rd., 994-2076 (7 courts); Pioneer High, 601 W. Stadium Blvd., 994-2120 (10 courts); and just north of the CCRB, 401 Washtenaw, 764-6429 (16 courts).

The lighted courts in town include those at Fuller Park, 1519 Fuller Rd., 761-2460 (4 courts); Buhr Park, 2751 Packard, 971-3228 (6 courts, of which 4 are lighted); and Vets Park, 2150 Jackson Rd., 761-7240 (3 courts).

Many of the city parks and public schools also have courts open for public use. In north Ann Arbor, these include Northside Elementary, 809 Taylor (1 court); Leslie Park, 2120 Traver Rd. (3 courts); Sugarbush Park, Bluett at Yellowstone (2 courts); Clague Intermediate School, 2616 Nixon Rd. (7 courts); and Windemere Park, Windemere Rd. at Charter Place (2 courts). In south Ann Arbor, there are courts at Burns Park, 1620 Wells (4 courts, 1 backboard); Woodbury Park, Woodbury at Wisteria (2 courts); Clinton Elementary, 2935 Birch Hollow Dr. (2 courts); Sylvan Park, Margaret at Darrow (1 court); Tappan Intermediate School, 2251 E. Stadium (3 courts); and Scarlett Intermediate/Mitchell Elementary, 3300 Lorraine (2 courts). In west Ann Arbor, there are courts at Allmendinger Park, 645 Pauline (1 court); South Maple Park, 686 Maple Rd. (2 courts); West Park, 215 Chapin (3 courts); Hunt Park, Sunset at Spring (1 court); Slauson Intermediate School, 1019 W. Washington (4 courts); Mack Elementary, 920 Miller (1 court); and Forsythe Intermediate School, 1655 Newport Rd. (4 courts).

People wishing to play tennis in the winter or year-round during inclement weather may join one of several indoor tennis clubs in the area. These clubs have rosters of tennis pros who can be hired for private and group lessons, and they also offer numerous outdoor courts for summer play. Membership prices vary and change frequently, so call each club for details.

The clubs include Ann Arbor's oldest tennis club, Huron Valley Tennis Club, 3235 Cherry Hill Rd., 662-5514; Liberty Sports Center, 2975 W. Liberty Rd., 665-3738; Chippewa Racquet Club, 2525 Golfside, 434-6100; and Travis Pointe Country Club, 2829 Travis Pointe Rd., 665-8463.

Seasonal Activities

BICYCLING

Besides being an enjoyable form of recreation and exercise, bicycling in Ann Arbor is a recognized alternative means of transportation. The city has a well-marked network of bike routes and bike paths, and—since 1970—a Bicycle Office within the Transportation Department. The office publishes a map of bike paths and recommended street routes in Ann Arbor and Washtenaw County; it's summarized on the parks map on p. 96.

Bicycle registration is required of all city cyclists over twelve years of age. It can be done through most local bike shops or at the City Clerk's office on the second floor of City Hall. There is a one-time fee of $2.50.

There are six bike shops in Ann Arbor (see Shopping, p. 131) and two active cycling clubs. The Ann Arbor Bicycle Touring Society (AABTS) organizes group day trips around the city and the surrounding area for its 700-plus members. Its Saturday Breakfast Rides along the Huron River to Dexter are especially popular. The AABTS also plans occasional out-of-state tours and publishes a bimonthly ride calendar and a monthly newsletter, both free to members. Annual dues are $8 (individual) or $12 (family). For more information, write to the AABTS, Box 2854, AA 48106, or call Jane or Drew Burton at 994-3001.

The small Ann Arbor Velo Club, sponsored by the Nobillette Cycle Center, focuses on racing and arranges numerous workouts and meets for its members. For information, call the Nobillette Cycle Center (769-1115) or write Paul Alman (642 Greenhills Dr., AA 48105) or Allen Bosio (501 Pauline, AA 48103). You can also leave a message on the club's answering machine (761-1603).

CANOEING

There are three canoe liveries along the Huron River. Argo Park and Gallup Park liveries are run by the city, while Skip's, a private livery, operates out of Delhi Metropark.

Argo Park Canoe Livery, 1055 Longshore Dr. 668-7411. Rowboats, fishing poles and supplies, long-term and overnight canoe rental, and concessions. To rent a canoe, a $10 cash deposit and a driver's license are required ($15 after 5 p.m.). Rental fees are graduated by hour: for 2 hours, the cost is $6 (weekdays) and $7 (weekends/holidays); for 3 hours, $7 and $8; for 4 hours, $8 and $9; for 5 hours, $8.75 and $9.75; for 6 hours, $9.50 and $10.50; and for 7 hours, $10.25 and $11.25. Package trip rates are also available. Hours from Apr. 2 to May 15 & Sept. 6 to Oct. 30: Sat. & Sun. 9 a.m.-8 p.m.; Sat., Sun., & holidays 8 a.m.-9 p.m.

Barton Park Livery, 1010 W. Huron Dr. 662-9319, 668-7411. Rowboat and canoe rentals. Fees and deposit information are the same as for Argo Park (see above). Hours from May 28 to Sept. 5: Sat. & Sun. 9 a.m.-8 p.m.

Gallup Park Livery, 3000 Fuller Rd. 662-9319. Paddleboats, bikes, fishing supplies, and concessions. Fees and deposit information are the same as for Argo Park (see above). Hours from Apr. 2 to May 30 & Sept. 6 to Oct. 30: Mon.-Fri. 11 a.m.-7 p.m.; Sat., Sun., & holidays 9 a.m.-7 p.m. From May 30 to Sept. 5: Mon.-Fri. 11 a.m.-9 p.m.; Sat., Sun., & holidays 9 a.m.-9 p.m.

Skip's Huron River Canoe Livery, 3780 W. Delhi Rd. 769-8686. Open Memorial Day through Labor Day. Offers package trips only. There is a $10 deposit for canoes. Trips, which leave on the hour, are routed to Dexter-Huron Metropark ($8) and to Hudson Mills Metropark ($16). Hours: Mon. noon-4 p.m.; Tues. 10 a.m.-4 p.m.; Sat.-Sun. 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Reservations are required for weekend trips.

CROSS-COUNTRY SKIING

For those who enjoy being outdoors during the winter, Ann Arbor has several ski trails that provide scenic views. There is no charge to ski the trails at Bird Hills Park, Huron River Dr. at Bird Rd.; Leslie Park Golf Course, 2120 Traver; Gallup Park, 3000 Fuller; Buhr Park, 2751 Packard; and Fuller Park, 1519 Fuller.

Huron Hills Cross Country Ski Center, 3465 E. Huron River Dr. 971-9841. Open December through March, weather permitting, and has groomed trails of varying skill levels, a clubhouse, and a snack bar. Entry fee is $2 (weekdays) and $2.50 (weekends). It costs $5.50 to rent skis on weekdays for two hours; $6.50 on weekends (additional hours are half price).

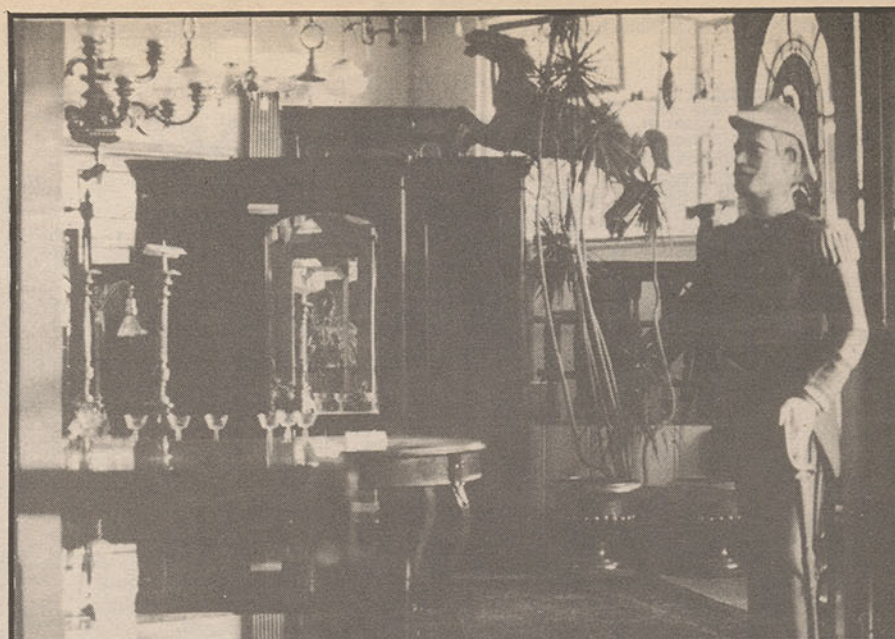

During the season, Huron Hills is open Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; Sat.-Sun. 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

FISHING

Ann Arborites looking for a change of pace may want to try a quieter sport—fishing. Fishing along the Huron River is surprisingly good. The river contains a variety of fish: large- and small-mouth bass, rock bass, crappie, bluegill, carp, pike, catfish, and even some walleye and tiger muskellunge.

Three spots seem to be popular among local anglers: Barton Dam, Gallup Park, and Argo Dam. On sunny days, people often set up their lawn chairs by Argo Dam and fish from their seats. Those who want to get away from civilization may rent canoes from either the Argo Park or Gallup Park canoe liveries and fish upstream.

Anyone sixteen and under may use the youth fishing pond at Gallup Park. Every spring, this pond is stocked with large- and small-mouth bass, bluegill, and panfish. Fishing is free, and there is no limit to how much you can catch. Anyone seventeen or over, however, must have a fishing license. Licenses cost $10.85 and are sold at most sporting goods stores.

Many people who fish the Huron don't even eat the fish they catch unless they've caught them above Ann Arbor, where the water is cleaner. So why do they come out? A quick survey turned up a teenager at Gallup Park who said that he and his friends go out a couple of times a week, and they catch something every time. They think it's an exciting sport. A U-M grad student liked to go out in a canoe. He didn't really care if he caught anything; he just liked being out on the river. A forty-year-old man by Argo Dam was chopping a cigar. He had been out for three hours, and he didn't even have a bite. But it was his last day of vacation, and he thought he should take advantage of this opportunity before he had to go back to work. Why did he stay out there? "I like to," he said. "It passes the time."

GOLF

Golf enthusiasts have several challenging and well-maintained courses to choose from in Ann Arbor. The city and the U-M own two courses each, and there are historic private courses in the area as well. City courses include:

Huron Hills Golf Course, 3465 E. Huron River Dr. 971-9841. 18 holes, par 68. Overlooking the Huron River and Gallup Park, Huron Hills provides some of the city's best scenery. The course is suited for both beginning and experienced golfers.

Reservations are taken for weekends and holidays. Walk-on play is available weekdays and, depending on the reservation schedule, on weekends. Green fees: weekday $8 (18 holes), $5.50 (9 holes); weekend/holiday $9.50 (18 holes), $6.50 (9 holes). Special twilight rates ($7 flat after 7 p.m.) and junior/senior rates ($4 flat on weekdays after 1 p.m.). Season passes available. No golf cart rentals. Club rental ($4/set), and pull cart rental ($1.50). Snack bar. Hours: Mon.-Fri. 6:30 a.m. till dark; Sat., Sun., & holidays 6 a.m. till dark.

Leslie Park Golf Course, 2120 Traver Rd. 668-9011. 18 holes, par 72, women's par 73. Leslie is a challenging, well-maintained course that features two ponds, a fruit orchard where you can pick your own fruit in season, and Traver Creek.

Reservations are taken every day. Every third starting time is available for walk-on play. Green fees: weekday $10 (18 holes), $7 (9 holes); weekend/holiday $13 (18 holes), $8 (9 holes). Golf cart rental $16 (18 holes), $8 (9 holes). Golf club rental ($4/set), and pull cart rental ($1.50). Snack bar. Hours: Mon.-Fri. 6:30 a.m. till dark; Sat., Sun., & holidays 6 a.m. till dark. Special twilight rates ($4.50 flat after 7 p.m.), junior/senior rates ($4.50 flat on weekdays only), and season passes available.

The U-M courses include:

University Golf Course, Stadium Blvd. east of Main St. 663-5005. 18 holes, par 72. This course is one of five in the U.S. designed by Scottish architect Alister Mackenzie. It is open to U-M students, faculty, staff, alumni, and their guests. Green fees: students, $7; faculty and staff, $12; alumni, $14; all others, $16 on weekdays and $20 on weekends. Golf cart rental $17 (18 holes), $9 (9 holes). No club rentals.

Designed by Pete Dye, a highly regarded contemporary golf course architect, Radrack covers 260 acres, and is reserved for U-M faculty and staff and their guests. Green fees: members $15 weekdays, $20 weekends; guests $20 weekdays, $30 weekends. No club rentals. Clubhouse hours: 7 a.m.-7 p.m. daily.

Ann Arbor also has one semi-private and several private golf courses. They include:

Georgetown Golf Course (semi-private), 1365 King George Blvd. 971-5500. The golf course is the only part of the club open to the public. 9-hole executive course, par 28. Green fees: $4 weekdays ($3 for senior citizens) and $4.75 weekends. No golf cart rentals. Golf club rental ($1) and pull cart rental ($.75). Clubhouse hours: Fri.-Sun. 8 a.m.-8:30 p.m.; weekday hours vary.

Ann Arbor Golf and Outing Club (private), 400 E. Stadium Blvd. 663-4044. Originally located at the site of the present University Golf Course and founded around 1890, the club claims to have the oldest course in Michigan.

Ann Arbor Country Club (private), 4699 E. Loch Alpine Dr. 426-4693. Call for information.

Barton Hills Country Club (private), 733 Country Club Rd. 663-8511. Designed by Donald Ross.

Travis Pointe Country Club (private), 2829 Travis Pointe Rd. 662-2582. Rated in Golf Digest as one of Michigan's top ten courses.

Washtenaw Country Club (private), 2955 Packard Rd. 434-2150. Founded in 1899, the club says its course is the second oldest in Michigan.

In addition to golf courses, Ann Arbor has a driving range, Liberty Golf Range (2815 W. Liberty, 769-4536), open daily from 9 a.m. till dark. Golf balls are $3.50 for a large bucket, $3 for a small one.

MINIATURE GOLF

Putt Putt Golf and Games, 2675 Washtenaw. 434-2838. Open all year. It offers three courses of different skill levels, video games, and concessions. Cost is $3 per game or $5 for 3 games, with special rates for kids on weekdays and Saturdays. Summer hours are 9 a.m.-2 a.m. daily. Fall hours are 9 a.m.-midnight daily.

SKATEBOARDING

Despite a setback in the early summer of 1988, when the city council banned them from Liberty Plaza, city parking structures, and certain areas of downtown, Ann Arbor skateboarders remain enthusiastic and visible. In 1987, with the help of the Parks and Recreation Department and the Citizens' Task Force on Free Time Activities for Adolescents, they persuaded the city to build its first skateboard ramp, at Vets Park. Installed in the fall of 1987, the supervised, half-pipe ramp is open daily in the summer from 10 a.m. till dark. During the rest of the year, hours are Mon.-Fri. 3 p.m.-dark. (Year-round, it's beginners only from 10 to 11 a.m. and advanced skateboarders from 2 to 3 p.m.)

A one-year membership, which lowers the fee for use of the ramp, is $15. The daily use fee is $1.25 for members (under 18, 75¢) and $2.50 for nonmembers (under 18, $1.50). Helmet, knee pads, elbow pads, and shoes are required. For more information, call 761-7240.

THE WHIFFLETREE

The owners and staff of the Whiffletree Restaurant would like to sincerely thank our customers for their patronage and support over the last fifteen years. Mere words cannot express our gratitude for the support you've shown us during our current misfortune.

We feel that we are a tradition in Ann Arbor, and traditions don't die! We will rebuild again, and hopefully within a year we'll be offering the same high quality food and reasonable prices that have made us a landmark in Ann Arbor dining.

In the interim, we'd like to reintroduce our sister — The Gollywobbler Restaurant, located in the Holiday Inn East. The Whiffletree tradition of excellence has been maintained and even strengthened there, with a new dinner menu and salad bar. The Gollywobbler is owned and operated by the Whiffletree, and we hope you will give it the same support and patronage you've given us through the years.

The Gollywobbler

Serving breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Open 7 days a week. Banquet facilities available for groups up to 150.

WE'RE ALL YOURS.

Washtenaw Community College belongs to you.
It belongs to all citizens of Washtenaw County.
It was local citizens who funded the college when it opened its doors 22 years ago. Now, thanks to growing community support, WCC is as strong as ever, serving some 8,000 students and many local businesses.

WCC is ready to serve you, too. We can help you move upward in your career — or begin a new one.

We can give your employees specialized training, either on-campus or at your place of business.

And we can help you start your first career — or prepare for study at a four year school.

The next time you think about college, think about us. We're all yours.

Performance Spaces

For exact locations, see map.

The Ark, 637½ S. Main. 761-1451. Nationally famous folk music club located above the South Main Market. Programming includes a wide variety of traditional and contemporary acoustic music by local, national, and international performers. Also, occasional shows presented by independent promoters. Capacity: 275. Wheelchair accessible, air-conditioned.

Ann Arbor Civic Theater, 1035 S. Main. 662-7282. The Civic Theater expects to spend two years at its new site, the former American Legion Hall, while looking for a new permanent location. This building contains two performance spaces, a 200-seat theater (east and west entrances) used by the Civic Theater for its Main Street Productions, and a 150-seat theater (north entrance) used by Young People's Theater for its productions. (The Civic Theater's MainStage shows are presented in Lydia Mendelssohn Theater, the Michigan Theater, and the Power Center.) Ample parking is available, even on U-M football Saturdays. Capacity: 150 & 200. Wheelchair accessible, air-conditioned.

Crisler Arena, Stadium Blvd. adjoining the U-M football stadium. 764-9565. Athletic facility for U-M varsity basketball, wrestling, and gymnastics. Programming also includes a few major popular music concerts booked through the U-M Office of Major Events, along with occasional antique shows, arts & crafts shows, and other special events. Capacity: 13,762. Wheelchair accessible, not air-conditioned.

Dance Gallery Studio, 111 Third St. 761-2728. Large dance studio with a new wood floor in a well-lit, airy space in the Performance Network complex. The home studio of the J. Parker Copley Dance Company, which also occasionally produces dance concerts by other local and out-of-town dance companies. Also available for rental for dance, mime, theater, and musical performances. Capacity: 75. Wheelchair accessible, not air-conditioned.

Eyemediac, 214 N. Fourth Ave. 662-2470. Gallery and performance space in a converted storefront. Films, videos, poetry readings, performance artists, and workshops in assorted performing arts, usually on Monday and Tuesday nights. Capacity: 70. Air-conditioned.

Hill Auditorium, North University at Thayer. 763-2113. Spacious auditorium with superlative acoustics, designed by Albert Kahn in 1913. Main floor and two balconies. Programming: University Musical Society concerts, free U-M School of Music concerts, and concerts presented by independent promoters and booked through the U-M Office of Major Events. Capacity: 4,173. Wheelchair accessible, not air-conditioned.

Kerrytown Concert House, 415 N. Fourth Ave. 769-2999. Intimate, L-shaped concert space in a restored Victorian house. Programming: classical, jazz, and folk music, chamber theater, and poetry and fiction readings presented by the nonprofit KCH, usually on weekends. Also available for rent for performances, meetings, and receptions. Capacity: 120. Wheelchair accessible, air-conditioned.

Lydia Mendelssohn Theater, Michigan League (2nd floor), 911 North University. 763-2113. Plush theater with excellent theatrical acoustics built in 1929 by Irving Pond, who was also the architect of the Michigan Union. Main floor and balcony. Programming: opera productions by the U-M School of Music and theatrical productions by the U-M drama department, U-M student organizations, and the U-M Gilbert & Sullivan Society. Also available for rent by local organizations. Capacity: 658. Wheelchair accessible, air-conditioned.

Michigan Theater, 603 E. Liberty. 668-8397. Built as a silent movie and vaudeville palace in 1928; purchased by the city of Ann Arbor in 1979. Operated by the nonprofit Michigan Theater Foundation, which has invested nearly $2 million in renovations over the past few years. Main floor and balcony. Programming: repertory and first-run films; live shows by local performing arts organizations; a "Serious Fun" performing arts series and "Drama Season 1989" presented by the MTF; and live shows by out-of-town performers presented by various independent promoters. Capacity:

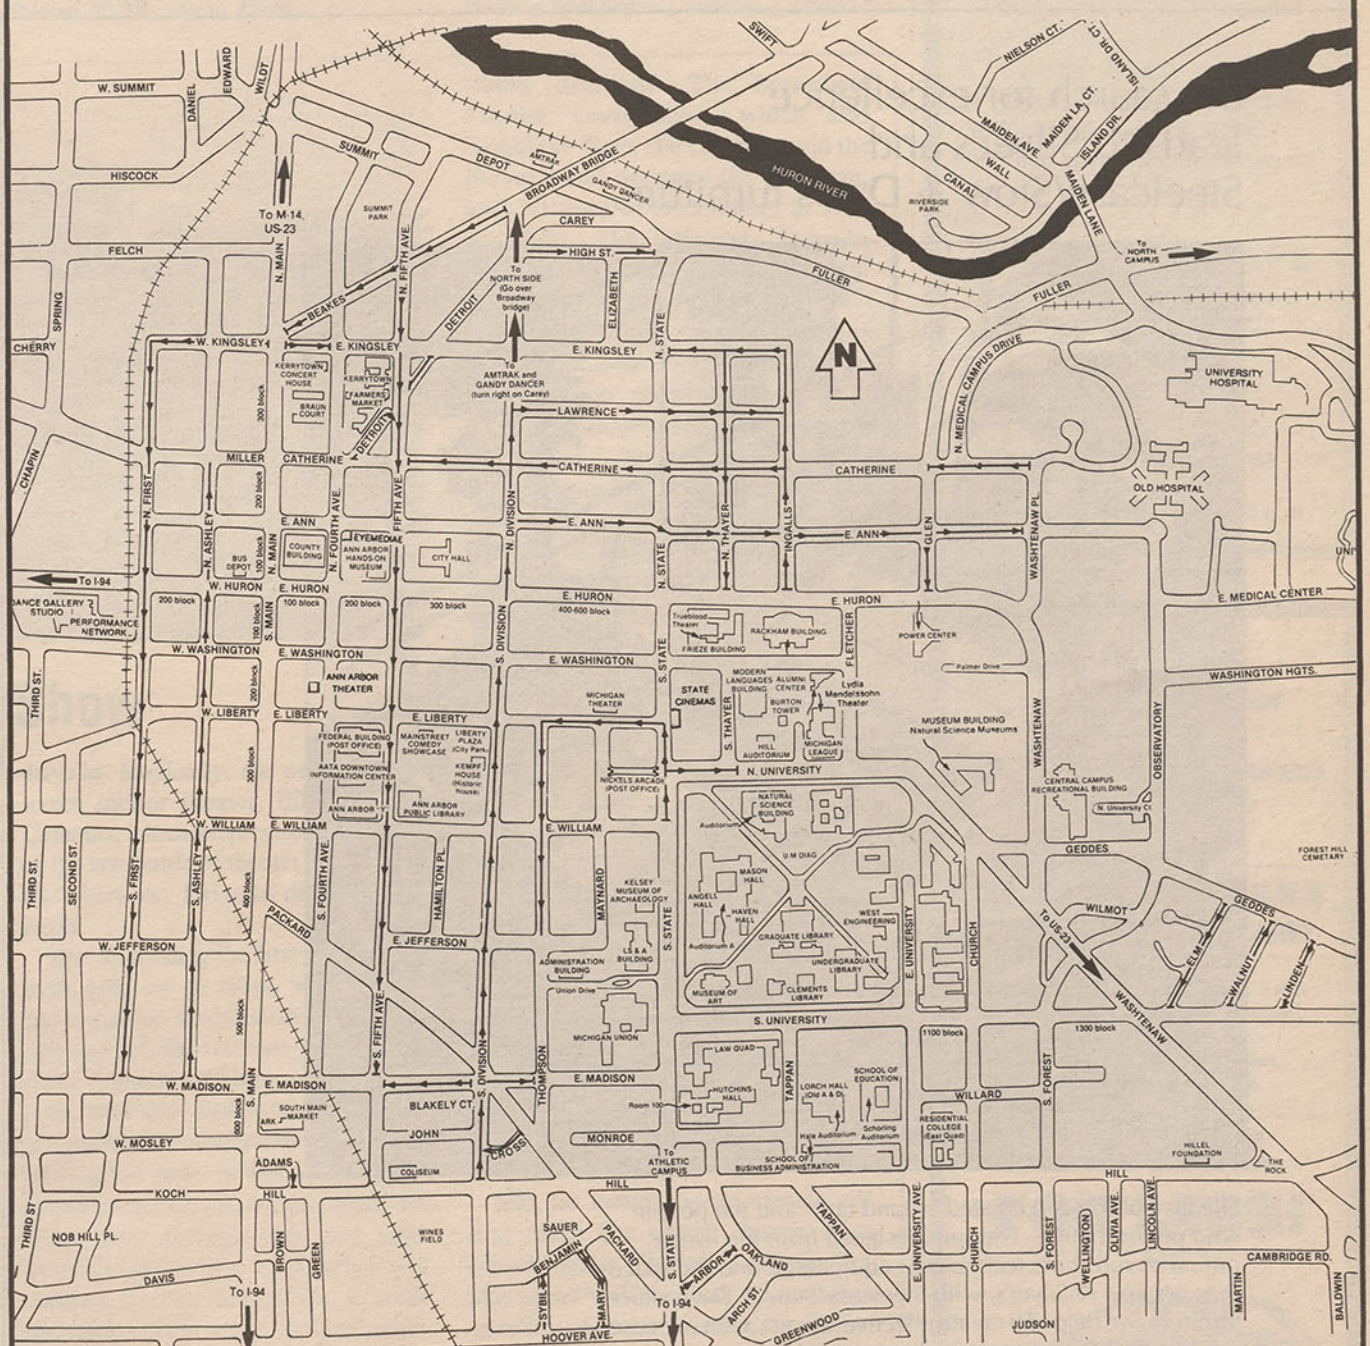

1,713. Wheelchair accessible, air-conditioned.

Performance Network, 408 W. Washington. 663-0681. Nonprofit multipurpose performance space in a converted factory on the near west side. Programming: a wide range of political, experimental, and original drama produced by the Performance Network, Common Ground Theater Ensemble, and other local alternative theater groups, as well as occasional regional, national, and international theater companies. Also, dance and music concerts, experimental cinema, play and poetry readings, and mixed-media events. Capacity: 150.

Wheelchair accessible, air-conditioned.

Power Center, Fletcher at Huron. 763-2113. The newest U-M performing arts facility, built in 1971. Main floor, balcony. Programming: U-M opera, musical theater, and dance productions; University Musical Society concerts; performances by U-M student arts organizations; and concerts and plays presented by independent promoters and booked through the U-M Office of Major Events. The primary venue for Ann Arbor Summer Festival events. Also available for rent by local performing arts organizations. Capacity: 1,414. Wheelchair accessible, air-conditioned.

COMMERCIAL THEATERS

Ann Arbor Theater, 210 S. Fifth Ave. (between Liberty and Washington). 761-9700. As we went to press in the summer of 1988, this twin-screen theater announced that it might close if a proposed condominium high-rise is developed on this site. If it does, it will mean the loss of the most consistent local source of foreign films as well as the more esoteric American releases. It also programs some mainstream Hollywood products. The smaller of the two theaters has well under 200 seats, arranged in an outrageously long narrow room with a tiny screen at one end. Plan on sitting near the front. Projection, sound, and general upkeep are good. The Ann Arbor has a small parking lot adjacent to the theater, and the theater itself is not far from the city parking structure at Fourth Ave. and Washington. Admission: adults, $4.50; weekdays before 6 p.m., $2.50; children, $2.00; seniors, $3.00; Tuesday bargain rate, $2.50.

The Movies (United Artists), Briarwood Mall. 769-8780.

The local flagship of the mighty United Artists conglomerate, the Movies sports screens in seven theaters, with sizes ranging from 300 to 400 seats. The operation is typical of the modern shopping mall cinema complex: an efficient, low-overhead operation that reduces filmgoing to the bare essentials.

Programming is mostly mainstream commercial fare, and this theater's size allows it to offer the kind of long runs necessary to snag Hollywood's hottest products. Projection is usually good here, and overall upkeep is average. Ample parking is available. Admission: adults, $4.50; weekdays before 6 p.m., $2.50; children, $2.50; seniors, $3.00.

The Showcase Cinemas, Ellsworth at Carpenter (Pittsfield Township). Scheduled to open in the fall of 1988, this giant fourteen-screen theater, several miles southeast of downtown Ann Arbor, features state-of-the-art movie exhibition and ample parking. The opening of this megaplex nearly doubles the number of movie screens in the area, promising fierce competition with the local United Artists theaters at Briarwood and Fox Village. The Boston-based parent company, Redstone Corporation, has a reputation for high quality theaters and an unwavering commitment to mainstream fare. Their entry into an area seemingly surfeited with movie screens indicates that they also must have considerable faith in their market analysts.

State Cinemas, 231 S. State St. 662-6264. This four-screen "quad" was hewn from a much larger and more graceful Art Deco-style theater in 1979. Theater size averages about 400. While the downstairs theaters are pleasant enough, the old balcony seats in the two upstairs theaters are oriented at the wrong angle for their new screens.

The State was purchased in 1985 by the Kerasotes chain out of Springfield, Illinois, which replaced the unionized projection staff. Local political activists picketed the theater and called for a public boycott. Since that unhappy time, the State has been dogged by complaints about cleanliness, projection quality, and general maintenance.

Programming tends toward mainstream Hollywood products, with an accent on youth-oriented films. Some films are shown at both the State and the other local Kerasotes property, the Wayside. The nearest city parking structures are on Maynard just south of Liberty and on Washington just west of State. Admission: adults, $4.50; weekdays before 6 p.m., $2.50; children and seniors, $2.00; Tuesday bargain rate, $2.50.

Fox Village (United Artists), Maple Village Shopping Center, 375 N. Maple. 769-1300. This west side theater is one of two United Artists properties in the area. It offers four screens—two in a subdivided theater, and two in a more recent addition. Programming is very similar to Briarwood's commercial fare. Projection is adequate to good, upkeep is average at best. There is plenty of parking. Admission: adults, $4.50; weekdays before 6 p.m., $2.50; children, $2.50; seniors, $3.00.

NONPROFIT FILM GROUPS

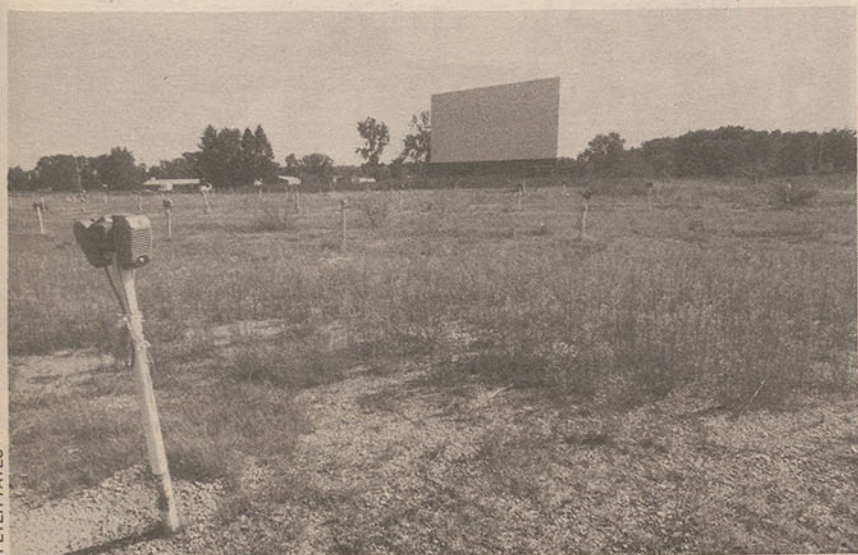

Alternative Action. 665-4626. This group is the last survivor of a string of film groups founded in the 1970s to raise funds for campus political activism. The current focus of the group is more cinematic and less directly political. Programs tend toward commercial features, but the group also routinely schedules important documentaries and other films covering liberal/leftist causes. Admission: $2.50.

Ann Arbor Film Cooperative, Michigan League, 227 S. Ingalls. 769-7787. This group was formed in the late 1960s, originally to support the work of local filmmakers with income from film screenings. Gradually, film production efforts dwindled, and the organization evolved into an exhibition-only group. The Co-op stimulated the screening of more contemporary films on campus. Current offerings span the spectrum of quality art and commercial films. The Co-op also founded and sponsors the 8mm Film Festival, an annual review of in-chains dissolved. The Butterfield Theater Corporation, which also owned the State, the Campus, and the Wayside and operated the Michigan, sold off most of its holdings in 1984 and 1985. The University Drive-In went to a developer, who turned around and sold the property to Redstone Corporation, builders of the Showcase Cinemas.

Even where no development pressures exist, most other drive-ins in the northern U.S. have also closed. "The sunbelt, with its warm climate and year-round schedule, remains the most accommodating region for drive-ins," says Joseph Sterling, general manager of Butterfield Theaters and a veteran of Michigan movie exhibition. One problem in Michigan was the advent of daylight saving time. "With double features not able to start until nine-thirty or ten at night, they became impractical for the guy who has to get up for work in the morning," Sterling says. The small speakers slung over the driver's window were another drawback. "Those little speakers can't capture Dolby, or stereo sound, and today's viewer is very quality-conscious," according to Sterling. Finally, in an environment where the multi-screen theater is the norm, few drive-ins were able to expand. As Sterling explains, they "simply had less product to attract the customer."

Still, no indoor movie theater will ever touch the special charms of a drive-in movie. The subtle anticipation that grows with the dusk, the peculiar unreality of a movie screen set against the sky, and the odd contrast of being in a crowd and yet private in your car at the same time—all of these seem to complement the film experience as naturally as butter does popcorn. While the drive-in as such is gone forever, however, in season it's still possible to see films outdoors in Ann Arbor. Ever since the inception of the Ann Arbor Summer Festival in 1984, one of its most popular features has been the free nightly film screenings on top of the Fletcher Street parking structure next to Power Center. —Patrick Murphy

The Last Drive-In Show

From the 1950s to the 1970s, drive-in movies were a popular form of family entertainment. Soaring screens and colored lights made the Ypsi-Ann, Scio, and University drive-ins familiar summertime landmarks at the edges of the city.

Despite the cars full of noisy teenagers and the couple necking in the next car, it was families who were the backbone of the drive-in business. Parents with crying infants, restless toddlers, and sleepy nine-year-olds could get into the drive-in for the price of two adult admissions. Child care was simple, the kids could chatter and fall asleep, and there was no baby-sitter to pay at the end of the evening.

The whole baby-boom generation saw their first movies at drive-ins from the back seat of their parents' cars. From the playground conveniently tucked beside the screen, theirs until dusk, to the concession stand, dazzling in its neon brilliance and awash with the aroma of buttery popcorn, the drive-in was a world designed to amplify youthful pleasures.

Until well into the 1960s, Ann Arbor had as many drive-ins as regular theaters. In stark contrast, in the fall of 1988, the number of local screens will soar to thirty-one, not one of them a drive-in. Ironically, the newest megascreen indoor theater, the Showcase Cinemas, is located precisely on the site of the last outdoor theater in the area, the University Drive-In on Carpenter Road.

The Ypsi-Ann, the first of the three local drive-ins to close, was also the most popular. Located on Washtenaw just east of the Glencoe Hills apartment complex, it drew crowds from both Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. As commercial developments approached from either side, however, it became obsolete—a relic of the time when the Washtenaw corridor still had open space and cheap land. Inevitably it succumbed, to be replaced by a small shopping center and a Kroger supermarket.

The next drive-in to fail was the Scio, on Jackson Road west of Zeeb. Nestled among the corn fields, the Scio was the smallest and least well attended of the outdoor screens. It closed in the late 1970s when General Cinema Corporation gave up the lease. An all-porn program revived it briefly, but in the early 1980s, much to the relief of its neighbors, the Scio closed for good.

The University Drive-In closed as part of a larger business deal that saw one of Michigan's largest theater ternational work in the film medium's smallest format. Admission: $2.50; double feature, $3.50. Cinema II, Michigan League, 227 S. Ingalls. 665-4626. The second film group on campus, Cinema II was formed in 1967. Cinema II was structured much like Cinema Guild, with a board of voting members choosing films and running showings. Following a year of inactivity, Cinema II plans once-a-week showings this year. Its programming is oriented toward classic and art films, both foreign and domestic. Admission: $2.50; double feature, $3.50.

Cinema Guild, Michigan League, 227 S. Ingalls. 994-0027. The oldest of all student film groups at the U-M, Cinema Guild has been showing since 1950, and until 1967 was the only campus film group. In 1963, the Guild participated in the founding of the Ann Arbor 16mm Film Festival. Cinema Guild made its name showing Chaplin, Eisenstein, Welles, and other film pioneers. Films are chosen every term by members of the group. Under financial pressure from rival groups and the VCR revolution, Cinema Guild has lately begun showing more contemporary films, but the orientation toward quality films remains. Admission: $2.50; double feature, $3.50.

Eyemediae, 214 N. Fourth Ave. 662-2470. The newest and most aggressively innovative film group in Ann Arbor, this privately run off-campus enterprise is located in a small theater on Fourth Ave. between Ann and Catherine streets. Eyemediae suspended regular programming in early 1988 to renovate, but plans to resume activities in September 1988. Programs have ranged from documentaries to film noir classics to screenings of the latest works of notable experimental film and video artists. The atmosphere is informal, but the range of serious work covered is impressive. Admission: $3.00.

Hill Street Cinema, Hillel Foundation, 1429 Hill Street. 769-0500. An off-campus film group housed at the local center for Jewish students, the Hill Street Cinema screens a wide variety of films in the auditorium at the Hillel Foundation. As of late summer 1988, the Foundation was still temporarily housed at 339 E. Liberty while their new Hill Street headquarters was being completed. They hope to be back at the permanent Hill Street location in early October. Programming ranges from classics to contemporary films, with a particular specialty in Israeli films and films of interest to the Jewish community. Usual showing nights are Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday. Admission: $2.50.

The Showcase Cinemas, Ellsworth at Carpenter.

ANDY STEVENSON

State Cinemas, 231 S. State St.

Mediatrics, University Activities Center, Michigan Union, 763-1107. The only film group with university funding, Mediatrics was founded within the University Activities Center in the mid 1970s. The programming has tended toward commercial American films that are proven draws at the box office. Admission: $2.50.

Michigan Theater Foundation, 630 E. Liberty (at Maynard). 668-8480. The Michigan Theater, an ornate relic of a more genteel era of film exhibition, is indisputably the city's most handsome theater. Programming is eclectic and changes daily, with a varied schedule of mostly contemporary foreign and domestic films forming the core of screen offerings. Recently the theater has been showing first-run films at one show each night for a week or more running. Every March, the theater is the location of the Ann Arbor Film Festival, a week-long binge of avant-garde and student films. Parking around the corner at the Thompson Street structure. Admission: adults, $3.50; students and seniors, $2.50.

CAMPUS AUDITORIUMS

Auditorium A, concourse between Angell, Haven, and Mason halls on the west side of the Diag. Approximately 385 theater-type seats. Decent size screen, fair to good sound, slightly shallow seating angle. Equipped to show 35mm films, Cinemascope. Parking: Thayer structure is 200 yards north of Haven Hall.

MLB 3 & 4, Modern Languages Building, corner of Thayer and Washington. MLB 3 seats 450 people in theater-type seats and is air-conditioned. Smallish screen; side seats in front are at sharp angle to screen. Sound is fair to good.

MLB 4 seats 350 people in theater-type seats; also air-conditioned. This smaller auditorium, which seems to be a mirror image of its larger companion, has better sight-lines in the side seats. Sound and relative screen size are about the same. Parking: Thayer structure is across the street.

Hill Auditorium, 825 North University at Thayer.

Natural Science Building Auditorium, Natural Science Building, North University at Thayer. This lecture hall with its steep slope has a good view from all seats. Unfortunately, the seats provide no padding and minimal foot room. Screen size is rather small, and the sound is adequate at best. This auditorium is most comfortable for films of under two hours. Parking: Thayer structure.

Lorch Hall (old Architecture and Design Building), Tappan at Monroe. The longest operating auditorium on campus and the original home of Cinema Guild, Lorch Hall has about 400 seats, good acoustics, and a long, narrow rectangular shape that's good for viewing films. A recent renovation, which included air-conditioning and cushioned seats, makes this the best place on campus for film viewing. Unfortunately, the Economics Department, headquartered in Lorch Hall, discourages public film showings, so most films shown here are co-sponsored by another U-M department. Parking: U-M structures at Hill near Tappan or at Church and South University.

ANN ARBORITES

Detroit Free Press Editor Joe Stroud

"It's been the most incredible twenty-eight months I've ever endured," says Detroit Free Press editor Joe Stroud of the controversy over the Joint Operating Agreement (JOA) between his paper and the Detroit News. For Stroud, who moved to Ann Arbor after his 1981 marriage to former Washtenaw County Commissioner Kathy Fojtik, the furor has meant putting in additional hours at the office; a sixty-hour workweek, he says, is "pretty standard."

A burly, physically formidable man, Stroud grew up on a farm outside McGeehee, Arkansas. The farm had been in his family since 1871, Stroud remembers, and his parents were surprised to find him "a lot more interested in words" than in animals or machines. Apparently, his interest was contagious: both of his brothers, as well as a son and a niece, also became newspaper people.

Stroud first arrived in Michigan in 1968. "I was interested in large cities," he recalls. "I thought that cities were going to be the next big story—where the future of the country was sorted out, in a lot of ways."

Now something of a permanent fixture of the Michigan media corps, he has witnessed tumultuous changes, both in local and national affairs and in the newspaper business itself. The most immediate has been the JOA proposal, which in the summer of 1988 was finally resolved after more than two years. As approved, the JOA will lead to combined printing facilities and advertising offices for the two Detroit papers; only their editorial offices will remain separate.

Stroud calls the JOA "the best of some not terribly wonderful alternatives. I would have infinitely preferred for the competition to have gone on full blast forever. This has been one of the great fun metropolitan newspaper markets in the country, because we were slugging it out and we didn't like each other very much.

"In the best of all possible worlds, I would hope that could go on forever, but you always knew there were circumstances that would work against it. Experience in other cities shows us that the JOA is one way to maintain independent voices and yet cut the cost of operations, and I think the preservation of independent voices is key."

Beyond the JOA, Stroud sees other, technological changes coming to the newspaper business. Already, he notes, "we have become much more visual, in response to television and technology. We can do a lot more with graphics and color. Newspapers, I think, have become somewhat more episodic and less papers of record. They pay more attention to having to interest readers, instead of what people ought to know. There are some advantages to that, and some risks. One of my concerns is to try to find ways of using those techniques to provide the sort of basic information that people need to govern their lives and to govern their society."

Does the former small-town boy ever feel overwhelmed by his own accomplishments? Stroud becomes uncharacteristically bashful at the question. "I still feel very much the same person," he says. "I still feel sort of awe at the fact that I've been able to do as much as I have—that I've been given the chance to go to a lot of places that would have been beyond my reach, and meet a lot of people that have been interesting, that I never would have met had I settled down in the small-town life I grew up in."

Metzger's

Ann Arbor's love affair with German food is deep and enduring. This well-run solid citizen of a restaurant—the oldest in Ann Arbor—is one reason why. Metzger's has been run by one family (as has the Old German down the street—by another branch of the same family) for several generations.

Metzger's is smaller and cozier than its cousin, the Old German. Seats in the mellowed wooden booths are tastefully upholstered. The walls brim with Bavarian bric-a-brac. The lighting is cheery. So is the staff, despite their unfortunate polyester Tyrolean attire.

The menu is weighted with traditional German fare—wurst, schnitzel, spatzen, sauerbraten. There's no reason for the health-conscious to panic here, however. In recent years more plain, unsauces beef and more simple fish and chicken dishes have infiltrated the menu—like chicken amaretto, a grilled chicken breast with toasted almonds.

That said, forget the boring broiled fish and chicken unless you are under strict orders from your doctor. It would be a pity to visit Metzger's and not indulge in what Metzger's does best—such as a recent special of Swiss steak, lean beef stewed to nearly melting tenderness in a fine, savory tomato sauce. Like all the dinner entrees, it came with a choice of two side dishes: spatzen (tender, tiny dumplings) or fried potatoes, and sauerkraut, which round out these kinds of entrees nicely. At the high end of the price range—still under $10 in the summer of 1988—the zigeuner ("gypsy") steak is a tender, thick grilled sirloin steak smothered in fried onions and peppers. To wash them both down, rich, sudsy dark beer is served in hefty stoneware steins.

For those who want to throw caution to the winds, the Black Forest torte—layers of light chocolate cake soaked in kirchwasser and layered with tart cherries and whipped cream—is what dessert is all about.

For those who really can't quit, and I couldn't, there's a large selection of German liqueurs and after-dinner drinks. The wild blackberry liqueur is perhaps too sweet for some, but powerfully redolent of berries. Goldwasser is a spicy herbal liqueur. A faint whiff of anise was the only recognizable component. It's flecked with what the name implies—real gold leaf.

Argiero's

Long before it had any basis in fact, I had concocted my own history of Argiero's Italian Restaurant. In my version, all of the big, strapping dark-eyed waiters with the gold neck chains and that wonderful Mediterranean aloofness are brothers or, at the very least, cousins. The woman I caught glimpses of in the kitchen is their mama, to whom these boys are fanatically devoted. Mama cooks the recipes of her childhood in the old country. The boys deliver the food and lift the heavy pots of spaghetti. The father, when he's not playing bocce, makes cannoli and chats with the customers.

I eventually learned that, in fact, three of the men who provide table service are brothers: Sam, Carmino, and Mike Argiero, sons who have taken over the day-to-day operation of the family's restaurant. That woman in the kitchen is their mother, Rosa, who came to this country from Calabria as the bride of Tony Argiero in 1959. But Tony Argiero doesn't make cannoli. Once the chief cook, he now contents himself with growing the garlic used in the restaurant and chatting with friends and customers. An Ann Arbor native who met Rosa while in the service, he doesn't play bocce, either.

The red brick building on the corner of Detroit and Catherine streets underwent several incarnations (taxi stand, fish market, jewelry shop) before 1977. That year Tony Argiero remodeled the interior, put in a kitchen, and opened the restaurant for business.

The attraction of Argiero's has always been the wonderfully simple Southern Italian food served in unpretentious surroundings. The menu is limited to a collection of favorites including lasagna, pasta with pesto, chicken cacciatore, and a daily special, like mostaccioli. Nothing is too exotic, and everything is tasty. The red brick interior walls showcase framed pictures of the cheeses of Italy, and pasta hanging off a fork. The feel is rumpus room redux, like a refinished basement only with more ceiling fans. The result is a room that's unaffected and cozy.

The patio provides one of the nicer al fresco dining experiences in town. Inside the attractive metal grillwork enclosing the patio one can pleasantly dawdle over dinner on a summer evening. And it certainly doesn't hurt that Argiero's is two blocks away from Main Street, where outdoor diners can find themselves battling diesel fumes.

It's a shame that the city has yet to award Argiero's a beer and wine license. It couldn't hurt their business to be able to serve a glass of chianti with their homey Italian food. As it stands, the amiable mix of people who dine at Argiero's barely seem to notice as they lap up minestrone soup and tackle mountains of insalata. It's like being at a friend's home—particularly if that friend makes terrific red sauce.

The Brown Jug

Restaurant fashions come and go. Boston ferns are replaced by mauve fabric hangings, and the pita pocket sandwich becomes quiche becomes pasta primavera. Once-familiar names—PJ's, the South U Restaurant, the Wagon Wheel—pass into the annals of Ann Arbor culinary memory. But the Brown Jug goes on and on.

"A tradition since 1938" reads the menu. I wonder how many people associate it with the Minnesota/Michigan football trophy for which it's named? In my own twenty years of experience, the Brown Jug has always had the look and feel and, yes, smell of the quintessential campus eatery—direct from central casting. The paneled walls are covered with pictures of students gamboling on the Diag; only the bell-bottom jeans and long hair place them in time. Along the opposite wall, just down from where a bar and dessert case have displaced the service counter, are wood-look pressed plastic seals of the Big Ten schools, flanked by the requisite shots of grid-iron action. The booths are some reticent shade of Naugahyde, and the tabletops are formica. Three Dog Night croons about Jeremiah the Bullfrog from the wall speakers. It could be 1971.

The Brown Jug has a full menu: breakfast all day, sandwiches, burgers, pizza—even pasta primavera. But for the life of me I'm hard pressed to think of the Jug serving anything beyond the tuna salad, grilled nut rolls, and rice pudding I knew as an undergraduate. The joke of my particular coterie in 1972, when the Jug received its liquor license, was that now you could order a shot of scotch to go with your rice pudding.

I swung by The Brown Jug in the summer of 1988 to test my memory.

The most expensive item on the menu was a 6 oz. rib eye at $8.75. The rice pudding was still a bargain at 65¢. In between these ends of the spectrum lay a sea of pasta, burgers, and sandwiches. The young, fresh-faced coeds waiting tables had been joined by some equally fresh-faced males. Signs of the time (like Swiss water-processed decaf coffee) lurked in the menu. It was a revelation to me that VISA, MC, AmEx, and DC are accepted here. Maybe it's just that in 1969 nobody I knew was plunking down a Diner's Club card for their grilled nut rolls.

On the night of my visit things were pretty quiet at the Jug. It continues to be a predominantly student hangout, and on this summer evening most students were elsewhere. A couple of stalwart scholars in the next booth discussed Nietzsche. The unmistakable odor of french fries filled the air. I savored a spoonful of rice pudding and a wave of nostalgia. —V. J. Nelson

The Earle

There's something about ducking in off of Washington Street at twilight and descending one flight to the semi-darkness of the Earle that always puts me in mind of intrigue. Before-dinner drinks become a chapter in an espionage novel, and a long dinner in the cavernous brick dining room with its dimly lit nooks and crannies is equal parts sustenance and assignation. When it comes to an intimate setting, the Earle has a corner on the market.

A hundred years ago, this building opened its doors as the Germania, a hotel catering to the traveling salesmen who sold to the German community around Washington Street. In the patriotic fervor of World War I, the name was changed to the American House. By World War II, the building had become part of the Milner hotel chain and had been renamed the Earle after its owner, Earl Milner. That name held on even into the early 1970s, when the building had become a single-room-occupancy flophouse. It was closed in 1971 for code violations.

By December 1977, the basement had been transformed into the wood and brick grotto that exists today. The Earle started out as a jazz club, and for the first year and a half of business, food was limited to an all-day deli-style menu with the occasional eggs Benedict and omelet thrown in. Then a six-entree dinner menu emerged. Shortly after that, the focus of the operation changed to food, specifically rustic French and Italian cuisine, with jazz providing the backdrop. That was eight years ago, and very little has changed. Indeed, even some of the staff have been there since Day One—a remarkable achievement in the volatile restaurant industry.

The bar at the Earle is a structure worthy of the name. No little service-bar affair, the counter runs practically the length of the room—some thirty feet—and sports not only spirits of every stripe but row upon row of appropriate glassware hanging behind the polished wood bar. This is a place that can make a Negroni and serve it in the right glass.

The same sort of attention to detail marks the food. The bread is homemade, fresh herbs are used in abundance, and the popular pastas and entrees are made to order. The menu changes regularly, with favorites happily reappearing at regular intervals. Because the individual parts of the whole are so consistently rewarding, you will find aficionados of every course of the dinner process—some always go there for dessert, for instance.

The clientele at the Earle is diverse. Clusters of pinstripes are on hand, mixing business with calories. Tweedy types enjoy wine by the glass and an appetizer before catching a movie. And still others gravitate to the live jazz that wafts through the dim recesses of the dining room, enhancing that air of intrigue.

*You haven't seen Ann Arbor...
Until you've seen The State Street Area!*

Nickels Arcade, a beautiful landmark in The State Street Area.

So much of everything that makes Ann Arbor great is here. You'll find great shopping, museums and theaters, restaurants, entertainment, and the campus of The University of Michigan all in the State Street Area.

Whatever you're looking for, the State Street Area has something to please you. You'll find great tradition in the European charm of quality stores and shops that have served generations, some in the same family for nearly 100 years.

See the best of Ann Arbor, up, down and all around the State Street Area. New, Used and Rare Books, English Soaps, Men's and Women's Fashions, Jewelry, Cameras, Gourmet Ice Cream, Shoes, Home Furnishings, Classic Movies, Records, Antique Clothing, Sporting Goods.

(And, don't forget, there's parking in the Maynard Street and Liberty Square Structures.)

Back in 1942 when Walter Mast opened his first shoe store on South Main Street, rent was $100 a month and a pair of shoes sold for $3.95 to $8.95. "And we were a pretty high-class store!" the seventy-six-year-old Mast exclaims. Family has always been a big part of Mast's business. His wife, Helen, ran the Main Street store while he served in WW II. In 1946, the couple opened a second store, on East Liberty. Both their sons work with them—Greg at the Main Street store and Tom at Mast's Liberty Street branch.

THE FORSLUNDS' PROMISE: "WE GUARANTEE EVERYTHING WE MAKE FOR 20 YEARS."

When we talked to the folks who make Carl Forslund Furniture about our 20 year Quality Warranty, their comment was, "Only 20 years?" That kind of response is why we confidently make this bold promise. We make quality furniture to last and we sell it at a fair price everyday. Just compare our quality and craftsmanship with any other furniture manufacturer and you will discover why we've been in business for over 50 years.

This year our season comes in two varieties.

Some names you have heard of—Mark Twain, Hal Holbrook, Colleen Dewhurst, Eugene O'Neill, Neil Simon, William Shakespeare, Arthur Miller.

After $2,000,000 in restoration the historic Michigan Theater is a classic playhouse. Our Drama Season 1989 will host a star-studded line up of shows.

Ann Arbor, home of the University of Michigan, a high-tech haven, a great place to visit, a fun place to live and a vibrant center for the arts. The Michigan Theater is Ann Arbor's auditorium, a 1928 movie palace restored to its original splendor. The Michigan Theater bustles with great events every day of the week. See a classic film, enjoy a concert or subscribe to Drama Season 1989 or the Serious Fun Series. Call 668-8480 for a tape recorded listing of events. Call 668-8397 to order tickets or to get more information. Make the Michigan Theater a fun part of your life (seriously)!

Technological Breakthrough

Affordable salt-free and chemical free water conditioning system by Pillar Technologies.
Winner of Governor's N.P.A., Wisconsin

- Iron, sulfur and manganese are filtered out of the water supply
- Kills bacteria and viruses in the water supply
- No sodium in drinking water or bath water, unlike systems using salt-regenerated water softeners
- No heavy salt bags to lift, or potassium permanganate to cause stains
- Fully automatic—no regular maintenance required
- Can also be used to treat swimming pools and spas to eliminate 90-99% of chemicals used

EMERGENCY HELP

24-HOUR GENERAL/ MEDICAL EMERGENCY

911

Police and Fire Departments. 911. Emergency number connects callers to police communications center, which has direct phone linkage to the Fire Department and Huron Valley Ambulance service. In an emergency, response time for Fire Department rescue trucks, Huron Valley ambulances, and police cars is 4 to 6 minutes. After dialing 911, give dispatcher the name, phone number, and address at which emergency aid is needed. Do not hang up until dispatcher terminates call. Pay phones will respond to 911 without the use of coins.

Huron Valley Ambulance. 994-4111. Response time is 5 minutes after call. Inform dispatcher of patient's location and describe nature of emergency. Ambulance service will contact Police and Fire departments if necessary.

U-M Hospitals General Emergency. 936-6666. Poison emergency services for adults: 764-7667; for children: 936-8347. Give poison emergency staff the name and phone number of patient and any available information on toxic agent ingested or inhaled, patient's symptoms, and time elapsed. Poison emergency staff will make referrals and follow-up calls if necessary.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital General Emergency. 572-3000.

U-M Campus Emergency Telephones. No dialing. Direct connection to U-M office of public safety, which contacts police, fire, or ambulance services. On-site response within 5 minutes. There are 65 campus emergency phones on the central, north, and athletic campuses.
